FESS IS THREATENED BY ATTITUDE OF OHIO

Democrats Held Certain to Challenge Prohibition; Dry South Fading.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley, widely regarded as a political spokesman for President Hoover, was quoted last night as predicting that the Republican national convention, next June, would adopt a "more liberal" stand on prohibition.

Hurley was in Chicago for a St. Patrick's Day celebration. According to an Associated Press dispatch from that city, he had this to say about prohibition:

"A great many people are going to look for the wet candidates on the ballots next November. Eventually I think the prohibition question will be settled on the basis of State's rights, and the Federal police power limited to preventing liquor traffic into States which wish to be dry."

Indicates Rising Wet Tide.

Secretary Hurley's statement was one of several developments yesterday indicating a rising wet tide in the Republican party.

Ralph Williams, of Oregon, vice chairman of the Republican national committee, called on President Hoover, and afterward said he expected "very strong agitation" for a wet plank in the next platform.

Questioned as to President Hoover's attitude, Williams said:

"I have not asked the President whether he would run on a wet plank, but I have never known a man who would not accept renomination after he has been in the White House four years."

Ohio Action Threatens Fess.

In Ohio, home of the Antisaloon League, there was a development that threatens to rob Senator Simeon D. Fess of a place on the highly important resolutions committee at the Republican national convention in Chicago.

Fess, chairman of the Republican national committee, has been so uncompromisingly dry that wets in the party have demanded that he be ousted.

In Cleveland yesterday Maurice Maschke, the Republican national committeeman for Ohio, announced that the Buckeye State, for the first time in prohibition history, would send a majority of wet delegates to the national convention.

Under ordinary circumstances Fess would be named as the State's rep-

(Associated Press.)

The Senate yesterday voted to cut off the salary of Herbert J. Hagerman, of Santa Fe, special commissioner of the Indian Bureau.

By a rising vote, the Senate adopted an amendment to the Interior Department appropriation bill sponsored by Senator Frazier (Republican), North Dakota, specifying that none of the funds be used to pay Hagerman's salary or expenses.

The Senate amendment cutting off Hagerman's salary has yet to be passed on by the House. Last year a similar effort succeeded in the Senate, but the salary was restored to the bill in conference between the two branches.

Germans Are Favored By Paris Import Quota

Paris, March 17 (A.P.).—The government today made public a quota decree regulating importations of machine tools which the American Chamber of Commerce declared would virtually stop importations from the United States of the products affected.

The decree established a quota for printing machines, machine tools, drills, machine parts, measuring instruments and pneumatic hammers. The greater portion of this quota was alloted to Germany.

"Germany is particularly favored," the American Chamber of Commerce statement said. "Sixty-six per cent of the total of all the articles goes to Germany, in addition to unlimited quantities permitted as war reparations."

100,000 ENTER CHINESE MARCH UPON MUKDEN

Volunteers Destroy Flag of New Regime in Villages on Way..

Shanghai (Friday), March 18 (A.P.).—The Kuomin (Chinese) News Agency reported today that 100,000 Chinese volunteers were marching on Mukden, Manchuria, from three directions.

The volunteers, the agency said, were destroying the flag of the new Manchurian government in all the villages along the way and were hoisting the Chinese national ensign.

The Japanese garrison at Mukden, the Kuomin dispatch said, had received information of the advance and had mounted guns in the outskirts of the city.

The Earl of Lytton, head of the League of Nations commission investigating the Sino-Japanese conflict, received a telegram from a group of Chinese organizations at Mukden declaring the 30,000,000 Chinese in Manchuria would rather share the destiny of China, whatever it may be, than live under the rule of Japan.

New Revolt Reported.

A powerful force of Chinese insurgents, provided with artillery equipment, attacked and captured Fuyu, a city of 80,000 people, 100 miles southwest of Harbin, it was reported.

According to information reaching here the insurgents were led by a Manchurian named Tsing Hai. The attack took place last night.

Fuyu, which also is called Petuna and Sincheng, nominally is within the Kirin Province of Manchuria. It is the commercial outlet for inner Mongolia and near it Prince Chai, inner Mongolia's representative in the new Manchurian government, maintains a citadel.

Prevented by Insurgents.

About a month ago a revolt broke out in Prince Chai's domain and it was reported that he attempted to return to Fuyu, but was prevented by the insurgents, whereupon he returned to Changchun.

Leningrad, U. S. S. R., March 17 (A.P.).—Moscow reports of a recent clash between Soviet frontier guards and Japanese troops on the border between Siberia and Manchuria were officially denied today.

Denial also was issued of a report that a Japanese airplane, flying over Soviet territory near Progranichnaya Station in Sibera, had been surrounded by Soviet planes and forced down.

Hit-Run Victims, 2 Men Are Dying

Are Hurled From Street Car Loading Platform; Auto Speeds On.

Victims of a hit-and-run driver while standing on a street car loading platform at the south end of Klingle Bridge, two colored men were dying at Emergency Hospital early today.

According to police, a speeding roadster struck and hurled them from the platform to the street and failed to stop.

The men were removed to Emergency Hospital in two taxicabs, where they were identified as Melvin Archer, Gilmore, 19 years old, of 145 Rhode Island avenue northwest, and James Hilman, of 1619 Sixth street northwest. After treating the two victims for multiple fractures of the skull, arms and legs, physicians stated that they were not expected to live.

A city-wide police search has been instituted for the driver of the car, according to police.

DEBT REVISION NOT PLANNED, HOOVER AVERS

ATTACK IN SENATE BRINGS STATEMENT

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

President Hoover and the Department of State yesterday, in the face of a bitter partisan attack in the Senate, hastened to make public reassurances that the United States still maintains its traditional policy with regard to the settlement of intergovernmental debts. No steps have been taken toward reopening the debt conversations with Great Britain or any other nation, it was officially announced.

An article in The Washington Post which declared that Ambassador Andrew W. Mellon would reopen negotiations on the debt situation, particularly with regard to the British debt to this country, was responsible for the violent interpellation.

Senator David A. Reed (Republican), of Pennsylvania, interrupted the debate to say:

"I am authorized to say that there is not a word of truth in the article."

Authority Questioned.

Senator Tom Connally (Democrat), of Texas, who had been attacking the debt policy on the basis of the article in question, asked to know by whom he had been authorized.

"By the President," said Reed, "I am authorized to say that the subject of debt negotiations has not even been discussed with Mr. Mellon since it was first suggested that he should go to London as ambassador."

Late in the afternoon when the keen interest aroused in the discussion had been brought to Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, the State Department made the following declaration:

"The article in The Washington Post this morning that Ambassador Mellon would reopen negotiations on the debt settlement as soon as he has presented his letters of credence, is untrue in every particular. There is no foundation whatever for the suggestion made in the article that the administration proposes to take or has taken any steps toward opening with its debtor nations the subject of the debt settlement heretofore made.

"For this reason, statements made on the floor of the Senate on the basis of this article have absolutely no foundation."

Senator Joseph T. Robinson (Democrat), of Arkansas, minority leader, reminded Reed that the article did not say that President Hoover instructed Ambassador Mellon to reopen the debt negotiations.

"The article states," said Reed, "that as soon as Mr. Mellon had presented his credentials, he will open

Two States Favor End of Lame Ducks

Proposed Amendment Is Adopted by Kentucky and Arkansas.

Frankfort, Ky., March 17 (A.P.).—The Kentucky Legislature, on the last day of its session, enacted a congressional redistricting bill today and sent it to Gov. Ruby Laffoon, who is expected to sign it.

The measure has the effect of eliminating the districts now represented by Representatives Ralph Gilbert, Shelbyville Democrat, and John W. Moore, Morgantown Democrat. Under normal conditions the new bill would give the Democrats seven seats and the Republicans two.

The Legislature also ratified today the proposed twentieth amendment to the Federal Constitution to abolish the "lame duck" session of the national Congress.

Little Rock, Ark., March 17 (A.P.).—The Norris resolution, providing for a new Federal constitutional amendment to abolish the "lame duck" session of Congress, was ratified by the Arkansas Legislature today.

Arkansas and Kentucky are the fourth and fifth States, respectively, to ratify the amendment.

Oklahoma City Lawyer To Seek Seat of Thomas

Oklahoma City, March 17 (A.P.).—Gomer Smith, Oklahoma City lawyer, today became the first avowed candidate for the United States Senate seat now held by Elmer Thomas.

In a statement assailing Thomas' record, Smith announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination. Thomas is expected to seek reelection.

$600,000 Relief Here, Taken From Budget, Urged by President

Executive Asks Reduction of That Sum From New Municipal Center for 1933 to Balance Proposed Outlay for Idle; Crisis Claimed in Drive Against Suffering.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

President Hoover asked Congress yesterday to appropriate $600,000 for local unemployment relief, in supplemental estimates transmitted to the House on recommendation of Budget Director J. Clawson Roop.

At the same time the President urged reduction of $600,000 in 1933 estimates for the new Municipal Center and reallocation of that amount to the emergency relief activities. The fund would be immediately available.

"This recommended modification of the budget for 1933 does not contemplate any increase in either the expenditures or the appropriations for the District of Columbia for that year," the President advised the House.

The proposed emergency legislation followed a crisis reached in local unemployment relief, with exhaustion of funds of the District committee on employment. District Auditor Daniel J. Donovan lost a fight to defeat the measure, when favorable recommendations of the Commissioners and Budget Director Roop were forwarded yesterday to the White House. Col. Roop declared unemployment here has increased beyond expectation.

"In practically every municipality of any size in the country, it has been found necessary to supplement the voluntary charitable and welfare relief work by appropriations of municipal funds, and the Commissioners of the District of Columbia find it necessary similarly to request the appropriation for District funds to supplement the activities of the organized charitable and welfare associations in the District of Columbia," President Hoover informed Congress.

"In order to provide the funds which are requested for this purpose without exceeding the municipal rev-

(Associated Press.)

Concluding seven days of bitter debate over the $1,096,000,000 revenue bill, the House last night cleared the way for the real test on the measure today, when its reading for amendment will begin.

In the afternoon Representative Rainey, of Illinois, the Democratic leader, told the House if the budget is not balanced this country "will experience the worst panic in the history of the world."

"The Government's credit is destroyed," he said. "At the present time this great corporation, with almost unlimited wealth, depleted, but artificially depleted, is bankrupt."

He added that the manufactures sales tax was the fair and just way to meet the situation.

At the night session two Democratic members of the ways and means committee—Representative Doughton, of North Carolina, opponent of the controverted sales tax, and Representative Ragon, of Arkansas, a proponent—brought the discussion to an end.

Mr. Doughton urged defeat of the Minnesota Republicans Show Hoover Favor

St. Paul, March 17 (A.P.).—A preponderance of sentiment for renomination of President Hoover was shown at county Republican conventions in the State yesterday, returns showed today. Twenty-eight among 36 reporting county groups either instructed district and State convention delegates for President Hoover or indorsed his administration. No other presidential candidate was mentioned.

NAZI HEADQUARTERS RAIDED IN PRUSSIA

Plot to Throw Germany Into Civil War Is Charged by Authorities.

Berlin, March 17 (A.P.).—Headquarters of Adolf Hitler's National Socialist party throughout Prussia were raided today by police acting on orders to smash what Prussian officials declared was a plot to plunge Germany into civil war and seize power by force of arms.

In addition to visiting the offices of the party the police searched the homes of many Nazi leaders. They confiscated numerous files of correspondence and membership lists.

Prussian officials declared they had established that 500,000 Hitler "storm troops," including automobile and motorcycle detachments, had been made ready for mobilization at various points throughout the state.

A code message — "Grandmother dead"—was to be broadcast throughout Prussia, these officials said, and it was to be the signal for each unit to march upon the nearest large city.

Hitler issued a press communique from his Munich headquarters tonight acknowledging that a concentration order had gone out to his men, as 40 of his comrades had been killed and thousands wounded in the last few weeks by "red savages."

The communique added that he would furnish documentary proof

Idle Former U. S. Employe On Protest Hunger Strike

Dr. F. F. Wolters, Erstwhile Congress Library Worker, Has Gone 19 Days Without Food to Call Attention to Plight of Jobless.

To focus attention on the general unemployment situation and on his own inability to find suitable work, Dr. Frederic F. Wolters, a college graduate and former employe of the Library of Congress, has imposed a hunger strike on himself.

He entered the nineteenth day of his starvation program yesterday, many pounds lighter and considerably weaker than the day when he began his hunger strike, on February 28. Through his starvation he believes he will fix the attention of the world on the plight of the educated man in his search for work.

"I intend to go on until I collapse," he said. "When I fall they will find documents in my pockets telling the whole story." The only food he has had since February 28 is a peanut, which tempted him one day as he was walking through a five and ten cent store.

"That is the only food I have had any desire for since the third day of my fast. I was hungry for three days. Since then I have had no appetite at all," he said.

Dr. Wolters is the holder of three degrees, B. A., M. A. and Litt. D. He is a graduate of the University of New Zealand and for two years was employed in the Library of Congress. He resigned his post, he said, as a protest against what he believed to be unjust promotion of other workers ahead of him.

Since 1926, when he resigned, he has failed in his efforts to be reinstated. Since then he has been earning a living by doing accounting and bookkeeping and other small jobs. His task, he said, has become so difficult that he decided to starve to death.

In the squalid Salvation Army Reliance Hotel, at 119 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, where he is now living, he was interviewed and said. "I am finding it harder and harder to walk. But as I grow weaker and weaker my mind grows clearer. I believe it will be at least another ten days before I collapse."

In expectation of the belief that some people might think him crazy because of his decision to starve himself, he underwent sanity tests by Dr. Samuel A. Silk, of St. Elizabeths Hospital. "I could not regard Dr. Wolters as insane," Dr. Silk said, "although he may be abnormal in some respects. He is overenthusiastic in what I regard as a misguided expression against his inability to find

ALLEGED PLOT ON UNION HEADS IS LAID TO FIVE

Leaders of International Operating Engineers Held Targets.

4 MEN AND WOMAN ARE SEIZED ON TIP

Dissatisfied Faction Blamed for Conspiracy to Assassinate.

A plot to assassinate the present heads of the International Union of Operating Engineers—the latest bit of violence in the affairs of that troubled organization—was broken up by prompt intervention last night of two headquarters detectives, police said last night.

Four men and a woman were held by police in connection with the case. They were arrested in a house which had been surrounded by headquarters detectives after the police had received a number of "tips" that trouble was again brewing in the union and that an international representative, the president of the union, and the editor of its journal would be put "on the spot" by members of a dissatisfied faction of the union.

The assassination of the international representative, C. E. Haury, was planned for last night, headquarters detectives announced after the arrests of the quintet. It had been planned to shoot him down from an automobile as he left an executive meeting of the union at the headquarters, 1003 K street northwest.

Previous Attempt.

Had the shooting materialized, it would have been the second attempt made on the lives of union officers in the neighborhood. On May 20, 1931, the present president, John Poesehl, the editor of the journal; Frank E. Langdon, and Arthur M. Huddell, then president, now dead, were ambushed in a cafeteria across the street from the union offices by a lone gunman.

Langdon was seriously injured and lost the sight of an eye. Huddell narrowly escaped death when a bullet lodged in a notebook carried above his heart.

Warning on Plot.

Police said they had been working on the present plot for several weeks. Their first intimation that another attempt would be made on the lives of the union heads came when Charles E. Haury received an anonymous telephone message that he would be "put on the spot."

About the same time Langdon also received a telephone message that he would be shot.

Those under arrest in connection with the case gave their names as George MacSullen, 47, of 223 A street southeast, said by police to have come here from Chicago; Walter Reed, 26, same address; Mrs. Kay Reed, 25, same address; Ed Johnson, 38, of 919 Grant place northwest, and

Soviet Lists Poles In Attack on Envoy

Names of Plotters Against German Counselor's Life Submitted to Warsaw.

Warsaw, Poland, March 17 (A.P.).—The Polish Telegraph Agency reported today that the Soviet government had presented to the Polish foreign office a note setting forth the names of Poles who participated in a recent plot to assassinate Dr. Fritz von Twardowski, counselor of the German Embassy at Moscow.

Stanislas Patek, Polish Minister to Russia, called on L. M. Krestinski, assistant commissar for foreign affairs, for additional information, as the Polish government desires to make an investigation in its own behalf.

Dr. von Twardowski was wounded by an assailant in Moscow, March 5. Subsequently police arrested Judas Stern who, they said, admitted the attack. A few days later the Soviet foreign office announced that Stern had confessed "certain Polish citizens" instigated the crime, and that it had been intended to assassinate Dr. Herbert von Dirksen, the German Ambassador, instead of the counselor.

Improvement Shown In Condition of Reed

Rochester, Minn., March 17 (A.P.).—James A. Reed, former United States senator from Missouri, today had the best day since his gall bladder operation last Friday.

U. S. PAY CUT BILL TO BE SPONSORED BY HOUSE CHIEFS

McDuffie, Douglas and Wood Named on Special Subcommittee to Draw Up Measure.

WILL MEET TODAY TO HEAR EFFICIENCY BUREAU'S HEAD

Rainey Favors Proposal Not as Great Aid in Budget Problem But as Help to Psychological Effect on Citizenry.

By J. B. McDONNELL.

A bill slashing the salaries of all Government employes, from the highest to the lowest, will be presented to the House next week as the first handiwork of the special House economy committee headed by Representative Joseph W. Byrns (Democrat), of Tennessee.

Drafting of the measure has been placed by Mr. Byrns in the hands of a special subcommittee composed of Representative John McDuffie (Democrat), of Alabama; Representative Lewis W. Douglas (Democrat), of Arizona, and Representative Will R. Wood (Republican), of Indiana, the father of the pay-slashing movement in the House.

The subcommittee will meet today and hear Herbert D. Brown, chief of the United States Bureau of Efficiency, but the hearings are not to decide whether salaries shall be slashed, but merely how the cuts shall be made.

House Leaders to Be Sponsors.

The committee's measure will be submitted to the House under the sponsorship of House leaders who have been deluged with communications as a result of the campaign waged by various business organizations to force a cut in Government salaries.

Representative Henry T. Rainey (Democrat), of Illinois, majority floor leader, in a speech before the House on the sales tax yesterday, named the Illinois Manufacturers Association as one of the organizations engaged in lobbying activities and "tells us to balance the budget by cutting our own salaries."

"I will vote to do it," Representative Rainey informed the House, "not because it will accomplish much in meeting this budget deficit—it will be negligible—but on account of the psychological effect upon the people of the United States in this period of stress and worry and care."

Two Proposals Advanced.

Two general proposals for slashing salaries have been advanced. One is a straight 10 per cent cut in all salaries. Another is a graduated cut ranging from a small percentage up to 20 per cent of salaries of $10,000 or more.

The power with which the latest pay-cutting drive was launched was surprising and undoubtedly was due in part to the pyrrhic victory achieved in the House when the postal workers, through their Washington leaders, upset the appropriations committee's provision prohibiting increases in salaries or the filling of vacancies in the next fiscal year.

"I think," Representative Byrns said in discussing the decision of House leaders to sponsor the pay-cut bill, "that action has renewed the widespread opinion that we must now face reductions in the interests of economy."

That the pay-cut measure is not destined as a mere gesture which shall not be forced to a vote is demonstrated by the plan to make it an

MISSING SERVANTS CLEW IN KIDNAPING

Hopewell, N. J., March 17 (A.P.).—An indication that those working on the Lindbergh kidnaping case are going back over their investigating of the last sixteen days in a search for clews they may have missed came from the famous flier's home today.

Col. H. Norman Schwarzkoff, head of State police, was asked if cigarette butts has been found in the nursery from which the 20-month old child was stolen.

"A careful check on everything in the nursery was made as soon as police arrived," he replied. "This has been rechecked several times to make sure nothing was missing. No cigarette butts were found."

State troopers also have been rechecking the Sourland countryside through which they searched the week of the abduction.

The rest of Col. Schwarzkoff's bulletins consisted of reports on the usual daily grist of rumors, tips and leads that so far have always landed his men in blind alleys.

As far as is known from his statements, the only old angle of the investigation that has not been dropped is the checking of a story about two German servants who disappeared from their employer's home in Franklin Park, N. J., about 30 miles from here, the day after the kidnaping.

Mr. and Mrs. Leandro Lightfoot reported that the couple went for a 60-mile automobile ride the night the child was stolen, and that after they left suddenly the next day a chisel and wood similar to that used in making the kidnapers' ladder had been found missing.

Although Col. Schwarzkopf said in his morning bulletin the Lightfoots had found their chisel and that "no suspicion" rested on the missing servants, his afternoon bulletin stated:

"The investigation of Mr. and Mrs. Thornburg (the missing couple) is continuing, and nothing of importance has been reported as yet. These persons have not been located, and every effort is being made to determine their whereabouts."

In Waterbury, Conn., detectives reported three members of the New York police bombing squad, who said they were trailing three suspects in the kidnaping case, visited several rooming houses there during the night.

Hopewell Bank Cashier Ends Life by Shooting

Hopewell, N. J., March 17 (A.P.).—Theodore M. Hall, 60-year-old cashier of the Hopewell National bank, shot himself in the cellar of his home today and died soon afterward. Officials of the bank said the institution's affairs were in good order, and that the suicide had nothing to do with financial matters.

Mrs. Hall said her husband, who had been with the bank ever since it was founded in 1890, had been suffering from a nervous disorder for months. She said his act was due entirely to his general condition, and that he had not shown any signs of breakdown because of worry about the Lindbergh kidnaping here.

Woman Suffrage Move Is Defeated in France

Paris, March 17 (A.P.).—The Chamber of Deputies turned thumbs down tonight on woman suffrage, less than a month after it had voted overwhelmingly for it. By a vote of 299 to 127 the chamber eliminated an equal suffrage provision from the electoral reform bill, as well as two other amendments.

SENATE GROUP BACKS CURB ON STOCKS CREDIT

Speeding of Payments in Bank Closings Also Upheld.

RESERVE FUNDS USE BY TRADERS BANNED

(Associated Press.)

Far-reaching legislation to ban the use of Federal Reserve facilities in stock speculation and to speed payments to depositors in closed banks was approved yesterday by a Senate banking subcommittee.

Senator Glass (Democrat), Virginia, sponsor of the bill, then formally introduced it in the Senate, and it was referred immediately to the whole banking committee, which is expected to give it early approval.

The 54-page measure represents the conclusion of more than a year of study by the Senate subcommittee, headed by Glass, and proposes sweeping changes in the national banking system.

Establishment of a liquidating corporation with $200,000,000 in Government capital and authority to issue securities for $800,000,000 more is proposed for the aid of depositors in closed institutions.

Support Is Expected.

Senators Walcott, of Connecticut, and Townsend, of Delaware, regular Republicans, served on the subcommittee which drafted the legislation, and general administration support is believed likely. Other members of the subcommittee were Senators Norbeck (Republican), South Dakota, and Bulkley (Democrat), Ohio.

The bill seeks to encourage branch banking, to curb chain banking and to divorce affiliate corporations from national banking institutions. It also attempts to restrict brokers' loans from member banks, a reminder that these loans were more than $6,000,000,000 during the 1928-29 stock market inflation. It seeks to put open market operations under jurisdiction of the Reserve Board.

The legislation, in fact, is an outgrowth of the inquiry into the causes leading up to the record increase in stock market prices preceding the 1929 collapse. Senator Brookhart (Republican), Iowa, is prepared also to propose a tax on stock and bond sales and transfers.

Provision of Measure.

The measure specifically provides that Federal Reserve facilities "shall not be extended to member banks for the purpose of making or carrying loans covering investments, or facilitating the carrying of, or trading in, stocks, bonds, or other investment securities other than obligations of the Government of the United States."

The Federal Reserve Board is given authority to suspend for a year any member bank violating this injunction.

The legislation is a modification of the original bill proposed by Senator Glass in January.

Walcott and Townsend late yesterday issued a statement declaring general approval of the bill but advocating some changes when the measure is taken by the whole committee.

Statement on Plan.

Their statement said:

"While Senators Walcott and Townsend concur in many of the most important provisions of the bill they feel a few sections can be improved materially and the best way to accomplish this is through the plan agreed upon to have the Senate refer this new bill to the banking committee for full and free discussion. It is of the utmost importance at this time that no permanent changes in the banking law of the Federal Reserve System be made which might be construed as deflationary."

The intimation by Walcott and Townsend that they were not in complete accord with the banking bill prompted some speculation last night.

Senator Glass said: "I was unanimously authorized by the subcommittee to report the bill and no member of the committee offered any motion to modify in any respect that provision of the bill relating to the use of Federal Reserve facilities for stock speculation purposes. On the contrary, every member of the subcommittee has repeatedly indicated his advocacy of such restrictions."

Olcott, Famous Actor, Is Reported Near Death

Monte Carlo, Monaco, March 17 (A.P.).—Chauncey Olcott, the American actor who was famed a generation ago for his Irish ballads, was reported dying here today at his villa. The actor's physicians have told members of his family that he has probably only a week at most to live.

Olcott has been suffering from anemia for eleven years, members of his family said, and in recent weeks he has been steadily failing.

Maryland Day Changed To March 26 This Year

Because Good Friday and Maryland Day both come on March 25 this year, Gov. Albert C. Ritchie has issued a proclamation calling for the observance of Maryland Day on March 26. He feels that the birthday of the State could not be properly celebrated on Good Friday.

This proclamation will have the effect of giving county workers a three-day holiday on March 25, 26 and 27, which is Sunday.

sales tax levy, terming it as "an abominable endeavor."

Mr. Ragon served notice he would propose several amendments to exempt cheap clothing and shoes from its 2.25 per cent rate, and would vote for the provision because, he said, it was needed to balance the 1933 budget.

More than 100 amendments are to be offered, including one by the ways and means committee to exclude canned fruit and vegetables from the sales levy, and another to place a 4-cent-a-pound tax on imported copper.

Final action on the bill will not come before late next week.

Republican leaders capitulated to the demands of persistent opponents of the tax in their ranks to call a party conference tonight to discuss the highly controversial section of the revenue bill designed to balance the 1933 budget.

"If we don't balance this budget we are going to have the biggest panic any nation ever had in the history of this world," Mr. Rainey said.

Representative LaGuardia (Republican), New York, obtained 39 names to a petition and forced Representative Snell, of New York, minority leader, to call a party conference for tonight. The independents opposing the sales levy hope to break into the regular lines at the meeting.

Asserting the Government was running behind its receipts $7,882,000 a day, Mr. Rainey told the House "we now have added to the public debt $5,000,000,000, and we will pay an annual interest charge on that of $210,000,000.

"To keep on borrowing and increasing interest charges may bring the day that might wreck even this Government. We are directors of the greatest corporation on earth and at the present time this great corporation is bankrupt. We can only restore its solvency by wiping out this deficit."

The majority leader explained the tax bill was based on the assumption that the foreign debtor nations would resume payments amounting to about $270,000,000 at the end of the one-year Hoover moratorium, but added, "I don't believe they'll pay a dollar of it."

Turning to the subject of Government salary cuts, Mr. Rainey said: "We've got to cut our salaries. That's coming, and we've got to cut other salaries than our own. But you can't save this Government by cutting salaries."

Psychology of Cuts.

The savings from salary cuts would be negligible, he said, but "they are needed for the psychological effect during this time of distress."

While the bitter debate was approaching the end of the seventh day Secretary Mills said on the basis of early returns on income tax payments, Treasury estimates of revenue needed to balance the 1933 budget were sufficiently accurate to make it unlikely the measure would have to be increased.

A statement by the Treasury yesterday showed, however, the payments had dropped under those on the same comparative date last year.

Last Tuesday the payments amounted to $12,648,765. On that day a year ago they were $13,100,362, and payments for this month, including those of March 15, were $44,701,384, as compared with $58,124,904 in March a year ago. Since the beginning of the fiscal year on July 1, the Treasury has collected $702,822,726 in income taxes, as compared with $1,229,555,929 in the same period in the previous year.

A need for additional revenue and a picture of a rapidly waning American industry led the House ways and means committee to agree yesterday to recommend the levying of a 4-cent a pound tax on copper imports.

The $10,000,000 or more this tax will yield would replace a similar amount lost by the decision of the committee to eliminate canned foods from the sales tax provisions of the pending revenue bill.

The levy was sponsored before the committee by Representative Douglas (Democrat), Arizona. He drafted an amendment which would have fixed the tax at 5 cents a pound, but the committee changed that to 4 cents. Douglas estimated a 5-cent duty would bring in $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 a year.

Beer Levy Proposed.

The Republican petition asking for a party conference on the sales levy was submitted to leaders as a group of about 50 Democrats affirmed their decision Wednesday night to bolt their leadership and seek to kill the provision.

At his regular daily conference with newspapermen, Speaker Garner gave his "horseback opinion" that the proposed Cullen amendment to place a $5 a barrel tax on 2.75 per cent beer would be subject to a vote.

"From what I gather from the papers," he said, "I think the amendment they proposed to offer will not change the legal alcoholic content of beer.

"It will just order a tax of $5 a barrel on 2.75 beer manufactured under a permit from the Treasury. Of course, if they can't get a permit, that's a different thing."

As debate was resumed, Representative McFadden (Republican), of Pennsylvania, said it appeared "a clear majority of the House do not want to vote for the sales tax."

He said over $900,000,000 in potential tax payments was held up in departmental and court disputes.

"Congress should furnish sufficient personnel to bring this almost criminal delay to an end," he said. "It should collect the taxes due before it proposes new laws to be evaded."

Belief that a manufacturers' sales tax soon would be absorbed largely by industry because of competitive conditions was expressed yesterday by Acting Chairman Crisp, of the House ways and means committee.

Manufacturers Protest.

"Most of the protests I am receiving against the 2.25 per cent manufacturers' tax is from the manufacturers themselves, who claim that they will be compelled to absorb the taxes," the Georgia Democrat told newspapermen. "Seldom will it be reflected in the price to the consumer."

Meanwhile, Representative Cooper (Republican), Ohio, in a statement said the 1 cent a gallon on imported foreign oil carried in the bill would return more than 300,000 railroad employes to work if it were approved.

Mr. Crisp said he intended to introduce a bill to allow corporations to deduct charitable contributions from their income tax returns. Such action was recommended by former Secretary Mellon last December.

The present law permits individuals to deduct contributions to charity, but does not extend this right to corporations.

Mr. Rainey flayed those whom he termed "invisible lobbyists." He mentioned in this connection J. A. Arnold, of Washington, D. C., head of the American Taxpayers League, adding their methods were to send letters to constituents of members of Congress urging them to protest certain taxes or tariffs.

Mr. Arnold was scored by the Senate lobby committee in an investigation in 1930.

Senate Unit Hears Tobacco Price Hit

(Associated Press.)

Mordecai J. B. Ezekiel, an assistant chief economist of the Farm Board, yesterday told a Senate committee that prices had been maintained by cigarette manufacturers "at great cost to the tobacco farmer."

He said the wholesale price of cigarettes was "absolutely unchanged from the beginning of 1926 to the beginning of 1931."

"I am not a lawyer," he said. "But I want to say that as an economist that if there should be any evidence of monopoly written into the laws the maintenance of unchanged prices should be taken as prima facie evidence of monopoly." He added that he did not charge there was any "agreement among the manufacturers" of cigaretts but that one manufacturer may have followed the example of another in respect to prices.

Trotzky's Escape in Gale Is Bared by Fisherman

Istanbul, Turkey, March 17 (A.P.).—Turkish fishermen tonight revealed that Leon Trotzky, the exiled Communist, escaped from death in a wild squall which wrecked his motorboat on Dog Island a few days ago.

Their story was that Trotzky and two unidentified companions were on a fishing expedition in the Sea of Marmora in a recently purchased motorboat when a sudden southerly gale sprang up. The boat was dashed upon the rocks of lonely Dog Island, where thousands of Istanbul dogs were sent to starve to death many years ago.

HOUSE GROUP VOTES IMMIGRATION SLASH

90 Per Cent Cut in Quotas of All Nations Asked in Surprise Move.

(Associated Press.)

A 90 per cent cut in all immigration, Western hemisphere as well as Old World, was approved yesterday by the House immigration committee.

Urged as an unemployment measure, the restriction resolution by Representative Moore (Democrat), Kentucky, reducing all quotas to 10 per cent of their present status and putting Canada, Mexico, Central and South American countries on restricted quota bases, was voted by committee member.

Deliberations on a score of exclusion bills, which Chairman Dickstein had predicted would consume the rest of the month, were thus cut short in the swift surprise action of a single morning's session.

To Reunite Families.

Dickstein explained that individual resolutions would provide for the reuniting of families, aged parents and husbands of American citizens having already been reported favorably for nonquota status. A future bill, he said, would care for wives and children of aliens lawfully in the United States.

Under the measure, the Western Hemisphere countries would be given an annual quota fixed by ascertaining the number of nonquota immigration visas issued to natives of the respective countries during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1930, and taking 10 per cent of that number as the maximum to be admitted.

The date for cutting short nonquota visas from New World countries was set at July 1, 1932.

Patriotic societies urged the 90 per cent restriction measure, but representatives of various nationalities opposed it. Rabbi Wise, of New York, made an eloquent plea against further restriction.

Ban on Alien Actors.

A minor restriction measure, excluding from this country all alien actors except those that can prove themselves artists, was also reported favorably.

Motion picture representatives argued it was necessary for them to import new foreign accents frequently to do American films to be shown abroad.

Otherwise, they said, the translators "got stale, took on the Hollywood brogue" and the films were not acceptable abroad.

Chairman Dickstein opined, however, that "almost any accent" could be found among the foreign-born and now-unemployed in the United States.

Medical Service Needs Stressed by Dr. Wilbur

New York, March 17 (A.P.).—Need of more adequate medical service for a larger number of the American people was emphasized tonight by Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior, at the closing session of the two-day Milbank Memorial Fund medical conference.

Though he cited much progress made in recent years toward improved health, Dr. Wilbur said many still went without care when ill and knew nothing of preventive medicine. Fifteen per cent of the number of babies born still are brought into the world by midwives, he said, and some doctors are practicing with 30-year-ago training.

Richardson Reticent On Hawaii Crime Quiz

San Francisco, March 17 (A.P.).—Declining to answer questions about his investigation of law enforcement conditions in Hawaii, Seth W. Richardson, Assistant United States Attorney General, arrived here today en route back to Washington to make his report to Attorney General Mitchell.

Richardson said he completed his report aboard the liner Malolo yesterday and that it would be in the hands of the Attorney General next Wednesday, probably for release shortly thereafter.

HOOVER ASKS SLASH IN BUDGET FOR IDLE

enues available, it is proposed to slow up anticipated construction work on the municipal center to the extent of $600,000."

An accompanying statement by Budget Director Roop specified that not more than $60,000 of the relief fund be used for personal services and expenses. Of the $1,000,000 remaining for the Municipal Center, he stipulated $900,000 be used for purchase of a site, and $100,000 for beginning construction, grading and paving of streets.

"Since the preparation of the budget for 1933 and since the campaign of the charitable organizations for subscriptions for charitable and relief work in an amount predicated upon the experience of a year ago, the demands upon these organizations indicate a materially larger number of residents of the District of Columbia in need of relief than was anticipated at this time," Director Roop said.

"Although the funds subscribed to charitable agencies exceed the amounts previously subscribed, they are still inadequate to meet the existing situation, and that anticipated during the coming fall and winter."

Like President Hoover, he pointed out that virtually every sizable municipality in the country has supplemented private subscriptions for organized relief with municipal funds.

The proposal to ask Congress for aid was made by Paul J. Benjamin, executive secretary of the District committee on employment, which used up the $250,000 Community Chest donation in meeting heavy demands on the resources this winter.

Before the step, however, the Commissioners conferred with E. C. Graham, chairman of the committee on employment, and Newbold Noyes, of the Washington Council of Social Agencies, Col. Roop was advised of the request. Wednesday he took it up with the White House.

The plan in no way conflicts with the President's policy of having local relief handled with local funds, it was pointed out. Whereas other municipalities have a community treasury to draw from, Washington is forced to get the sanction of Congress for expenditures of its own moneys.

Furniture Agent Takes Bed From Wrong Party

Annapolis, Md., March 17 (U.P.).—F. Lee Sears, zealous employe of a local furniture firm here, was sent to a house to reclaim a bed upon which several installments were due.

He knocked on the door, walked into the bedroom and put Mrs. Marguerite Duckett and her 9-day-old baby out of bed.

Today Sears is out of jail on $500 bond charged with assault. It was the wrong woman, the wrong bed and the wrong house.

TARIFFS INCREASED BY MACHADO EDICT

Cuba Will Charge Higher Import Duties on Autos, Trucks and Lard.

Havana, March 17 (A.P.).—President Gerardo Machado today signed a decree increasing the tariff on automobiles, trucks and lard, including importations from the United States. The purpose of the increase was given as stimulation to Cuban industries.

Effective July 1, assembled automobiles and trucks will pay a maximum duty of 60 per cent and a general duty of 30 per cent ad valorem, against the present rate of 50 and 25 per cent, respectively.

Duty of American-made trucks and automobiles will be 24 per cent, instead of the former 20 per cent, under the preferential provision of the treaty of reciprocity.

After July 1, pork lard will be imported with a maximum tariff of $46 and a general tariff of $23 the 100 kilos, with the American preferential rate at $18. The existing rates are $27, $13.50 and $10.80, respectively.

Lard compounds, neutral lards and similar articles after July 1 will be charged a tariff of $58 maximum and $29 general duty the 100 kilos, while American products will enter for $23.20. The present duty of these commodities is $34, $17 and $36, respectively.

Duties fixed by the decree shall be subject to an annual surtax of 5 per cent, so that in the fifth year the surtax shall be equal to 25 per cent of the initial duty remaining fixed at that figure.

Mexico Prepares to Mint Silver.

Mexico City, March 17 (U.P.).—The first silver bullion for minting of new coins under the monetary law as revised last week has been received from a Mexican mine. Minister of Finance Pani declined to name the mine or state the amount of bullion delivered. It is impossible to estimate the total amount to be minted, he said, because it will be regulated by future currency requirements. It was indicated in another authoritative source that all purchases of bullion would be allocated among all Mexican mines.

Cuban Strike Is Called.

Havana, March 17 (A.P.).—The Cuban National Labor Confederation today called on workmen throughout the island to strike for 24 hours March 24 "in sympathy with the 15,000 tobacco workers and strikers in other industries." Press censorship, imprisonment of workers and politicians, continued suspension of constitutional guarantees, ejection of unemployed from their homes and "Yankee imperialism," would also be protested, it was decided upon at secret meetings of representatives of 46 unions, factories and committees of unemployed.

Havana Sales Agency Stoned.

Havana, March 17 (A.P.).—A crowd of men carrying red flags stoned the sales agency of the Ford Motor Co. today, breaking a number of show windows. Police said it was a manifestation of protest in connection with the recent riot at the Ford work in Michigan.

GRAIN SALE ABROAD AIM IN NEW EFFORT

Hyde and Stone Confer With Senate Leaders; Secretary Also Visits Hoover.

(Associated Press.)

A concerted effort to lift some of the crushing weight of the wheat and cotton surpluses from the domestic market is being made by administration and congressional leaders.

There is confidence that a foreign market, particularly in China, is available for disposition of a big portion of the carryovers of the Nation's two major money corps.

The program calls for use of part of the $200,000,000 of agricultural funds voted in the Reconstruction Finance Corporation bill for floating the deals.

Secretary Hyde, who administers this fund, and Chairman Stone of the Farm Board consulted yesterday with Vice President Curtis and agriculture leaders at the Capitol. Hyde also saw President Hoover and Walter Newton, one of the President's secretaries, but would not comment on the conversation.

The resolution of Senator Smith (Democrat), South Carolina, making immediately available the $200,000,000 agricultural fund was approved by the Senate this week and is now before the House.

President Hoover has consulted members of the House agriculture committee on this. It is the hope of the administration to make part of this money available for financing the foreign deals. There is also fear that loaning of all this fund to make crops this year would overstimulate production this season and further glut the market.

Secretary Hyde and Chairman Stone conferred in the Senate yesterday with Vice President Curtis, Chairman McNary, of the agriculture committee, and Senators Capper, Kansas; Dickinson, Iowa, and Shipstead, Minnesota.

No agreement was reached, but there was every indication that an understanding was had. Senators Smith and Sheppard (Democrat), Texas, from the Cotton Belt, have been consulted also.

The next move is up to the House.

John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross, informed Chairman McNary, of the Senate agriculture committee, yesterday that 730,000 bushels of Government wheat have been shipped into the Northwest States for live stock feed.

The Red Cross official, who is in charge of handling the 40,000,000 bushels of wheat recently voted by Congress for the needy and for live stock feed, also reported applications for 124,416 barrels of flour.

Payne said 22,450 barrels of flour have been shipped to various localities for the destitue.

Applications for flour from the Red Cross chapters were reported as follows: Eastern States, 63,730 barrels; Middle West, 43,475 bushels, and Pacific States, 17,211 barrels.

Although Chairman Stone said later no active negotiations were under way with a prospective wheat purchaser, it was said in another quarter that China was in the market for between 50,000,000 and 80,000,000 bushels.

The board sold 15,000,000 bushels to China last summer. In this connection, Stone said yesterday, "I have every reason to believe China will meet her obligations when they fall due. She has paid her interest promptly. That is the only way a country can maintain its credit."

Less than $50,000,000 of the board's original $500,000,000 remains unencumbered and this prevents it from entering into negotiations itself with foreign governments.

Besides China, Germany bought 500,000 bushels of wheat last fall and 25,000,000 more were traded with Brazil for coffee.

The board now holds about 160,000,000 bushels of wheat and 1,300,000 bales of cotton.

BORAH SEEKING DATA ON WILKERSON FOES

(Associated Press.)

Chairman Borah of the Senate judiciary committee considering the promotion of Judge James H. Wilkerson to the circuit court yesterday asked F. J. Loesch, president of the Chicago Crime Commission, for evidence that gangsters are opposing the nomination.

Mr. Loesch and Isham Randolph, chairman of Chicago's "Secret Six"—an organization fighting gangsters—Wednesday presented to Senator Borah a resolution saying the undercover work of criminal organizations had made it appear that organized labor was opposed to Judge Wilkerson's confirmation.

"The subcommittee," Senator Borah wired Mr. Loesch today, "is anxious to secure all factors possible touching the activities of the underworld or criminals as indicated in your statement.

"Can you furnish us with any facts or the names of any parties which will enable the subcommittee to ascertain if possible just what if anything these criminal organizations are doing in regard to Judge Wilkerson.

"The question with the committee is whether there is any evidence that these criminal organizations are now seeking to influence the Senate or labor organizations with reference to this matter.."

Fiery Rejoinder Sent.

Later, railway labor executives sent to the Senate a fiery rejoinder to charges that opposition to confirmation of Judge Wilkerson was inspired by gangsters.

In a letter to Chairman Borah, the executives of 21 railroad labor organizations said they resented the propaganda in connection with the Wilkerson case.

The executives, who have been in session in Washington for three days, gave out a lengthy statement, which all signed, carrying a letter from Donald Richberg and another from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, indorsing the stand of the railroad men.

Smoke Screen Charged.

"It is clear," said the Green letter, "that the interests which are backing Judge Wilkerson are endeavoring to throw out a smoke screen to conceal the real issue. Charges of the gravest character have ben presented against Judge Wilkerson. Those charges have not been met."

"We are writing," the letter of the executives transmitting the Green and Richberg letters said, "to resent and, we hope, to thoroughly expose libelous propaganda inspired by the Chicago Tribune in connection with the nomination of Judge James H. Wilkerson for a place on the United States Circuit Court, a matter which is now pending before your committee.

"While this false and misleading propaganda originated with the Tribune, it has been vigorously spread by other supporters of Judge Wilkerson through newspaper interviews and perhaps to a more limited extent by testimony presented to this committee."

Direct Reply Promised.

Chicago, March 17 (A.P.).—Frank J. Loesch, head of the Chicago Crime Commission, will reply direct to Senator William E. Borah concerning the latter's telegraphic request today that he furnish specific names and data to support his recent testimony that criminals oppose Federal District Judge James H. Wilkerson's confirmation to the Circuit Court of Appears.

"Until then I will have nothing to say," Mr. Loesch stated.

Mr. Loesch told the Senate judiciary committe, of which Senator Borah is chairman, that organized criminal gangs feared Judge Wilkerson and opposed his elevation because of his strict attitude during the tax evasion trials of gangsters.

Greece Sanctions New Ford Plant.

Athens, March 17 (A.P.).—Premier Venizelos today informed representatives of Henry Ford that the government would permit Mr. Ford to establish an automobile plant at Piraeus if the employes, aside from expert mechanics, were Greek. In Greece Ford cars are known as "Fordakis."

Klauder, Builder, To Lecture Today

Talk in Cathedral Series Will Be Given at Mayflower.

A lecture on "Medieval and Renaissance Cathedrals" will be given this afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Mayflower Hotel by Charles Z. Klauder, a leading authority on the subject. The lecture is the fourth in a series arranged by the women's committee for Washington Cathedral.

Mr. Klauder has been executive architect for the Harkness dormitories at Yale University and the Holder buildings at Princeton. He also is supervising architect of the University of Delaware, Pennsylvania State College, St. Paul's School and the Hill School. He won the gold medal of the American Institute of Architects in 1921 and the Grand Prix of the Pan-American Congress of Architects in 1927. In his work he reproduces the spirit of the great Gothic builders of the Middle Ages. His discussion this afternoon will be illustrated with stereopticon views.

Sir Willmott Lewis, Washington correspondent of the London Times, will preside and introduce the speaker. Tickets of admission may be obtained at the door. The public is invited.

Youths to Mark Washington Visit

Three Counties in Celebration to Be Staged Today at Berkeley Springs.

The youth of three West Virginia counties, Berkeley, Jefferson and Morgan, will gather at Berkeley Springs today to celebrate the visit to the latter hamlet 184 years ago by George Washington when he was a 16-year-old surveyor.

The following entry is recorded in a surveying journal of the First President: "March 18, 1748. We Call'd to see y. Fam'd Warm Springs. We Camp'd y. field this night."

The celebration will extend two days. Scouting parties, trips to local points of interest, and pageantry will mark the two-day meeting.

BLUE FLEET BEGINS DRIVE TO TAKE PORT

Movements of Attackers in West Coast War Game Are Kept Secret.

By CAPT. C. M. AUSTIN, U. S. Navy, Assistant Chief of Staff.

U. S. S. California-at sea, March 17 (A.P.).—The keynote of Admiral Richard Leigh's plan to seize a West Coast port must be secrecy if the Blue Fleet hopes to win out against the defense of the "Blacks" in the execution of the Navy's greatest peace-time maneuvers.

We will keep to ourselves if possible our position, movement and plans. Consequently, radio silence, except for one open short wave frequency, has fallen upon the Blue Fleet and its convoy of troop ships.

Vice Admiral A. L. Willard, commanding the Black forces, will not rely on our indiscretions to give him the information that is essential to his campaign. One instrument he will try to use for this purpose is the submarine. Another he had planned to employ is the new Navy airship, Akron.

If you can control the weather, the Akron can start from the new air base at Sunnyvale, Calif., with 180,000 pounds of bombs on board, drop some of then in Hawaii, turn back, drop the remainder in Europe and then, still without stopping, return to her base at Lakehurst, N. J.

The damage she sustained on February 23, has put her out of this exercise.

Now, in theory, the airship can do wonders, and would certainly find us somewhere on these 2,000,000 square miles of water. As a matter of fact, she can do little to help and in actual war would be just as uncertain and unreliable. This is true because the ideal conditions necessary for theory and fact to coincide will not be forthcoming.

To the element of uncertain weather conditions, must be added enemy opposition. His fighters would go after the Akron and her kind the instant they are sighted, and once within striking distance, the extreme and admitted vulnerability of the airship would probably spell her destruction.

The Akron's usefulness as a scout depends on good weather, well-planned cruising so as to intercept the enemy, whatever his destination, and quick thinking and acting should she be seen, in order to make good her escape.

Seattle Tribute Paid To Lewis as Candidate

Seattle, Wash., March 17 (A.P.).—Friends here tonight paid tribute to Senator James Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois, a Washington State resident from 1887 to 1901, and representative at large during a part of this period.

Since Lewis' name was filed for consideration at the Illinois Democratic presidential primaries April 12, James M. Wilson, Seattle Democrat, has campaigned for delegates from Washington to support him. Votes for Lewis are sought should things "break" against Franklin D. Roosevelt, to whom the Washington delegates have been pledged at the Chicago convention.

COL. CLARENCE M. YOUNG.

ROMANTICALLY inclined young ladies whisper that he is the hero of Hemingway's "Farewell to Arms." Your politicians will admit that, after all, this member of the Little Cabinet "knows his stuff." Staid and starched old ladies in Georgetown get thrilled when he offers to take them sky-riding in his latest "open job."

The Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics was born in Iowa and went to Yale. Back in the days when airplanes were regarded in the same class as brooms and witches in Puritan Salem, he was preaching air-mindedness. Getting results, too, and orders for the first commercial planes ever sold in this country.

He is such an old transport flier, holding pilot's license No. 2, that he is beginning to get embarrassed when you bring it up. Particularly leap year.

Aviator—war hero—ace—he was captured by the Austrians at Piave after his trimotored Caproni came down like a falling leaf. You could see sky through his wings. Ten years later he went back and did a "falling leaf," but this time just for fun over the very spot where he had almost crashed.

He has organized commercial aviation, outlawed the "stunt" flier and has done more to make aviation safe for the man in the clouds than probably any other living aviation official.

REPORTED PLAN FOR REOPENING DEBT TALKS DENIED BY HOOVER

up negotiations. That is absolutely and unqualifiedly untrue. There is no expectation that he will at that time or any other time, so far as we know, open up such negotiations."

The minority leader countered with the statement of Ambassador Mellon of last December 11, in which the then Secretary of the Treasury declared after reviewing the economic difficulties of England, Austria, Hungary and Germany:

"To stand on the letter of our bond and to refuse to consider the facts, is to fail in our responsibility to the American people whom we represent, and to the debtors whose capacity to pay we ourselves undertook to determine."

The senator then declared that the only way The Post article could be repudiated would be to repudiate the statement which Mr. Mellon had made in December. He added:

"His object or concern in that statement was relief of the taxpayers of Great Britain."

Claims Misinterpretation.

Reed insisted that the Mellon statement had been misinterpreted. It was a statement, he said, of "arithmetical truths which may have been true last December but which are not true today."

Congress has made it very plain, Reed said, that it is not going to agree to the burden being taken off the British taxpayers and put on the American taxpayers.

Senator Connally reminded Reed that President Hoover had recommended to Congress the re-creation of the War Debt Commission for the temporary adjustment of foreign debts. The Pennsylvania senator replied that he himself felt this recommendation would make a bad impression abroad and would encourage false hopes about reduction.

Moreover, he said he had so told President Hoover.

Questioned by Senator Henrik Shipstead (Farmer-Labor), of Minnesota, about a reported debt agreement between President Hoover and former Premier Laval of France, Senator Reed said that he had never heard of such an agreement.

Glass Enters Debate.

At this point, Senator Carter Glass (Democrat), of Virginia, entered the debate with the announcement that he disagreed with senators on both sides of the chamber.

He said:

"I am perfectly satisfied in my own mind—I do not assume here ever to speak for the President—but I am as perfectly convinced as I ever was of anything, that the President of the United States does not share the utterly arbitrary and irrevocable attitude of the senator from Pennsylvania.

"A very practical question is involved as far as I am concerned or may be involved, and that is whether it were to be the better advantage of this country to readjust the indebtedness rather than to insist upon the pound of flesh.

"I can very readily apprehend that circumstances hereafter may be such as to induce the Congress absolutely to reverse its apparent attitude of today on this question.

"Suppose European nations tell us in plain terms that they are not able to comply with the settlement. Are we going to war to exact payment?"

Reed said that we could not go to war.

"Obviously," he continued, "if conditions arose that changed the whole picture we would look at the conditions as they were. But I can not conceive of a combination of conditions that would warrant cancellation of what is left of those just claims. When the senator talks about his pound of flesh he must refer to the Shakespearean character Uncle Shylock who demanded it, and that is our pet name in Europe now.

Says Hoover Differs.

Glass replied that, while Reed might not be able to conceive of such circumstances, it was obvious that President Hoover did. It was apparent, Glass said, that Reed did not reflect the President's thought.

"I am not willing to sit here any longer," continued Glass, "and hear the Senator from Pennsylvania make the broad declaration that the Congress is absolutely insistent upon exacting the last dollar that was provided under the plan of settlement, when I myself can very easily conceive that circumstances may arise, if they have not already arisen, which would make it imperative to our own practical interest to readjust this indebtedness."

Reed charged that Glass was encouraging the cancellation drive.

"Nothing," he said, "could give aid and comfort to our propagandist adversaries abroad more than such a remark as that we have just heard from the Senator from Virginia."

"And," retorted Glass, "I may interject here that nothing would intensify their enmity more than the speech delivered on the floor just prior to the recess holidays by the Senator from Pennsylvania."

"Very good," said Reed. "If we have to buy their friendship by the constant cancellation of just claims, their friendship is not worth buying."

Pointing out that both France and Great Britain are important creditor nations, with billions of foreign investments held in their vaults, Reed continued:

"There are, I am ashamed to say, a lot of Americans who get asked to lunch by a countess and immediately break into tears and cancel the debts. There are a lot of Americans who, for some reason of their own, have taken this foreign propaganda as if it were the Bible. We hear too much of it, and too little in reply."

Propaganda Laid To Oil Companies

Senator Hatfield Says Petroleum Firms Are Back of Tax Protest Drive.

(Associated Press.)

Oil importing companies were charged yesterday in the Senate by Senator Hatfield (Republican), West Virginia, with sponsoring messages to congressmen protesting against the proposed import tax on petroleum.

In a pointed attack asserting the companies were waging a telegraphic campaign against the levy, Hatfield asserted the intent was "to mislead members of Congress into the belief that there was a general popular opposition to this measure."

Thousands of telegrams protesting the proposed 1-cent tax on petroleum imports, contained in the revenue bill pending before the House, have been put into the record of both branches of Congress by the members.

New Treatment Claimed For Pernicious Anemia

Cincinnati, March 17 (A.P.).—Discovery of a new treatment for pernicious anemia, a common disease, was credited today to the Cincinnati General Hospital staff by Dr. A. C. Bachmeyer, superintendent. Without disclosing details, Dr. Bachmeyer said the new treatment "now is beyond the experimental stage and the startling results obtained soon will be released to the medical profession and eventually to the public. The most satisfactory results have appeared in the more serious cases."

General Hospital physicians have worked on the treatment for five months, the superintendent said.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY OBSERVED BY ERIN

Plea for Union of North and South Ireland Renewed by De Valera.

Dublin, Irish Free State, March 17 (A.P.).—Erin celebrated the fifteenth centenary of St. Patrick today with dance and song and military parade, winding up the day by hearing a message from the new president of the Irish Free State, Eamon de Valera, which was rebroadcast to the United States.

"Let our desire to work for our country be our common bond," De Valera said, renewing in effect his plea of yesterday for the union of North and South Ireland.

De Valera stressed that his aim was Ireland for Ireland, but tempered with friendly feeling for all nations.

"Our common desire," he said, "has always been to bring about the unity and independence of this nation."

The St. Patrick's Day celebration was marred by a disturbance at Ulster, near Ballinderry Bridge, in the County of Londonderry. A party of members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians were ambushed and two of their number were wounded.

The youth of Ireland danced tonight in celebration of the day, but the dance halls closed early and, as for some years past, no liquor was sold with which to drown the shamrock.

The day was marked in Dublin with a great parade of Free State troops.

Another center of ceremonies was at Saul, in County Down, where a giant statue of St. Patrick will soon be erected on the mountain of Slieve Willin, 400 feet above the shore where the saint landed in 432 A. D., as a missionary.

Zoo Finds No Buyers At Wild Animal Sale

Detroit, March 17 (A.P.).—Potatoes are cheaper, tomatoes are cheaper and so are gnus, lions, elands, Siberian camels and other wild stock at the Detroit Zoo.

Attractive bargains in four-footed merchandise went on the counter at the zoo today, to wit: Five lions at $150 each, two black bears at $25 each, a guaranteed gnu at $200, and a nice, hungry pair of African elands for $500 per eland—with no takers.

The bottom has dropped out of the wild animal market, according to John T. Millen, zoo director. For instance, the sales resistance of prospective customers has knocked from $100 to $150 off the price of a jungle-bred lion.

The zoo's inhabitants now on the bargain counter, said Mr. Millen, are all surplus stock, born on the premises.

TANKER IN DISTRESS OFF VIRGINIA CAPES

35 Aboard Disabled Craft; Aid Rushed; 7 Saved as Another Ship Burns.

New York, March 17 (A.P.).—Somewhere several hundred miles off the Virginia capes a Norwegian motor tanker, The Raila, was believed to be drifting helplessly in heavy seas tonight.

Shortly before noon Coast Guard headquarters here received a radiogram from the steamer Duchess of Bedford announcing the plight of the tanker.

The cutter Champlain, on patrol duty out of New York, was dispatched to the aid of the Raila. It would take fifteen hours for it to reach the tanker, officials said.

The message from the Duchess of Bedford, en route from New York to Bermuda, did not give the cause of the trouble. It was assumed the tanker's engines were disabled. Her crew numbered 35. She was bound from Constanza, Roumania, to Baltimore, had passed Gibraltar February 25, and was considerably overdue.

Phoebus, Va., March 17 (A.P.).—Rescued after their vessel burned and sank 40 miles off the Virginia Capes, seven members of the crew of the auxiliary trawler Ruth Mildred were brought to port here today.

Capt. Niles Soderbert, skipper of the Ruth Mildred, reported to its owners, the Old Point Fish Co., that there was an explosion followed by a roar of flames which left barely time for the crew to take to a small boat before the trawler sank. The explosion occurred at 6 p. m. yesterday and a short time later the crew was picked up by the trawler Ariel.

About 46 barrels of fish were aboard the ship which sank and owners estimated their total loss at approximately $35,000.

Lady Astor Displays Hair Wave to Lords

London, March 17 (A.P.).—Item showing femininity of Nancy Lady Astor: When the members of the House of Commons were called to the House of Lords today for a royal commission, they were greeted with the traditional "hats off strangers" as they reached the door.

Lady Astor, although not bound to obey because she is a woman, jerked off her hat when the men did. A friend asked her why and she replied:

PENNSYLVANIA TRAIN DERAILED; FIVE HURT

'Red Arrow' Jumps Track at 60 Miles Speed; Capitol Limited Quits Rails.

Princeton Junction, N. J., March 17 (A.P.).—Eight cars of the westbound "Red Arrow," New York-Detroit limited of the Pennsylvania, were derailed late today as the train sped through this town. Only five persons were injured, all slightly.

Custer Faulk, Negro cook on one of the dining cars, of New York, was burned as he was thrown against a stove. He was taken to a Princeton hospital.

The other four, who were shaken up and bruised, were W. E. P. Murrie, of Hershey, Pa., a passenger; George Hausner, of Detroit, Pullman car conductor, and Jay Rowal and S. G. Johnson, Negro waiters, both of New York City.

The twelve-car train had left New York with 70 passengers at 4 p. m. An hour later, as it passed through here at 60 miles an hour, the first eight cars left the rails. Railroad officials were uncertain what had caused the derailment.

Tender Jumps Rails.

The coupling between the engine and the baggage car broke. Nearly half a mile farther on the engine came to a stop and the tender jumped the rails.

The other derailed cars were two diners and six Pullman cars. They came to a stop on three sets of tracks, which were still blocked late in the night. All traffic was being rerouted over the one open track.

Baltimore, March 17 (A.P.).—Passengers aboard the Capitol Limited of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad were shaken but no one was hurt when the fast train from Chicago to New York was derailed at Waverton, Md., at 7:27 a. m. today.

Track Damaged $2,000.

The total of damage to track was estimated at about $2,000. One of the tracks was torn up for about 15 rail lengths, according to the railroad officials, and the adjoining tracks were damaged.

The fast express had slowed down somewhat for the Waverton Station, which is at the junction point of the Hagerstown branch of the railroad.

A Detroit-Washington train following less than three-quarters of an hour later, was stopped at Waverton and the passengers transferred to it. Approximately half of them were bound for Washington while arrangements were made for the others to reach their destinations at Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York. The Capitol Express passengers were only about half an hour late in arriving at Washington.

Debate Set Tonight By Fries and Nearing

"Should the United States recognize the Soviet government of Russia" will be debated tonight at the Masonic Temple by Gen. Amos A. Fries and Prof. Scott Nearing.

In the argument, which will begin at 8:15 o'clock, Gen. Fries will take the negative side, while Prof. Nearing will advocate the affirmative. The Rev. Russell J. Clinchy, pastor of the Mount Pleasant Congregational Church, will act as chairman.

Arise and Give 3 Cheers To Ham Lewis for Idea!

By JOHN J. DALY

SENATOR J. HAM LEWIS has an idea—and a good one. He proposes the consolidation of the Interior and Agricultural Departments, the dismissal of 15,000 useless employes and the saving of $15,000,000 in cold cash.

This, of course, is only the beginning. The good senator would do away with the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Bureau of Indian Affairs, the Geological Survey and the Bureau of Mines.

That is a good start toward condensation of the Government. The Interior Department, after all, is just a decoration. The Agricultural Department is outmoded by the Machine Age, most of man's foodstuff coming in packages. Interstate commerce is not what it used to be, say, in the days when the brewers' big horses were running wild. There are no Indians on the reservation, all off, and the geological formations, formed years ago, will not change for another eon or so. Run-of-the-mine is only a by-word.

* * * *

THE process could go on, right down the line. Where, for instance, is Justice? Why a Department of Justice? There is no Justice.

Labor—away with it! Why labor? Why work? It was not meant that man, made for the Elysian fields, should spin or toil. The Labor Department keeps active a fallacy. Rest and recreation, relaxation, is what we need. Down with labor, and bring on the perpetual vacation period. Labor, of all the departments, must go.

Commerce, another outworn phrase. Commerce, business—where has business gone? Why send the Commerce Department to look after business. No, there is no need for Commerce and its swanky building that looks more like an Art Museum than a commercial establishment.

And that Postoffice Department. It sends around the bills on the first of the month, never missing. That place is entirely too efficient. Senator Lewis has that on his list, too—and good riddance. It is true that some people like to get letters, but the abolishment of the Postoffice Department would do away with the necessity for answering letters—one of the bugbears of life.

* * * *

AS there might be a parade, some day, in celebration of all this riddance, the soldiers and sailors will be kept, but the War Department, as such, is sure to go. We are through with war. It has been outlawed by the League of Nations. No peace-loving man or woman wants war. Why, then, a War Department?

Undoubtedly, these various departments contributed in their day to the growth, and even stability, of America, but they have served their usefulness—and moreover, the money used to maintain them must be saved. The Treasury Department, for example, if shut up, would silence forever the talk of balancing the budget.

After all these boons were brought about, Senator Lewis, with the aid of a few competent colleagues, could put a For Rent sign on the White House—thus saving the cost of national elections—and even abolish Congress.

Yes, and Senator Lewis, tired of his hirsute extravagance, might even shave off his pink whiskers; but that is asking too much. The Nation, even without a Department of Agriculture, will always need alfalfa.

HURLEY DENOUNCES WEALTH INEQUALITY

Says Economic System Need Changes, But Is Well Worth Saving.

Chicago, March 17 (A.P.).—Secretary of War Patrick Hurley said tonight that America needed to give deliberate study to an economic system "which has created an unequal distribution of wealth."

The War Secretary was principal speaker at a St. Patrick's Day dinner of the Irish Fellowship Club and in his address recalled high careers followed under the flags of many nations by the "wandering sons of Ireland."

Never, said Secretary Hurley, had a government given happiness to greater numbers than in the United States.

"The system is worth saving," he said. "It may need some changes, but we should make them not in the excitement of a temporary crisis, but only after due deliberation."

Then he added:

"We must give more thought to our economic system which has created an unequal distribution of wealth. The time has passed when people can do what they will with their own property, regardless of consequences to their fellow men. The attitude in economics which allowed employers to work women and children in factories for long hours, which enabled unscrupulous men to interfere with normal trade, and similar manifestations of selfishness, has passed into limbo.

"There is an established feeling in this country that property carries with it social responsibility."

Secretary Hurley called the racketeer the greatest threat to American life, liberty and happiness. But where municipal and State governments have proved incapable of suppressing the outlaws, he blamed the citizens, for "citizens can have just exactly the kind of government they want; lack of obedience to law in any community can be blamed on the indifference of its own citizens."

Shouse Sees Sales Tax as Necessity

Repellent to Party, But Recognized as Vital, He Asserts.

Savannah, Ga., March 17 (A.P.).—Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, tonight called the manufacturers' sales tax before Congress a Democratic concession to absolute necessity and one of the products of the "political armistice" in Congress.

The whole idea of such a tax, he said, "is repellant to the Democratic mind but needs must when the devil of necessity drives." He spoke here before the Hibernian Society of Savannah. Faced with an absolute necessity of formulating a tax plan that would correct the Treasury deficiency by 1933, Mr. Shouse said, the Democratic majority found inescapable the unwelcome job of increasing taxes.

"There is cause for neither surprise nor criticism that many members of Congress oppose the sales tax," he said. "Save for the critical fiscal situation, there would be small excuse for it. It will be supported in frequent instances by those who would ordinarily incline to defeat it, because they realize the absolute necessity of making every effort to balance the budget."

Naval and Air Groups Take Recess at Geneva

Geneva, Switzerland, March 17 (A.P.).—Members of the naval and air commissions of the world disarmament conference met briefly today, winding up the conference sessions until April 11.

During the Easter vacation most of the American delegation will remain in Switzerland. Norman Davis, however, is sailing tomorrow to report to Secretary Stimson.

Mt. Etna Emits Smoke As Crater Rim Caves In

Catania, Sicily, March 17 (A.P.).—Mount Etna sent billows of smoke rolling down its sides today, but there was no lava.

Officials at the observatory said a part of the crater rim 160 feet long had fallen in, but there was no danger.

German political police and espionage investigators, it was learned, have been working secretly for some time to obtain the plans of the Nazis and recently they have uncovered stores of arms and ammunition declared by them to be the property of the Hitler followers.

Hitler ran a poor second to President Paul von Hindenburg in the indecisive election last Monday. He already has announced he will stand against the president in the "run off" election on April 10. Officials of his party declared in Munich that the series of raids was a political maneuver to strengthen the hand of the Von Hindenburg supporters in the April 10 balloting.

Largest Concerted Action.

Today's raids were believed to be the largest concerted action ever taken by republican Germany against any party. From Koenigsberg to Cologne and from Kiel to Breslau, every important Nazi center was visited by law officers acting under instructions from Karl Severing, minister of the interior for the state of Prussia. The federal government denied that it had any hand in the raids.

The Prussian interior ministry issued a communique saying the Hitlerites had been prepared for a march on Berlin at the time of the election last Sunday.

Many Raids Conducted.

Raids were made at Cologne, Berlin, Hamburg, Koenigsberg, Aachen, Duesseldorf, Frankfort-on-Main and at many smaller places.

At the "brown house"—Nazi headquarters at Munich—it was made clear that the National Socialists would contest the action of the Prussian authorities. It was announced that all legal measures would be used to obtain redress from "this unheard-of procedure which is calculated to foster artificial panic in the population."

EXPLORER AND LOCAL FRIENDS

MORE LIBERAL LIQUOR ATTITUDE BY G. O. P. FORECAST BY HURLEY

resentative on the resolutions committee, and therefore would take part in drafting the party's platform.

However, because of Fess' dryness, threats were being made in Ohio yesterday to name a wet for the resolutions committee.

Mrs. Rogers Favors Plank.

In the midst of yesterday's prohibition clamor, Representative Edith Nourse Rogers (Republican), of Massachusetts, advocated a referendum plank in the next Republican platform. Up until Monday Mrs. Rogers had been regarded as a dry. On that day she voted in effect for a referendum. Since then, she says, she has had a number of drys tell her they were sorry they had not done likewise.

Secretary of War Hurley's statement in Chicago that the Republicans will adopt a "more liberal" stand on prohibition was regarded here as a major political development. Quite a few members of President Hoover's Cabinet are known to favor a change, among them Postmaster General Walter Brown, a political adviser to the President. What talking these wets have done, however, has been of an off-the-record variety.

The last statement that Secretary Hurley made anent prohibition was in the form of a sharp reply to John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee. Raskob had said that he understood on good authority that President Hoover was ready to espouse the wet cause. In reply, Hurley denounced Raskob for nominating himself as a spokesman for the President.

Hurley Attacks Democrats.

Raskob said that it was too late for President Hoover to become a convert to the wet cause; that if he did, the wets would give him no credit, and the drys would regard him as a Judas.

In the Chicago interview yesterday, Secretary Hurley said that the prohibition amendment and the Federal income tax were the "only two measures in the Constitution which interfere with State's rights."

"The Democratic party," he said, "put both of them there during the Wilson administration. Yet John Raskob calls those Republicans 'Judases' who come out against prohibition. It was a Democratic measure, sponsored by Senator Morris Sheppard, of Texas, an outstanding Democratic statesman. Yet the Democratic party claims a tradition of defending State's rights."

In predicting the reelection of President Hoover, Hurley said:

"Sure the Democrats are against him and many Republican leaders are secretly against him. So that leaves nobody for him but the great mass of American people. Consequently he'll be reelected."

Democratic Wet Plank Seen.

That the Democrats will adopt a wet plank in their platform is now taken for granted. Every man who has been seriously mentioned for the nomination is regarded as a wet. True, Speaker John N. Garner has not proclaimed his stand on the question, but politicians in general hold him to be wet.

And now Gov. George White, of Ohio, has joined the wet, or referendum, ranks. Two years ago, when he ran for the office he now holds, White carried the indorsement of the Antisaloon League.

In a speech yesterday before the Women's Christian Temperance Union, White startled the delegates by coming out for a referendum on prohibition.

White will go to the Democratic convention at Chicago as Ohio's favorite son candidate, and with the backing of Newton D. Baker, a much likelier dark horse.

Greatest Effect in East.

The Democrats expect that a wet plank will do them the most good in the East, and there are a lot of Republicans in that section who agree with them.

There are high-ranking Republicans in New Jersey, for example, who say that President Hoover wouldn't have a chance in their State if he ran as a dry. What is more, they say, he probably would drag a lot of other Republican office-seekers down with him.

The Democrats no longer are worried about the "dry South." The way that section has rallied to Franklin D. Roosevelt, a wet, was all that was needed to convince them that it was not Alfred E. Smith's wetness, but his religion, that caused Texas, North Carolina, Virginia and Florida to bolt in 1928.

Six Are Indicted In Prison Break

Alleged Outside Aid Held by Leavenworth Writ; Guard Also Named.

Wichita, Kans., March 17 (A.P.).—A bloody break by seven convicts at the Leavenworth Federal Prison last December today led to the indictment of four surviving prisoners, their alleged outside aid and C. A. Carlson, suspended guard.

Carlson, who previously was said by penitentiary officials to have had no connection with the actual break, was indicted for "introducing money into the prison."

Stanley Brown, Earl Thayer, Charles Berta and Tom Underwood, convicts recaptured after the break, were indicted for escaping and "assault with intent to kill T. B. White, former warden." He is recovering from serious wounds received at the hands of the prisoners who forced the officer to accompany them in their flight.

Harold Fontaine, former convict, now held for extradition at Montreal, Canada, was charged with assault with intent to kill Warden White, and with furnishing dynamite and firearms to the prisoners. He is alleged to have shipped explosives and guns into the penitentiary in a large barrel of shoe polish.

U. S. to Withhold Funds For Oklahoma Highways

Oklahoma City, March 17 (A.P.).—Sam Hawks, chairman of the Oklahoma Highway Commission, said he had been notified today that all Federal aid funds will be withheld from Oklahoma until the State commission matches the $2,000,000 Federal allotment and agrees to fill gaps in paved highways.

Hawks said he would not agree to the Federal requirements, but would continue his previously announced plans to build 283 miles of oil-gravel roads in western Oklahoma, using State and county money only for the purpose.

3 Nabbed in Plot To Extort Money

Chicago Police Trap Trio in Professor's Room After Demands.

Chicago, March 17 (A.P.).—Three men charged with having extorted $2,500 from Prof. Jerome G. Kerwin, of the political science department of the University of Chicago, were trapped today by detectives and arrested in his home when they allegedly attempted to obtain $5,000 more.

The men were Jack Grablick, alias Gleason, 28, Detroit; Edward Belson, 33, of Chicago, and John F. Murphy, 39, alias Walkin, Detroit.

Prof. Kerwin, nationally known educator, declared Grablick and Belson posed as State's attorney's detectives and Murphy as a newspaper reporter and threatened to publish false and damaging accusations against him. He paid them $600, he said, and then $1,900 more. Four detectives were in Prof. Kerwin's home today when the men arrived, ostensibly to collect another $5,000 which the professor said they had demanded.

Esthonian Match Man Found Dead

Associate of Kreuger Is Thought to Have Taken His Own Life.

Helsingfors, Finland, March 17 (A.P.).—M. Margus, director of the Esthonian match monopoly and associate of Ivar Kreuger, Swedish match king, who committed suicide in Paris, Saturday, was found dead yesterday at Reval, apparently a suicide, it was learned here today.

Margus formerly owned a match factory, which was taken over by the Kreuger & Toll concern when the Esthonian monopoly was formed.

Reval, Esthonia, March 17 (A.P.).—The Esthonian match monopoly today denied that its director, M. Margus, who was found dead apparently by his own hand yesterday, had received Kreuger shares in payment for his match factory.

ROOSEVELT LEADING IN DELEGATES RACE

(Copyright, 1932, by the Associated Press.)

Fargo, N. Dak., March 17 (A.P.).—Delegates pledged to President Hoover and Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt led the field on the Republican and Democratic tickets in tabulations tonight of returns cast in Tuesday's North Dakota primary. About one-third of the State's delegate returns have been tabulated.

For the 11 Republican delegate seats, 10 Hoover candidates and 1 uninstructed anti-Hoover candidate topped the list of 22 candidates. On the Democratic ballot, 9 Roosevelt-pledged Democrats and 1 pledged to Gov. William Murray of Oklahoma led the slate of 21 candidates for the 10 seats in the national convention.

Roosevelt Lead Grows.

The uninstructed candidates were placed in the field by Nonpartisan League leaders as an anti-Hoover slate with instructions to vote for a "Progressive."

Gov. Roosevelt, successful candidate for North Dakota's Democratic presidential preference vote cast in the primary, also increased his majority over Gov. Murray.

Of 1,958 precincts of the 2,335 in the State, the tabulation gave Roosevelt, 47,237, and Murray, 28,433.

J. I. France, former Maryland senator who won the Republican presidential preference contest, showed a gradual increase in later tabulations of the Associated Press election bureau. In 1,924 precincts he received 31,247 votes, while his opponent, Gen. Jacob S. Coxey, Mayor of Massillon, Ohio, had 21,668.

Republican Voting.

The highest Republican candidate for delegate had polled 23,652 from 817 precincts, while the other nine high Hoover men were separated by a gradual decline of votes down to 17,309 votes for the lowest Hoover delegate. The eleventh highest candidate, an anti-Hoover man, polled 16,158 votes.

The high man on the Democratic slate was a Roosevelt delegate with 16,265 votes received in 785 precincts. The next four also were Roosevelt delegates, followed by a Murray man. The remaining four of the ten highest candidates were Roosevelt men. The one Murray candidate among the leaders received 13,167 votes.

The lowest man among the high ten polled 11,964 votes.

Because the vote is scattered over so large a field, changes in the positions of some of the delegates are anticipated when more returns are available.

Capitol Moving Defeated.

William Stern, of Fargo, and Mrs. Selma Stenerson, of Minot, were elected Republican national committeeman and committeewoman. They were indorsed by a faction calling itself the "real" Republicans to distinguish from a unit controlled by the Nonpartisan League, whose incumbents, F. J. Graham, of Ellendale, and Mrs. Minnie D. Craig, of Esmond, were defeated.

H. H. Perry, of Ellendale, was elected Democratic national committeeman over J. Nelson Kelly, of Grand Forks, incumbent. Miss Nellie Dougherty, of Minot, was reelected national committeewoman unopposed.

Five State measures were defeated, including a proposal to move State headquarters from Bismarck to Jamestown, and another to increase the gasoline tax from 3 to 4 cents per gallon.

Roosevelt Is Assured Of Tennessee Backing

Nashville, Tenn., March 17 (A.P.).—Supporters of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination advised him today that he "will have the full delegation from Tennessee with no opposition."

That assurance was given in a telegram sent from State headquarters of the Roosevelt forces.

256,914 Given Jobs In Legion's Campaign

New York, March 17 (A.P.).—The quarter million mark was passed today in the united action for employment campaign of the American Legion, Association of National Advertisers, American Federation of Labor and Legion Auxiliary.

Eighty-one communities in 33 States reported 11,419 persons placed in wage earning positions to send the total for the month-old drive to 256,914. Minnesota alone contributed 6,154 of the total, thereby again going into the lead among all States, with a grand figure of 29,514.

Kenneth Harlan Freed On Rum Driving Charge

Los Angeles, March 17 (A.P.).—Kenneth Harlan, screen actor, was acquitted of a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated by a superior court jury today. The jury deliberated three hours.

The prosecution claimed the actor was too intoxicated to avoid striking a milk wagon with his automobile last January 2. Harlan testified he had not had a drink prior to the accident but took one later to steady his nerves.

Norris-LaGuardia Bill Differences Are Settled

(Associated Press.)

The last congressional step on the Norris-LaGuardia anti-injunction bill was reached yesterday with House acceptance of the report adjusting differences with the Senate over the legislation, next the Senate acts, and then it goes to the White House.

The report was revised Wednesday by the conferees to eliminate a provision taking from the courts authority to issue mandatory injunctions to compel the performance of an act.

Sousa's Estate Valued At More Than $20,000

Mineola, N. Y., March 17 (A.P.).—The will of John Philip Sousa, famous bandmaster, was filed today, leaving his entire estate to his widow and three children.

The estate was valued in the will at "more than $20,000." One-third goes to the widow. Sousa died March 6 at Reading, Pa.

Wrong House Is Razed By Wrecking Company

Norfolk, Va., March 17 (A.P.).—E. S. Hargrove today reported to police that a ten-room house belonging to the Hargrove estate had been stolen. Police, however, remembered seeing a wrecking crew at work on the building and investigation revealed the house had been torn down by mistake.

James McCoy, it was learned, had employed a wrecking company to remove his house. The Hargrove and McCoy houses both bore the number 1042, but the Hargrove house was on Forty-third street, while the McCoy residence was two blocks away on Forty-first street. The McCoy house is still standing.

PROGRESSIVES URGE G. O. P. WET PLANK

Madison, Wis., March 17 (A.P.).—The platform of the Progressive Republican national convention candidates, enlarged by new planks urging State liquor control and a varied program for meeting the depression, was announced today by Lieut. Gov. Henry A. Huber, campaign manager.

Pledging support to United States Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, for the presidential nomination, the document which the Progressives purpose to read on the floor of the convention in June carried these new recommendations which were not in previous delegate platforms:

Creation of an economic council by the National Government to stabilize industry; establishment of unemployment reserves and a system of employment exchanges, and a long time planning of public works.

An appropriation of $375,000,000 to States and local governments to meet unemployment relief burdens, such as Senator Robert M. La Follette proposed and Congress at this session defeated.

A $5,500,000,000 prosperity bond issue by the Federal Government, to be sold by popular subscription and applied to an increase in Federal public works and local aid to make work programs.

Amendment of the Federal Reserve act to insure that the credit facilities of the Federal Reserve System shall be used for the benefit of farmers, merchants, manufacturers, home builders and other constructive purposes.

Legislation to end monopoly control of credit and banking resources through chain or group banking and similar methods.

Amendment of the Volstead act to allow each State to define what shall be deemed intoxicating liquor within its borders. The present system of national prohibition, this plank said, "has given rise to an intolerable situation."

Young Democratic Clubs Name By-Laws Committe

Raleigh, N. C., March 17 (A.P.).—Tyre C. Taylor, of Raleigh, president of the newly organized Young Democratic Clubs of America, tonight announced the appointment of a committee to draft a constitution and by-laws for the organization.

The committee follows: Representative Wright Patman, of Texas, chairman; Miss Louise Falligant, of Washington, secretary; E. R. Murrow, of New York City; Justice Robert D. Leeper, of the Idaho Supreme Court; Thomas Elliott, of Harvard Law School, Cambridge, Mass.; Thomas F. Myers, of Buffalo, N. Y.; Asa Lee Mayes, of Oklahoma City; R. J. Reynolds, jr., of Atlanta, Ga., and Miss Blanche E. Lane, of Detroit.

Gov. Murray Qualifies For Primary in Florida

Tallahassee, Fla., March 17 (A.P.).—Gov. William Murray of Oklahoma today qualified with Secretary of State R. A. Gray as a candidate in the Florida State Democratic presidential preference primary June 7. Gov. Murray was the first presidential candidate to qualify.

He is scheduled to open his Florida campaign here next Wednesday. Other addresses will be made in seven Florida cities.

Senate Will Get Supply Bill Today

4 Departments Included in Measure; Vote Due on Airways Plan.

(Associated Press.)

Chairman Jones, of the Senate appropriations committee, expects to bring up today the annual supply bill for the State, Justice, Commerce and Labor Departments and to get a vote on a committee amendment adding $200,000 for extending the Northern transcontinental air route westward from St. Paul and Minneapolis.

The committee added the sum to the bill as passed by the House in response to the urging of congressional delegations from the Northwestern States. If the committee amendment is approved by the Senate, it must then obtain the approval of the House.

The route would be extended westward as far as the additional sum would permit, the appropriations committee leaving its selection to the Commerce Department.

Patrick and Roberts To Attend Convention

The Public Utilities Commission yesterday authorized its chairman, Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, and its special assistant corporation counsel, William A. Roberts, to attend the convention of liberals in public utility matters at New York.

Mr. Roberts will read a paper explaining his recent petition to the District Supreme Court to draft certain general standards for use in all public utility valuation cases.

Prominent Georgian Is Dead.

Atlanta, Ga., March 17 (A.P.).—Mrs. William Ambrose Wright, 77 years old, widow of the man who was for 50 years comptroller general of Georgia, died at her home here today of a heart attack.

HOARDING FURTHER DIMINISHES IN U. S.

Decrease of $22,000,000 in Circulation Held Due to Return to Banks.

(Associated Press.)

Continued success for President Hoover's antihoarding campaign with additional millions of dollars rolling back into use was indicated yesterday in the weekly statement of the Federal Reserve Board, showing a decrease of $22,000,000 in money in circulation.

The decrease, which made the total circulation in the country amount to $5,522,000,000 was accepted by officials as being at least in part due to hoarders returning their money to the banks. The continued decrease, however, left the total $960,000,000 greater than it was a year ago.

The drop in circulation during the week brought the total decrease since the Chief Executive inaugurated his campaign to call money from hiding places to $109,000,000. The week ended February 10 saw a decrease of $5,000,000 in circulation, the next two weeks saw a drop of $17,000,000 each, $9,000,000 for the week ending March 2 and $39,000,000 the following week.

At the same time another favorable factor during the past week was seen today in an increase of $12,000,000 in the monetary gold stock of the country, bringing the total to $4,374,000,000. The upward movement was started last week when the board reported an increase also of $12,000,000.

The board also reported the increase in brokers' loans, which went up $57,000,000 last week, was continued this week with an increase of $9,000,000, bringing the loans on securities by New York member banks to brokers and dealers to $561,000,000.

Stamp to Commemorate Arbor Day's Foundation

(Associated Press.)

The Postoffice Department will issue a new 2-cent stamp on April 22 to commemorate the 60th anniversary of the foundation of Arbor Day. The stamps will be placed on sale that day at Nebraska City, Nebr., as a reminder that the day was first instituted by J. Sterling Morton who lived at Nebraska City.

The stamp will be the same size as the regular 2-cent stamp and on each side will be two trees, the intertwining branches of which form an arbor. The center design shows a boy and girl planting a tree.

Group Cuts Farm Board Inquiry Fund in Half

(Associated Press.)

The Senate audit and control committee yesterday cut the $50,000 sought for an investigation of the Farm Board to $25,000 upon which it reported favorably.

The resolution directing the Senate agriculture committee to investigate Farm Board operations was submitted by Senator Norris (Republican), Nebraska, and has been approved by the agriculture committee.

Last of Monitor's Builders Dies.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 17 (A.P.). Benjamin Fletcher, 94, the last survivor of the men who built the ironclad Monitor, which battled the Merrimac in the Civil War, died here today. He had been president of the City Savings Bank for 26 years.

EXPEDITION PLANNED TO RESCUE FAWCETT

Swiss Hunter and Trapper to Lead Jungle Party; Story Doubted.

Sao Paulo, Brazil, March 17 (U.P.).—An expedition into the darkest jungle lands of Brazil to rescue Col. P. H. Fawcett, British explorer, who vanished seven years ago while seeking a lost civilization, was planned tonight by Stephan Rattin, a Swiss trapper and hunter, who arrived here two days ago with information believed to bear on the mystery of Fawcett's disappearance.

Rattin talked with a white-bearded Englishman in a native Indian village in Matto Grosso state, far from the outskirts of civilization, and was convinced that the man was Fawcett.

Now he plans to lead an expedition of four men into the jungles to rescue the British explorer, who, Rattin believes, is held captive by the Indians.

"The greatest difficulty after locating the tribal village would be in freeing Fawcett and escaping from the Indian country before being recaptured," Rattin told the United Press. "The only way Fawcett would be likely to escape would be by horseback. That would be difficult, because horses are rare in that territory and it is difficult to ride through the heavy undergrowth."

Trip Requested by Embassy.

Rattin said the British embassy at Rio de Janeiro had asked him to go to the capital. He is leaving tonight.

Rattin, who is 45 years old and has had 14 years' experience in the Brazilian jungles, told the United Press that he talked with the white man on two occasions.

The man was about 65 years old, bearded, tanned a dark brown by the sun, dressed in dried skins and obviously a captive of the cacique (headman) Machiameque of the Mercilegalos tribe. The man told Rattin that he was an Englishman and, later, said he was Fawcett, asking the trapper to inform the British consulate general at Sao Paulo of his plight.

British consulate officials here, having had frequent reports in recent years that Fawcett had been found, or that he was known to be dead, were uncertain whether any action would be taken to follow up Rattin's clew, but they considered his story the most convincing they have yet heard in connection with the disappearance of the explorer, his son, John, and a young Englishman, Raleigh Rimall.

Won Tribesmen's Confidence.

Rattin said he believed his own luck in escaping captivity in an Indian village was due to his ability to speak many dialects, which enabled him to win the confidence of the tribesmen.

Rio de Janeiro, March 17 (U.P.).—Gen. Candido Rondon, one of Brazil's greatest explorers, said tonight that he believed stories that Col. Fawcett is held captive by Indians in Matto Grosso State were merely "romancing."

"It will take more than the mere declaration of Rattin to make me believe Fawcett is alive," Gen. Rondon said, in reference to the story told by Stephan Rattin at Sao Paulo. "I have always contended that Fawcett was killed by Indians, who are very savage in that locality. Rattin's story is impossible."

Condemned Man Wins Reprieve by "Talking"

Ossining, N. Y., March 17 (A.P.).—A scant three hours before he was to have died in Sing Sing's electric chair tonight, Peter Sardini, 28, forsook the underworld's code of silence to win two weeks more of life.

He "talked" of a half dozen unsolved murders with such convincing words that three assistant district attorneys from New York flashed the word to Albany and a few minutes later Samuel N. Rosenman, Gov. Roosevelt's counsel, telephoned the order for a 14-day reprieve.

League Body Hits Tokyo Stand Based on Boycott

Geneva, March 17 (A.P.). — The League of Nations assembly's special committee charged with regulating the Sino-Japanese conflict made it clear today that Japan can not demand cessation of the anti-Japanese boycott as a prerequisite to evacuation of the Shanghai area.

After adopting this position the committee adjourned until important developments in the Far East may require another meeting.

Danish Minister Unhurt In Automobile Accident

Otto Wadsted, minister from Denmark, was shaken up yesterday and narrowly escaped serious injury when his automobile, operated by his chauffeur, ran into a street car loading platform on Connecticut avenue near S street.

Police say the loading platform was overturned when an automobile driven by Morrill Vilchey, 42 years old, of 1806 Corcoran street northwest, struck it.

Reapportionment Arguments Ended

Minnesota Controversy Is in Hands of Court for Decision.

(Associated Press.)

Reapportionment problems presented in the effort of Minnesota to redistrict the State approached nearer a solution when the State concluded its oral arguments yesterday and the controversy went into the hands of the Supreme Court for decision.

Attorney General Henry N. Benson and Assistant Attorney General William H. Gurnee stressed the contention of the State that its Supreme Court was correct in holding that under the State constitution the "legislature" referred to in the Federal Constitution was empowered to make reapportionments was composed of the House and Senate, to the exclusion of Gov. Olson, and that the reapportionment agreed to by the two Houses had the full effect of law and was binding, although the governor had vetoed it.

It developed during the State's presentation that some members of the court attached more importance to the construction which should be given the word "legislature" as used in the Federal Constitution.

Savants Hope to Reproduce Earth's Heat and Pressure

Project, to Cost $100,000 and Cover Five Years, Will Include Major Puzzles of Geology; Harvard Scientists Plan Research.

Cambridge, Mass., March 17 (A.P.).—Harvard University announced tonight a unique project to reproduce artificially the heat and immense pressures comparable to those in the depths of the earth.

More of the secrets of earthquakes is the first objective. The study will last five years, ultimately including the major puzzles of geology, how the earth is built, how its rich minerals were created and how mining engineers may locate them.

The Rockefeller Foundation is giving $50,000 and Harvard is to raise another $50,000. The first year's funds are already raised. The committee administering the work comprises Profs. R. A. Daly, geologist; P. W. Bridgman, physicist; L. C. Graton, engineer; Harlow Shapley, astronomer, and D. H. McLaughlin, geologist.

The start will be made with an apparatus which has squeezed water into five different solid forms and pressed air into a substance as dense as water.

The device was developed by Dr. Bridgman and in the new work he will be assisted by Dr. W. A. Zisman and A. F. Birch.

"At the start at least," the announcement states, "the research will be strictly confined to one group of problems—investigations and measurements of elastic and other properties of rocks, such as their thermal conductivity under high pressure—of fundamental value to seismology and to many related geologic problems."

Already tests have shown a decrease under pressure of the velocity of the "wave of shear," a typical vibration started by the rending action of earthquakes. These and other earth tremors are code messages from the depths. They are written almost continuously on the new, sensitive seismographs.

Toward their decoding the Harvard pressure apparatus will take a long step, by explaining peculiarities of the buried rock transmission lines carrying the messages.

BILL CUTTING FEDERAL PAY IS DUE IN HOUSE NEXT WEEK

amendment to the legislative appropriations bill.

No reference was made by House leaders yesterday to the attitude of the President on the proposal. At the White House, however, it was said that Mr. Hoover's position has not changed since he expressed opposition to a general slashing of Government pay. He has also said it might be found that salaries were high in certain instances, and these might be reduced.

The sudden decision of the leaders to sponsor pay-cut legislation is distinctly tied up with their difficulties in getting the House, especially the Democrats, to accept the strongly opposed manufacturers' sales tax.

McKellar Motion Adopted.

What will happen in the Senate remains to be seen. That body yesterday adopted the motion of Senator McKellar (Democrat), of Tennessee, and recommitted the annual Interior Department appropriations bill back to the appropriations committee with instructions to reduce its $54,000,000 total to $45,000,000, or 10 per cent below the $50,000,000 total as passed by the House. The vote was 40 to 25.

Just before that vote a motion by Senator Arthur Vandenberg (Republican), Michigan, to clothe the President with authority to reorganize the department was voted down, 28 to 35. Earlier, a motion to make the reorganization authority extend to the whole executive branch of the Government was lost on a point of order.

"The proposal of the Tennessee senator," Senator Vandenberg said in course of discussion, "is a stab in the dark and unscientific, but it is the sort of a major operation that will be necessary if we are to balance the budget."

Question Not in Discussions.

Although the question of pay cuts was not raised in the discussion yesterday, Senator McKellar the day before announced to newspaper reporters that the purpose of his 10 per cent reduction motion was not to slash salaries and he hoped that it would not be necessary.

Although Representative Rainey said he would vote to cut salaries, he told other members of the House they could do what they liked about the matter and he elaborated on the futility of salary cutting as a means of balancing the budget. Subsequently, in an address broadcast by radio over a Nation-wide hook-up he said much the same thing he had said on the House floor. His references to salaries was made in the course of a lengthy address justifying the tax measure reported by the ways and means committee and especially the sales tax. Turning to salaries, he said:

"The Illinois Manufacturers Association tells us to balance the budget by cutting our own salaries; and we've got to do it. That is coming. We have got to cut other salaries as well as our own. I have been advocating cutting the salaries of every Government employe who receives $5,000 a year and more than that, 10 per cent, clear up to the present time.

Advocated by Borah.

"Senator Borah adocated the same thing. I thought it must amount to something coming from that source, so I advocated it, too. I followed that leadership.

"Do you know how much of a cost saving that would make? I put the figures in the Record February 8. That would save $3,400,000 in a year. That is all. In other words, by cutting every salary 10 per cent from $5,000 up you would meet our budget deficit for one half a day of time. Cut it 20 per cent and you will meet it one day of time. So tremendous is this proposition.

"Now if you cut everybody's salary 10 per cent from the President's down to and including the laborer, who gets a few hundred dollars a year, do you know what the result will be? We will have met this present budget deficit for eight days of time, and that is all. So cutting salaries is not the way of meeting the deficit, yet a great many people think you could do it.

"Make it twice that cut and you can figure out how much that would be. You can not save this Government by cutting salaries.

Railroads Have Cut.

"But the railroads have set the example and the railroad employes have agreed to it. They have cut their salaries and we are going to have to cut everybody's salary in my judgment. I will vote to do it—you can make up your minds about it—from the very highest to the lowest, not because it will accomplish much in meeting this budget deficit; it will be negligible; but on account of the psychological effect upon the people of the United States in this period of stress and worry and care. They must be convinced we are doing our part, even if it does not amount to much, to relieve this awful situation."

Representative Byrns gave more importance to the proposed slash as a factor in balancing the budget, but he made no estimate of the total which might be saved the Treasury.

"The deficit," he said, "is growing and the budget must be balanced. Everyone must help to make the sacrifice. We had hoped the salary cut could be avoided, but it looks now like we shall have to adopt that along with our other reductions in order to aid in the effort to balance the budget.

"I think the action in the House last week in striking out the committee's provision against any salary increases or the filling of vacancies has renewed the widespread opinion that we must now face reductions in the interest of economy.

Will Get Early Vote.

"Of course, the House may overthrow us, but by putting the provision on the legislative appropriation bill we will be assured of an early vote in both Houses.

"Some of the members of the committee are talking about a flat 10 per cent cut. I do not agree with that. I believe members of Congress are better able to stand a large cut than are the little fellows who get $2,000 a year.

"I can live a lot better on $8,000 than they can live on $1,800. Of course, they talk about members of Congress having to keep up two establishments. I agree with all that, but I believe a small reduction is better for the little fellow and 20 per cent for congressmen and those above $10,000 a year. I would not be in favor of going as high as 5 per cent on small incomes."

HANGING OF POWERS IS SET FOR TONIGHT

Stay Denied by Governor, Slayer's Execution Seems Assured.

Moundsville, W. Va., March 17 (A.P.).—Harry F. Powers went to bed tonight on his death cell cot convinced that it is the last night's sleep he will ever have.

The pudgy man called "Bluebeard" because he slew the women he lured with love is sure that nothing can save him from a murderer's death on the gallows at the stroke of 9 tomorrow night.

Powers doesn't seem much interested in his approaching doom. He prefers not to talk about it and turns the conversation to other subjects.

He told newspapermen who visited him in the death cell that he has written a song. He didn't disclose its nature or its title. It is to be copyrighted, he said, and the proceeds from its sale are to go to his wife—or widow—Mrs. Luella Strother Powers, of Clarksburg.

Gallows Are Ready.

The machinery of the law is ready to proceed with the execution. Dr. W. D. McClung, superintendent of the Huntington State Hospital, has reported to the governor that Powers is "legally sane and amenable to the law." Warden A. C. Scroggins has the gallows ready for the drop of death.

As the execution hour nears, officials of Harrison County, where Powers was convicted of the murder of Mrs. Dorothy Pressler Lemke, Northboro, Mass., divorcee, left for Moundsville.

Sheriff W. B. Grimm said he expects to confer with Powers tomorrow morning but did not divulge the nature of his business.

Governor Denies Stay.

Attorney Law is taciturn. He gives noncommital answers to all questions and refuses even to say whether Mrs. Powers will claim her husband's body after life has been snuffed out by the State.

Powers will die for the murder of Mrs. Lemke. He was also indicted but not tried, for killing Mrs. Asta Buick Eicher and her three children, of Park Ridge, Ill. The bodies of the five were found buried in a sewer ditch near Powers' garage in Quiet Dell, a sylvan suburb of Clarksburg.

Charleston, W. Va., March 17 (A.P.).—A stay of execution was denied Harry F. Powers, Quiet Dell "blue beard" by Gov. Conley today. The governor said he had "carefully considered" the case and "not finding sufficient grounds to justify a stay the application is denied."

PLOT ON UNION HEADS IS LAID TO FIVE HERE

All except the woman gave their occupations as engineers.

Another Phone Call Received.

Police said that following the telephone calls to Langdon and Haury they started to work anew on their investigation of the various angles of the union case.

Last Monday, they said, Haury got another telephone call informing him that he would be shot when he left his offices that day. Police said he slipped out the back door of the Union Building, borrowed the janitor's automobile and escaped.

Then, according to the detectives, they got a real "break" in the case, and managed to trace activities of the plotters to a certain house, the location of which they refused to divulge.

Detective Sergts. A. D. Mansfield and Jerry Flaherty, working on the case, police said, managed to install a dictaphone in a room at this place. The house was kept under constant surveillance.

Plot Is Uncovered.

A police stenographer was kept on duty there, according to police, and last night the plot is said to have come to a head. With Sergt. Mansfield and the stenographer manning the dictaphone, and Sergt. Flaherty watching the place from across the street, the plot was uncovered.

They learned in this manner, according to police, that the attempt on Haury's life was to materialize last night when he left the executive meeting. If this plot was successful, it was planned to kill Langdon and Possehl later.

The plotters planned to steal an automobile and equip it with a set of Connecticut license plates. They were to drive this car beside Haury as he left the building and then shoot him down, according to police.

Arms Are Discovered.

The detectives said they found the Connecticut license plates and two pistols and a quantity of ammunition when they surrounded the house and then broke in.

Haury has always been a storm center of the troubled affairs of the union. Even before the union executives were fired at in the cafe last May, Haury had been the subject of several attacks.

Once he was horsewhipped by a woman in front of the union offices. This woman and her husband were later indicted on a charge of assault, but the charges were later nol prossed.

The horsewhipping grew out of accusations that Haury had kept the woman's husband out of work, police said at that time. This accusation was seen as the basis for the plots last night, according to police.

Favoritism Charged.

When a job offers, officials of the union, through the files, decide which members are next on the list to work.

After the job is completed the men who took part in it are then placed at the end of the list of eligibles. Members of the dissatisfied faction of the union contend that favoritism has been shown in calling members to work.

The financial affairs of the union have also been in the courts lately. Embezzlement of a large sum of the union's funds was charged to a former official, and this case is now pending.

Cuban Justice Protests Military.

Havana, Cuba, March 17 (A.P.).—Dr. Juan Gutierrez Quiros, justice of the supreme court of Cuba since 1925, has asked the department of justice for retirement. Although no reason was advanced, it was learned unofficially that the justice had protested against alleged encroachment of military courts on civil jurisdiction.

what he considers suitable employment."

Dr. Wolters was on a hunger strike in New Zealand during the World War as a protest against being interned with German nationals, while he professed allegiance to the English king. Three times he went on his starvation diet and was removed to a hospital, where he again took nourishment only to cease eating when he was returned to the camp.

Last September he was on a hunger strike for a week, but a newspaper reporter persuaded him to eat. In October just before he was a "guest for five weeks in Gallinger Hospital." he went on a 13-day strike and a social worker persuaded him to eat.

Dr. Wolters was asked by a reporter: "Have you any psychoses or mental abnormalities?""

"Well, every genius is abnormal," he replied.

"Do you consider yourself a genius?"

"No. I have just a normal intelligence, yet there are few scholars in this country who have the breadth of knowledge which I possess. All the intellectuals in this country are foreigners."

"I am going to bring my hunger strike to a crisis this time," he said, "and I will not eat until I get an acceptable job."

Pictures of Expedition Will Be Shown Tonight

Rare birds and unusual mammals and reptiles, collected by the National Geographic Society's Venezuela-Brazil Expedition, will be described and shown in motion pictures and slides to members of the society at the Washington Auditorium tonight by Ernest G. Holt, leader of the expedition.

The expedition accompanied the Brazil-Venezuela boundary commission into the South American forests and traversed regions showing little development since the famous Humboldt expedition in 1800. The large collection of birds made by the expedition was presented by the society to the National Museum.

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Stimson left Washington yesterday afternoon for New York to attend the funeral of John Culleton, who will be buried today at Huntingdon, Long Island. Culleton had been in charge of Secretary Stimson's farm, Highhold, at West Hills, Long Island, since 1903.

The Secretary will probably return to Washington Monday morning.

'Poor Rule That Works One Way'—In Insanity

Montgomery, Ala., March 17 (A.P.).—The Alabama Supreme Court considers it a poor rule that won't work both ways regarding Mrs. Ollie Kennedy's claims of her late husband's insanity.

Seeking to recover a tract of land he deeded to a friend, she charged the deed was invalid because Kennedy had been insane for more than three years before his death in 1931.

Records disclosed they had been married less than three years at his death. The court issued this ruling:

"If Kennedy were insane when he attempted to enter into a marriage contract with Ollie Kennedy, the marriage was a nullity, and Ollie Kennedy acquired no dower rights under it."

Young Democrats To Draft By-Laws

Patman Is Named to Head Committee to Draw Up Constitution.

Repersentative Wright Patman will head a committee to draft a constitution and by-laws for the national organization of the Young Democratic Clubs of America, it was announced yesterday by Tyre Taylor, president.

Other members of the committee are Miss Louise Falligant, E. R. Murrow, Justice Robert D. Leeper, of the Idaho Supreme Court; Thomas Eliot, Thomas F. Myers, Asa Lee Mayes, R. J. Reynolds and Miss Blanche E. Lane.

The purpose of the clubs, as recently defined at the meeting here, is to instill in the young people of the United States an interest in governmental affairs and further the ideals and principles of the Democratic party.

PACKERS AGAIN ASK RELAXING OF CURB

(Associated Press.)

Wending its weary way through the courts, the packers' consent decree, entered in 1920, and only partially enforced since, was back in the Supreme Court yesterday with the United States and the American National Grocers Associations urging it be made effective.

The packers replied that the District of Columbia Supreme Court, which originally entered the consent decree, was right in authorizing its modification to enable them to deal in other food products in addition to meat.

They declared such a change was necessary to meet conditions which they asserted have materially changed during the last twelve years. The original decree was entered against the Swift, Armour, Morris and Cudahy firms.

The Supreme Court, in a previous decision, held it valid, but before it could be put into force the packers asked its modification. They now declare there is no longer danger of their exercising a monopolistic control over food products, which had prompted the original decree.

Three members of the court left the bench when the case was taken up for argument, Chief Justice Hughes and Justice Sutherland, who, as former counsel, considered themselves disqualified from participating in the decision, and Justice Stone, who was disqualified because he had acted in the matter while Attorney General. Recognizing the importance of the issue, the court allowed four hours for oral argument, twice the length of time usually granted.

The oral argument was opened by John Lord O'Brian, of the Department of Justice. Counsel representing the two national grocers associations and the packers will be heard today, after which Mr. O'Brian will close.

Loan Agents in Paris Recalled by Greece

Athens, March 17 (A.P.).—The foreign and finance ministers were instructed by Premier Venizelos today to return from Paris Saturday irrespective of any action that may have been taken on the request by Greece for a loan.

It was explained that the premier wishes to bring about an immediate solution of the financial situation. Some political commentators asserted this solution might be a coalition government in which M. Venizelos would participate.

Huge Death Valley Cave Found by Photographer

Los Angeles, March 17 (A.P.).—Discovery of a huge cave in Death Valley was announced here today by A. W. Plummer, head of a group of news photographers who passed a month in the Death Valley region.

The great cave, said Plummer, is in the southern part of the valley. He said the entrance is through a circular opening 125 feet deep, and that the cave then veers off at an angle. Plummer announced his intention of returning to explore it thoroughly.

WAR DEBT REVISION.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, performs good public service when he expresses the opposition of Congress to a reopening of the war debt question with a view to revising the debts downward. The attitude of Congress on this subject is unmistakable, and it faithfully reflects the attitude of the people.

Ambassador Mellon will not be settled in the London Embassy before he will be constrained to listen to British importunities in regard to debt revision. The trend of British opinion indicates great confidence in the success of a movement to bring about British debt revision with Mr. Mellon's sympathetic assistance. Probably this confidence is based largely upon a statement made last December by Mr. Mellon while Secretary of the Treasury, in which he called attention to the increased number of depreciated pounds sterling that would be required to pay the gold obligations due the United States. He remarked that this and other unfavorable factors imposed "an enormously increased burden for the people of Great Britain."

This opinion is diametrically opposed to that of Senator Reed, who said yesterday in the Senate:

> Under the present arrangement Great Britain is receiving more from the continent than she is paying to us. It is beside the mark to discuss the burden on the British taxpayer because he does not contribute one cent to what is paid us.

Substantially the same language was used by Mr. Mellon in 1926 in reply to the plea of American bankers for revision of the debts.

The pressure upon Ambassador Mellon will be based, of course, upon the plea that Germany's creditors can not safely go forward until they know what the United States will do toward reducing their debts, and upon the further plea that Britain will find it extremely difficult to meet the debt obligations, payable in gold, with depreciated pounds sterling. But it is absurd to suppose that the United States would scale down the British debt to keep pace with the scaled-down value of the pound. It is almost equally absurd to assume that Ambassador Mellon would bargain beforehand with Germany's creditors, pledging them a reduction of their debts to America if they will reduce German reparations. President Hoover made it very clear to Premier Laval that the European governments must settle the reparations question in their own way, as a matter concerning themselves only. The first effort to reach a reparations agreement having failed, another conference is to be held at Lausanne in June.

Congress has given warning that the war debts will not be reduced. Opposition to any further concessions was so strong when the Hoover moratorium was ratified that it would be futile for the administration to negotiate any sort of debt-reducing agreement with European governments. While this Government faces an enormous deficit and drastic new taxes are being enacted, and when the public is reminded of its losses in European bonds, the people may be expected to remain unalterably opposed to the assumption of any part of Europe's debt burden.

If Great Britain or the other debtor nations are unable to pay their next installments to the United States, some arrangements may have to be made for a partial deferment. But it is by no means certain that Britain is unable to pay. The financial position of England has shown remarkable improvement in recent weeks. British authorities may find that their country would be hurt less by payment of the debt than by the impairment of credit and prestige that would follow an appeal for a moratorium.

A SHIELD FOR BUREAUCRACY.

A new drive for reduction of Government salaries is announced by Democratic leaders of the House. Chairman Byrnes, of the appropriations committee, will introduce a bill to slash all salaries, including those of congressmen.

This is a strange decision in view of the fact that the House eliminated a ban against salary increases from an appropriation bill last week. Apparently the threat of salary cuts is to be used as a club or a cloak in the interests of some other measure. In some quarters it is interpreted as an alternative to the sales tax, but that is highly improbable since the House expects to have the tax measure out of the way before the salary cut can be considered. Moreover, opposition to the sales tax has broken down, because there is no less objectionable measure that would raise enough revenue to balance the budget.

It is more logical to suppose that the move to slash Government salaries is an alternative to the economy plan of House leaders. President Hoover was denied authority to reorganize the Government service in the interests of efficiency and economy, and House leaders pretended to undertake the job themselves. An economy committee was appointed and instructed to bring in a report by April 15. A few days ago the life of the committee was extended until the end of the session, and it may bring in reports or bills for consideration at any time. This means, of course, only haphazard attacks on bureaucracy, with probably no action at all. Congress has repeatedly failed to trim the dead branches off the Federal service, even when comprehensive plans of reorganization have been presented. This attempt to nibble at the problem throughout the session is foredoomed to failure.

But extensive economies must be effected to balance the budget. Even the sales tax with all its companion levies will not raise sufficient revenue unless expenses are substantially reduced. Do the House leaders propose to slash the salaries of Government clerks and leave the Federal service fettered by bureaucracy? That would be much easier than a reorganization of disjointed bureaus and commissions. The move to slash salaries looks like an attempt to penalize faithful Government workers for the inefficiency and political cowardice of Congress.

PINCHOT PAUPERISM.

Once more Pennsylvania is represented by its governor as the only pauper State in the Union. Thirty-nine States have informed Senator Bingham that they are looking after their own people in this distressing period, and that no one is starving. Only Gov. Pinchot wails, "We know starvation is widespread, but no one has enumerated the starving."

The Legislature of Pennsylvania appropriated $9,000,000 for relief work in addition to the funds raised by private agencies, municipal and county governments. Gov. Pinchot, the champion of the unemployed, fought the relief measure in the Legislature and in the courts. Nevertheless, it became effective. There is no reason to believe that suffering and destitution are any more widespread in Pennsylvania than in other parts of the country. Pennsylvania is pictured as the one pauper State in the Union because it is the policy of Gov. Pinchot to plead "starvation" in the hope of winning popular approval as a champion of the people in contrast with the brutal and heartless Hoover.

It is significant that the replies read to the Senate by Mr. Bingham were received from both Democratic and Republican governors. The Democratic executives are not anxious to make political capital out of the distress of their States. Even those States that are anxious to receive a handout for road building do not stoop to misrepresent conditions. Replies from 40 States indicate that the number of unemployed throughout the country is 6,000,000, rather than 10,000,000 as some of the calamity howlers contend. But Gov. Pinchot does not scruple to exaggerate and is willing to defame his own State in his attempt to play politics with the depression.

In collecting and tabulating this data from the various State capitals Senator Bingham has performed a valuable service. His poll of governors emphasizes the gross unfairness of the proposed appropriation for the building of State roads. The densely populated Eastern States, where unemployment is most acute, would be called upon to furnish money through taxation to finance highways in the sparsely settled Western States. In view of this defect in the bill it is difficult to understand how it passed through the House of Representatives.

Furthermore, this poll gives assurance that each section of the country is taking care of its own unemployed; that the distress existing in many sections has been exaggerated, and that there is no excuse for Federal charity. This is encouraging news. The people are facing these hard times courageously, with a determination to pull together, to help the destitute and to adjust themselves to the changing economic conditions. This attitude stands out in sharp contrast to the plaintive wails that issue from the executive mansion at Harrisburg.

STREETS AS BUS TERMINALS.

Washington needs a union station for bus lines just as it required a union station for railroads. The Public Utilities Commission recently has brought the problem within speaking distance of solution. The bus companies have yet to get together on the subject, but that they will do so is the almost inevitable result of the commission's insistence that the companies can no longer use the crowded public thoroughfares of the city as bus terminals.

The commission notified all the interests concerned as long ago as last August that new arrangements would have to be made. Two companies agreed to find quarters outside the congested downtown section; nineteen other companies did nothing whatever about the order. But the commission was not to be balked; it summoned all the offenders and gave them point-blank instructions to get off the streets by April 1. The bus companies have discovered that the order meant business. There will be no long court battle in the circumstances. The matter is settled.

Washington was laid out in days when automobile traffic was unknown. The streets of the city are subject to but little enlargement. Traffic must move. Anything that interferes with the constant flow of traffic must be eliminated. Big vehicles of the bus type, using the streets for terminals, are a public nuisance and danger. Granted that bus companies are entitled to consideration as public service enterprises, there is no more reason why they can not cooperate to establish terminals than there was in the case of the railroads. It will be an additional accommodation for the traveling public when such a union station for bus lines is built.

The Public Utilities Commission is to be congratulated, and so are the bus companies. But, above all, the public, both motorists and pedestrians, who perforce must use the city streets, are to be felicitated.

Professional opponents of prohibition who argue that there can be no revival of business until the eighteenth amendment is repealed probably do not believe that there was any such thing as prosperity as recently as 1929.

The wets may arouse enthusiasm over 2.75 per cent beer on Capitol Hill, but do they expect the topers of preprohibition days to welcome them home with open arms?

The drys, who fought sixty years before they secured prohibition, are mighty stingy when they refuse to applaud the optimism of the wets.

Roosevelt's victory in North Dakota may cause his friends in the rest of the country to scrutinize his qualifications a little closer.

PHILIPPINE BUDGET

By VICENTE VILLAMIN.

The budget of the Philippine government is an epic in figures. It tells truly what America is trying to accomplish in the islands and what the Filipinos are achieving under the American flag.

Not a dollar in that budget is spent for warlike preparations. America assumes exclusively the responsibility for national defense. Thus relieved of armament expenditures, the Philippine government devotes one-third of the total income to public education. The horizontal diffusion of elementary education is the major concern of that government.

It is symbolic of America's noble intentions that Gen. Arthur McArthur particularly, undertaking the pacification of the Philippines more than 30 years ago, before the establishment of civil government, gave perhaps as much attention to the opening of schools and other civil institutions as to purely military affairs.

Not a dollar of Filipino money is sent to the United States Treasury in tax or tribute. The entire income is spent for the Filipino people. The Philippine government is self-supporting. There is a generous item in the budget for expenses incident to the submission of petitions to the United States Congress. This is further to guarantee to the Filipino people the ancient right of remonstrance.

There are no obligations contracted as a result of past wars. There are no appropriations for war veterans to speak of. The pension list is for school teachers and other civil government employes. About 98 per cent of the government personnel are Filipinos. The Americans in the service are mostly teachers and specialists under contract.

There are no expenses for diplomatic or consular service. What the Philippines have is an expensive governmental set-up. Legislation costs more than the work of revenue collection. So does executive direction and control. The Filipino legislator gets nearly three times more pay than the highest paid State legislator in the Union. The American chief executive's salary is larger than that of the Vice President of the United States. Around two-fifths of total expenditures go to salaries and wages.

The estimated income for the current fiscal year is $35,000,000. Computed on a population of 13,000,000, this amount is less than $3 per capita contribution, which, in turn, is roughly 10 per cent of the per capita income of the Filipino people. This percentage marks the approximate demarcation line between taxation and confiscation.

The bulk of government income comes directly or indirectly from transactions and services connected with the foreign commerce of the country. Over 70 per cent of this commerce is done with the United States. It is unanimously conceded that the abolition of the Philippine-American free trade will bring havoc upon the Philippine government budget. This is arithmetic, not politics.

The relatively strong financial position of the Philippine government is due to the support given by the United States. The pertinent query is: Can that position be maintained once the support is withdrawn? The answer may well be a comprehensive plan to develop the resources of the Philippines, increase the wealth of the Filipino people, enhance their tax-paying capacity and bring about ultimately the economic independence of the Philippines from the American tariff system.

To the Filipino who loves his country in terms of her welfare the reading of the Philippine budget on the one hand and the United States tariff act on the other is provocative of thoughts that his country with its varied natural resources can be rich, can be great and can be independent. The fortuitous association with America is not only an interlude of peace and progress but also a golden opportunity for the Filipino people.

DO NOT MIX.

In Berlin, says the Christian Science Monitor, all applicants for automobile driving licenses are given a police card with the following warning:

"The smallest quantities of alcohol (beer, wine, spirits, &c.) are injurious to the motor driver. It is a widespread error that small quantities have no deleterious effect. On the contrary, they cause at first an increase of self-confidence, followed by premature fatigue, and thus weaken one's capacity for swift discrimination and reaction in the presence of danger."

Will You Starve an Infant Because It Can't Digest Meat?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE charge against critics is that they are not constructive. Their motive is identical with the motive that inspires other reformers. They observe that many things are rotten and are filled with an urge to remake the world. They get nowhere for the simple reason that you can't cross a river by cussing the boat. And if it is a rowboat, you can't make it function by wishing for an engine.

The man who would remake the world has at hand certain tools. The tools are people. They are imperfect tools. Most of them are dull.

If he is an impatient man, with fixed ideas concerning the virtues that tools should possess, he will jump up and down and howl for better equipment. The net result will be an increased strain on his artery walls. The tools will be no sharper and the work will not get forward.

The great reformers of the past got little honor in their day because they were too far ahead. It is a fine thing to envision perfection and establish an ideal for future generations, but the man who would get present results must begin where the people are and devote his energies to promoting the next step forward.

If the people are imperfect and incapable of seeing all that the reformer sees, then he must reveal to them only the little that their present imperfection can comprehend. No man is foolish enough to thrust geometry upon an infant. The infant has first the task of comprehending that two and two are four.

Low-brow literature may offend the critics, but if the low-brows did not have it they would have no literature at all. Simple melodies may bore the critics, but they are food for millions whose souls would go hungry in a world containing great music only.

If a civilization can comprehend the ideas advanced by Pollyanna, and can reach no further, is it good sportsmanship or good sense to scold it because it doesn't know what Einstein is talking about? Does one spank a child because it is guilty of being small?

PRO AND CON

Murray Raps Oil Tax.

Oklahoma Oklahoman.

Opposition to a trade of votes by Oklahoma congressmen to support a sales tax provision of the revenue bill in exchange for adoption of an oil tariff was expressed by Gov. Murray in a telegram to Tom D. McKeown, representative. Gov. Murray said:

"A 42-cent tariff on oil would merely raise revenue and not aid the independent oil producer, for the amount is not equal to the difference between the cost at home and abroad.

"The information in your telegram which compels you to vote for sales tax or lose the oil tax certainly places you in embarrassing dilemma. The benefits of the oil tariff would aid partially, but not fully, the oil man and yield the State a larger revenue, but at the same time increase the cost of living on every citizen of the State.

"As I see it, there would be a balance between evil and good for the Oklahoma taxpayer, but a hardship on the poor classes and a tremendous burden upon all the American people which would be resented."

Smith Wants Nomination.

Boston Transcript.

We never have doubted, since his first announcement on the subject, that Alfred E. Smith is an eager and earnest candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. Mayor Curley very cleverly has tried to impress that he is not, and his use of this argument before the New Hampshire primaries no doubt was not without effect. However, the mayor, inadvertently or not, has smoked out the former governor on this question, and while the revelation may be disquieting to the mayor, in stiffening the Smith lines in Massachusetts and practically rendering negligible all efforts at compromise, it presents the advantage of clarifying the issue in this State.

Patriotic Duty.

New York Herald Tribune.

We hope the whole country will make it plain to Congress, in forthright language, that the passage of the sales tax in the next few days is an act of urgent and fundamental importance.

Nobody expects the impossible of representatives and senators. Politics can not be forgotten in a presidential year, or any year. But, thanks to the spirit of cooperation between Speaker Garner and the administration in matters of real emergency, an admirable record has thus far been written by Congress. What needs most urgently to be impressed on the Capitol is the fact that the passage of the sales tax not only belongs on this list of emergency legislation but is, in truth, the basis upon which all the other measures of necessity rest.

Primary Works Evil.

Portland Press-Herald.

The direct primary was adopted to reform politics. It has only added to the evils. Instead of nominating the best men, it permits freedom to personal ambition, allowing individuals, regardless of qualifications, to nominate themselves. It makes candidacy expensive, encourages demoralizing campaigns in which personalities are more important than the welfare of the people. Political machines are given opportunity to nominate their favorites. The system has, without a doubt, been responsible for a list of nominees inferior to that of the convention.

In Full Accord.

Louisville Herald-Post.

The former governor of New York said emphatically that he is "not a candidate." New Hampshire seems to agree with him.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The controversy as to where the jurisdiction of the United States ceases on the Virginia side of the Potomac River—whether it ehbraces high water, low water, or filled-in areas—is perfectly foolish. This controversy arises from the fact that back in 1846 Virginia played the role of "Indian giver," and took back its voluntary gift of a portion of the District of Columbia, all because the City of Alexandria became peeved over the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal situation.

Notwithstanding the act of retrocession, the jurisdiction of the United States on the south side of the Potomac remains where it was originally—a line from Jones Point Light House to the vicinity of Falls Church, and thence to the Potomac River, a few rods above the Chain Bridge. If any one doubts this assertion, let us suppose that a Maryland Legislature should in the near future play the part of "Indian giver," and attempt to annex what is left of the original District of Columbia. It is inconceivable that Congress would approve of such proceedings, or that any court would hold such an act valid. FRANK B. CONGER.

Democrat Applauds President for Rewarding Judge Wilkerson — Force Must Be Used Against Force.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: When you said "they (the people) will not patiently witness the crucifixion of their faithful defenders"—this in the matter of the hold up of the confirmation of Judge Wilkinson as a judge of a higher court in recognition of his fearless services to defeat the rampant wave of crime existing in this country at present in the vulgar parlance of the street "you said a mouthful."

One hates to advise resorts to unlawfulness to meet the same, although I have never heard of any one condemning that noble army who made San Francisco a place where one "could live and move and have his being" in its early days, and the people, as above, may have to emblazon upon their standards the homeopathic theory, Similia similibus curantur." God bless the President, and this from a Democrat. W. D. BEALL.

Veteran Asks a Pertinent Question Regarding Bonus in 1945.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: As a subscriber to your paper, I have great respect for your opinion and what is encouraged through the columns of your paper. Regardless of where you stand on the so-called "soldiers' bonus issue," I think there is one question that should be answered by all concerned, and that is: What will the World War veterans receive in 1945 after having borrowed to the limit on their certificates? Consider the interest, please.

If you or any senator or representative can satisfactorily answer this question, then personally I don't want the so-called "bonus." I'm positive you are impartial and brave enough to permit this question through your columns.

Reader Approves Editorial Urging Judge Wilkerson's Confirmation.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Please accept this modest little "nosegay" in appreciation of your leading editorial, "Judge Wilkerson," in The Post of this date.

I wish that every man, woman and youth in the United States could read this editorial and grasp the truth of it. The American people must realize the strangle-hold that the criminal element has upon this country.

I do trust you will continue to put the truth before us. M. M. M.

SUNDAY TASK.

There are various tasks which a man must do
Besides earning his weekly pay.
He's a poor old stick if when that is through
He thinks he has closed his day.
For a father must whistle and sing and run,
Must whittle and carve and mend
And wear out himself in the name of fun
To the long day's uttermost end.
And one of the jobs which all dads must do
Is to read all the funny pages through,
Is the Sabbath a definite day of rest?
Well, not for a doting dad.
For he must do what his babes like best
If their childhood shall be glad.
And it's ten to one that his brood will creep
To his bed at break of day
And startle him out of his slumbers deep
With their glad commands to play.
Then the first gay sight that his vision meets
Is the sunrise pink of the funny sheets.

I read them first while I'm still in bed,
And next when my breakfast's done,
Again they'll order those "funnies" read
In the light of the noonday sun.
I read them aloud until I'm faint and weak
And I read until my eyes grow blurred,
I read till I scarcely have voice to speak
To the uttermost, final word.
I read till my temples and pulses throb,
For those "funnies" are part of my Sunday job.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Hoover Has Party at Last National Symphony Concert; Congressional Club to Entertain Speaker and Wife.

MRS. HOOVER OCCUPIED the presidential box in Constitution Hall yesterday afternoon for the last concert this season of the new National Symphony Orchestra, Hans Kindler conductor. Mrs. Hoover's guests were Mrs. William N. Doak, wife of the Secretary of Labor; Mrs. James G. Rogers, wife of the Assistant Secretary of State; Mrs. Robert Lockwood Lipmann, who was before her marriage Miss Ruth Fesler, for some years secretary to Mrs. Hoover, and Mrs. Stark McMullin.

Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, sister of the Vice President, returned yesterday from Providence, where she was the guest overnight of the Vice President's daughter, Mrs. Webster Knight 2d. Mrs. Knight entertained a company at dinner in honor of her aunt on Wednesday night, after having accompanied Mrs. Gann to Boston, where the latter made an address on Tuesday.

Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley, wife of the Secretary of War, left last evening for Florida, where she will spend ten days at Epping Forest, near Jacksonville, as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred du Pont. The Secretary will return today from Chicago, where he flew on Wednesday.

The Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Hyde will be the ranking guests at a dinner tonight at Stoneleigh Court, given to celebrate the birthday anniversary of Bishop John William Hamilton by his daughter, Mrs. Geoffrey Wardle Stafford, of Rock Island, Ill., who has come to make him a spring visit.

Mrs. Hyde was the guest of honor at a luncheon yesterday at the Shoreham, with Mrs. Charles H. March as hostess. The company included, besides Mrs. Hyde, Mrs. Arthur H. Vandenberg, Mrs. James J. Davis, Mrs. Ernest Lee Jahncke, Mrs. James Good, Mrs. William Kearney Carr, Mrs. William L. Crounse, Mrs. William Fitch Kelley, Mrs. Carl Lomen, Mrs. Lucy Wilder Morris, Mrs. Martin Morrison, Mrs. Arthur Savage, Mrs. George C. Thorpe, Mrs. Charles Wright and Mrs. Mark Reid Yates.

The Italian Ambassador and Donna Antonietta de Martino were the guests in whose honor the Swiss Minister and Mme. Peter entertained at dinner last evening. There were sixteen guests.

Mme. Bostrom, wife of the Swedish Minister, will receive this afternoon in the legation on R street.

The Norwegian Minister and Mme. Bachke entertained at dinner last evening in the legation when there were 26 guests.

Club Will Entertain Speaker and Mrs. Garner.

The Speaker of the House of Representatives and Mrs. John N. Garner will be the guests of honor at a reception for which the Congressional Club has issued invitations for Wednesday evening, April 6, at 9 o'clock, in its clubhouse, at 2001 New Hampshire avenue. This is an annual function for the Congressional Club, the last of the three large evening receptions planned each season for the President, Vice President and Speaker.

Senator and Mrs. Robert D. Carey, of Wyoming, will have with them for the Easter holidays, their son, Joseph M. Carey 3d, who will arrive from Andover next Thursday. Senator and Mrs. Carey are now residing at 1752 Massachusetts avenue.

Representative and Mrs. James S. Parker have had as their guests for several days Mrs. Harrison Eustis and Mrs. Harrison Wood, of Philadelphia, who have left for Palm Beach. Mrs. Eustis will return to Washington in April for another visit.

Representative and Mrs. Joseph L. Smith, who make their home at the Shoreham, entertained at the dinner dance there last night, their guests including Representative and Mrs. Carl G. Bachmann, Representative and Mrs. Frank L. Bowman, Representative and Mrs. Hugh I. Shott, Representative and Mrs. Robert L. Hogg, Representative and Mrs. Lynn S. Hornor and Representative and Mrs. Howard W. Smith.

Representative Frederick C. Loofbourow and his daughter, Miss Huntington Loofbourow, entertained at the dinner dance at the Shoreham last night in honor of Representative Loofbourow's sister, Mrs. W. H. Murgittroyd, of Spokane, Wash., and Mr. and Mrs. Gilman T. Bullard.

Mrs. John Motley Morehead, wife of the United States Minister to Sweden, entertained at luncheon yesterday in honor of Countess Herman Wrangel, who will leave Stockholm shortly for France.

Mr. Alfred R. Thomson, American Consul at Manchester, England, will arrive in Washington next week to spend the Easter holidays with his mother, Mrs. Lewis B. Thompson, 1821 Newton street northwest.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomson gave a Bicentennial celebration in Manchester February 22, with about 200 distinguished guests present.

Mr. and Mrs. Davison Guests of Foulois' Dinner.

The Assistant Secretary of War for Aviation and Mrs. F. Trubee Davison were the guests of honor at a dinner given last evening by Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Benjamin D. Foulois, who entertained at the Army and Navy Country Club.

Mme. Abdullah Entezam has arrived in Washington from Warsaw, Poland, and is the guest of her mother, Mrs. Charles Hume, at her residence in Twentieth street. Mme. Entezam has with her her young daughter. Mr. Entezam is now in Warsaw, where he is attached to the staff of the Persian Legation.

The Congressional Club, 2001 New Hampshire avenue, will follow its usual custom of canceling all activities during Holy Week. Complying with numerous requests, the club will hold another formal luncheon on Thursday, March 31, at 1 o'clock.

Sri Deva Ram Sukul, of Benares, India, one of the outstanding scholars of his country, will lecture on Vedic philosophy in the Fairfax room of the Willard on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at 8 p. m. This series of lectures is sponsored by the India Society. The speaker is a friend of Mahatma Gandhi and has an exceedingly broad knowledge of the culture of India—both ancient and modern.

Miss Sue Randall to Wed T. D. Lee Tomorrow.

The marriage of Miss Sue Davis Randall to Mr. Thomas Davis Lee takes place tomorrow afternoon in New York. The engagement of Miss Randall and Mr. Lee was announced in Washington Wednesday by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Judson Randall, of New York. The ceremony will be performed in the chantry of Grace Church, the Rev. Dr. Russell Bowie officiating, and a reception will follow in the home of the bride's parents on East Thirty-fifth street.

Miss Randall's attendant will be little Lee Johnston, niece of Mr. Lee, and Mr. Thomas Griffin will be best man. The ushers will include Mr. Arthur Lee and Mr. Henry Davis Lee, brothers of the bridegroom; Mr. David Judson Randall, jr., and Mr. William Phipps North.

Mr. Lee, who is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lee, of Washington, and his bride, will go to Honolulu on their wedding trip and after May 1 will be at home in Elkins, W. Va., where Mr. Lee's parents and grandparents have maintained homes.

Indoor Horse Show Set for Tonight.

As a climax to the indoor horse shows of the Riding and Hunt Club a District night horse show will be held at the Riding and Hunt Club tonight at 8 o'clock. Col. George, of Fort Myer, and Mr. Louis Leith, of Middleburg, Va., have been invited to judge.

Among those who have donated cups for the seven different classes are Mrs. William Jeffries Chewning and Fearson & Crain. Mrs. Chewning gave one cup for the hunters class and one for the Corinthian.

Entries have come in from the Shoreham Saddle Club, the Preece Riding Academy and from nearby Virginia and Maryland.

The Hunt Club will be represented by Maj. William Grimes, Maj. Harry Leonard, Col. and Mrs. M. Robert Guggenheim, Mrs. Burdette Wright, Mrs. F. M. Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. William Hill, Percy Niepold, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carrico, Miss Evelyn Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Marbury Stamp, George Plummer, Roland Dawson, Elizabeth Jackson, Chester A. Gwinn and daughter, Helen; J. J. Cotter and daughter, Margret; Miss Elizabeth Martin, Mrs. Michael Calnan.

The Washington hunting season closes with the hunters' trials tomorrow at the Capital Horse Show Grounds at Bradley Farms, starting at 1 p. m., following luncheon which will be served in teahouse there.

Those who have hunted with the Riding and Hunt Club will participate, among them being Maj. William M. Grimes, M. F. H.; Chester A. Gwinn and Percy Niepold, honorary whippers-in; C. H. Carrico, huntsman. Others to take part will be Mrs. Robert M. Guggenheim, Mr. and Mrs. William Hill, Mrs. Michael Calnan, Misses Frances and Margaret Cox, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hanson, Miss Helen Gwinn, Mr. J. J. Cotter and daughter, Margaret; Mrs. F. M. Andrews, Roland Dawson, Mrs. Charles Carrico, Mr. and Mrs. Marbury Stamp, Mr. and Mrs. Riddick and Mrs. Burdette Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. Logan Payne, of California, who have been visiting in Washington for the past week, left yesterday afternoon for Chicago.

Mrs. Minnie H. Pilling has as her guests her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Dunham, of Cedarhurst, Long Island, who are on their way from Ormond Beach, Fla. Their daughter, Miss Anegla Dunham, will come tomorrow from Miss Walker's School in Simsbury, Conn., to pass a short time with her grandmother and parents. Mr. Dunham will leave Washington Sunday evening and Mrs. Dunham and her daughter will remain a few days longer.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Mathews Dick will return on April 3 from Cuba. They sailed yesterday after spending a day or two in New York.

Sidwells' Friends School To Have Bicentennial Tea.

The city primary department of Sidwells' Friends School will have a Bicentennial exhibition and tea from 3 to 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, at 1819 I street. Mrs. Geoffrey Knight, Mrs. Alexander S. Wotherspoon, Mrs. J. Bernard Wyckoff and Mrs. Edward C. Wynne will assist at the tea table.

Hostesses for the Kenmore tea, in the Kenmore Kitchen, Fredericksburg, Va., tomorrow, will be Miss Vivian Daniel, Mrs. George Hamilton Scott, Miss Lucy Taliaferro and Miss Nettie Taliaferro.

The old colored mammy, with red bandana, making ashcakes in Betty Washington's own big fireplace, makes a colorful atmosphere, and many come to these teas from a distance, not only to ejoy Mary Washington's gingerbread and a hot cup of tea, but to see the lovely furniture from the Metropolitan Museum, the beautiful grounds and the many things connected with the Washingtons in this Bicentennial year.

Maj. Gen. and Mrs. B. L. Foulois will receive Sunday for the last time this season.

Mme. Ossip Gabrilowitsch was entertained at a studio supper Tuesday by Mr. and Mrs. August King-Smith at 1751 New Hampshire avenue, after her lecture on her father, the late Mark Twain, given at the Community Center.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason McGuire, of Philadelphia, are in Washington over the week-end, at Wardman Park.

Miss Elizabeth Oakes Bride of Dan T. Moore, Jr.

Cards have been issued announcing the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Oakes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert King Oakes, of Cleveland, to Mr. Dan Tyler Moore, jr., which took place in Tucson, Arize., on March 12. Mr. and Mrs. Oakes, parents of the bride, have been spending the winter months in Tucson. Mr. Moore is a grandson of Mrs. Alban B. Butler, of Washington. He will take his bride to New York, where he is in business. They will come to Washington, however, for a brief visit before going to New York.

Mrs. Butler, with her granddaughter, Miss Francesca Butler Moore, sailed yesterday from Europe for this country and will arrive in New York on March 25. She has been abroad for over a year.

Mrs. Augustus C. Downing, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Hugo Osterhaus, has gone to New York for a brief visit. She will return to Washington before Easter.

Mrs. A. Stedman Hills entertained at luncheon and bridge in the crystal room of the Willard yesterday, having as guests Mrs. Barnum Colton, Mrs. Margarite Brown, Mrs. P. E. Overman, Mrs. Jerome Gundershimer, Mrs. Milton Schwab, Mrs. James E. Schwab, Mrs. Lansing Valk, Mrs. E. Irving Fulton, Mrs. Stacy M. Reed, Miss Louise Phillips and Miss Mayme Parker.

Mrs. Harold Hoff entertained at luncheon and bridge at the Shoreham yesterday, her guests including Mrs. Irving Abrams, Mrs. A. Atla, Mrs. Bernard Belmore, Mrs. William Berman, Mrs. Samuel Cohen, Mrs. Irvin Cohen, Mrs. Samuel Horowitz, Mrs. H. Johnson, Mrs. Elliot Klawans, Mrs. Simon Krupsaw and Mrs. Samuel Sugar.

Mrs. Paul Bastedo has with her her son, Mr. Thomas F. Griffin, who has come east from Tucson, Ariz., where he and Mrs. Griffin have been spending the winter months. Mrs. Griffin was formerly Miss Beatriz Sandoval.

The Art and Archeology League of Washington will hold a meeting at the Washington Club on Wednesday evening, March 23, at 9 o'clock. Professor Benjamin March, curator of Asiatic art, Detroit Institute of Art, will be the guest of honor, and will deliver an illustrated lecture on the arts of the Far East.

Culbertson on Bridge

STRATEGY IN BIDDING.

THERE is no question but that ordinarily the best results are attained at the Bridge table by the use of the Approach principle of both Opening and Responding Hands in reaching the final contract, whether that final contract is for part-score, game or slam. Occasionally, however, a hand is dealt at the Contract table that is so strong that a bid of one seems to inadequately picture its strength in high cards, and yet either the distribution is bad or the requirements for a Forcing bid of two in a suit are lacking. Sometimes a strategic bid which fails to disclose suit distribution appears warranted with a hand of this type.

North and South vulnerable.

The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
1NT(1)	Pass	3♣	Pass
3♡(2)	Pass	4NT(3)	Pass
5♡(4)	Pass	6♡(5)	Pass
7NT(6)	Pass	Pass	Pass

I give Mr. Sommerville's notation of the bidding:

1—A Forcing bid was impossible with this distribution and one spade was dangerous in that it probably would be passed around; also a suit bid would give the wrong picture of the hand.

2—"Partner, it's weak, but contains four cards."

4—Same as (2).

5—Partner has more than adequate trump support for an obviously weak secondary bid.

6—I figured that the club Ace and knave would solidify partner's club suit and his exceptional heart support would fill out my hearts; his four notrump bid indicated 2 sure tricks and his other bids pointed out their location; his club bid showed probably five cards and the strong support of hearts disclosed exactly four cards headed by the Ace and an intermediate — certainly not five hearts, or he would have bid that suit on the first round; certainly not a mere three cards to properly support our weak secondary bid! To the nine probable tricks in clubs and hearts we added the 2 sure and 1 possible trick in diamonds and the 1 sure and 1 promising trick in spades, obtaining a total of 12 tricks plus two possibilities. It looked good for a gamble.

The bidding of the Grand Slam, involving as it did a possible finesse and a squeeze, was overbold, but perhaps it was justified on what my correspondent designates as "Unconscious Skill," which he says is his pet name for luck.

The play was obvious as it turned out; not especially difficult. The spade five was opened and East's Queen was won with the Declarer's Ace. The Ace and Knave of clubs were then led from the closed hand and when both opponents followed suit, 5 club tricks were assured. The King of hearts was then led, upon which East played the nine, a significant card. The Queen followed from the closed hand and when East discarded, the distribution of that suit was disclosed. East discarded a diamond and on the next two rounds of hearts played his remaining clubs. When the three established clubs were led from Dummy, East was very effectually squeezed. On the club King he played the diamond 7, on the Queen the four of spades and on the fifth round of clubs he was forced to choose between discarding the King of spades or unguarding the Queen of diamonds. He decided to throw a diamond, so the Declarer discarded the Knave of spades. On the second round of diamonds the Queen dropped, the finesse having been refused. West's play of the spade 3 on the third round of clubs had given a complete account of his hand.

Unquestionably, the Grand Slam should not have been undertaken, but the play, although not difficult, was accurate.

TODAY'S POINTER.

The Opening bid of one in a suit is the ideal bid at Contract because it affords opportunities for the partners to exchange information before the bidding becomes unnecessarily high. Even on hands which produce Slams the Opening bid most frequently is a bid of one in a suit.

Jane Corbin INTERPRETS the MODE

A new flat crepe, called Quesaco, makes this charming evening gown. Note the discreet back decolletage which opens to the waist.

NEW YORK, March 17.—I tell you, I'm getting fed up with this crisis business! So, indeed, is everyone else. And Paris, with unfailing French wit in the face of disaster, has begun to kid the "crise" with much verve.

It should be kidded, too. Ardanse, with a malicious little twinkle, offers an evening gown of white cotton pique with a beaded decolletage of, and calls it "Resultat de la Crise." It is just that, but no one gets the "double entendu"—until the gown is priced! Then one finds that the "Result of the Crisis" is just exactly the same price as any other evening gown in the collection. That, actually, being exactly the result of the so-called depression—that we pay just as much for good things as ever, and twice as much for cheap things which are offered us as "special bargains." Clever Ardanse!

* * * *

You can shine or not in your spring bonnet, as you wish. But don't, for heaven's sake, outshine yourself! That is, if you select one of the shiney straws, be dull in trimming. In tone, not in taste. And if you have a rough, weavy and dull straw, then choose, perhaps, cellophane flowers. These delightful flowers are of cotton, usually, and covered with cellophane which gives them a lovely, light, translucent effect. Particularly appropriate and effective, but NOT with a shiny straw, remember!

* * * *

I find that new evening apparel for women surpassingly elegant and charming, and very much in keeping with the times. Do you feel as I do? That it is exactly expressive of modernity? Of modern elegance, of modern activities, of modern and lovely woman. I illustrated one for you today, made of one of the new flat crepes, called Quesaco. And there is no use to further describe its lines, for they are there to see—and the discreet back decolletage opens to the waist, by the way.

* * * *

If the direction that your Easter bonnet should go is worryin' you, then when I tell you that the brim should go up, you can be at ease. Sailors, "gob" hats and Agnes models with brims turned up in the back only. And dull and shiny straws are the most popular, although some linen hats are chic, and some linen combined with felt, for summer wear in town.

"Button, button, who has the button?" We have! The very button you want, for every kind of a dress. . . . new frocks, old frocks that haven't had the right kind of button, frocks to be, all here, the buttons, I mean, waiting for your stamped, self-addressed envelope for the leaflet telling you how to make them. Honestly, how to make buttons at home of this and that, with promised results—for am I not wearing the best looking coat dress right this minute, buttoned with my very own monogrammed sealing wax buttons? I am! Better send your letter to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for that button-making-at-home leaflet!

Ham Volcanoes Are New to Our Column.

AGAIN a week-end approaches with customary need of over-Sunday planning and buying—hence our two column menus, one for Saturday's supper and then, of course, our Sunday's feast. The ham volcanoes you will find interesting as well as delicious; they are a recipe contributed by a friend who has many good recipes at her fingertips. Our Sunday's dinner is an especially inexpensive one since the Boston roast is none other than a shoulder of lamb which is a meat ranking among the least expensive these days, as we all know. And do try our old-fashioned muffins; they are a relic of New England cookery many years ago and we highly recommend them.

Now to the active business of building the menus around the aforementioned essentials.

SUNDAY'S DINNER.

Peanut Butter and Ham Appetizer
Boston Roast
New Parsley Butter Potatoes
Green Peas
Old-Fashioned Muffins
Grapefruit Salad
Peppermint Ice Cream
Sugar Cookies
Coffee

SATURDAY'S SUPPER.

Ham Volcanoes
Delicious Corn Bread
California Salad
Spanish Cream
Coffee

Ham Volcanoes.

Saute a slice of ham and cut in squares. Cover each piece with thin slice of pineapple. Cover sides and top thickly with potatoes that have had a beaten egg, butter and cream beaten into them. Make a deep cavity in the top. Brown in oven, and fill with fresh green peas. Add piece of butter, paprika and serve.

Delicious Corn Bread.

1 cupful cornmeal
1 cupful flower
¼ cupful sugar
5 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
1 egg—well beaten
2 tablespoons melted butter or other shortening

Mix and sift the dry ingredients, then add the milk slowly, the egg, well beaten, and the melted butter. Bake in a shallow, greased pan in a hot oven for about 20 minutes.

California Salad

Cover two green peppers with boiling water, let stand five minutes, dry and chill. Cut into strips and add three canned pimientos and two cups celery, cut in strips. Mix with French dressing and serve in nests of lettuce.

Spanish Cream.

1¼ tablespoons granulated gelatin and ¼ cup cold water (soak fifteen minutes)
1½ cups milk—heated in a double boiler
3 egg yolks
1-3 cup sugar
Pinch of salt
1 teaspoon vanilla or other flavoring
3 egg whites—beaten stiff

Add the heated milk to the beaten egg yolk, sugar and salt and stir in the gelatin. Add the flavoring, chill, and when the mixture thickens, beat until frothy with a rotary beater. Then fold in the egg whites and set in a cold place to harden.

The Proof of the Pudding is in the eating, they say. And when you have tried our new recipes for simple, inexpensive desserts there will be "eating" and "proof" aplenty. They are all so delicious and so easy and economical to prepare that inexperienced cooks will treasure them and those more skilled in the art of cooking, delight in their varied suggestions.

Send for it today. All that is necessary is a self-addressed, stamped envelope and your request.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

CATARRH.

MEMBRANES line certain parts of the body in order to protect them against whatever they are in contact with. These membranes must be thin and they must be covered with delicate cells. To do their work properly they must be kept moist. In order to decrease friction they must be kept lubricated. Many of them are called mucous membranes because they protect themselves by lubrication with what is called mucus. This axle grease is a beneficent purpose and wholly useful under all ordinary circumstances and in all ordinary locations.

These mucous membranes are generally located in rather exposed positions. They are often infected and many of their infections become chronic. The general term, catarrh, came to be accepted as meaning any chronic condition of any mucous membrane in which a considerable amount of what was called mucus could be seen. Most people had and have the belief that this mucus is poisonous and must not be swallowed, and also that when it came away with any discharge something was pretty badly wrong, wherever the stuff came from.

There is probably only one disease in which there is production of a large amount of mucus that is free from pus, and that is amebic colitis. In this disease the wall of the lower tube secretes a large quantity of mucin, which solidifies and forms casts and molds. This is free from pus and the term "catarrhal" is appropriated. Just why this disease occurs we do not know, but we are certain it is not caused by pus microbes. The masses of mucus are striking in appearance, but there is no evidence that this mucus is poisonous or does any harm. It is an effect and not a cause.

We will gain if we abandon the name "catarrh" for the purulent discharges which come from the nose and elsewhere in the body. The important aspects of the case are the infection and the location. A name which gives that information is better than a misleading one, such as catarrh.

Insofar as the treatment of so-called catarrh is based on certain notions, it is useless or worse. One of these is that the cause lies in the mucous membrane itself. The mucous membranes have a marvelous capacity for destroying bacteria, in this surpassing chemical antiseptics. When evidence of infection persists that fact proves that the infection has found its way into some recess, or in some other way has become inaccessible or stubborn.

The use of antiseptic washes is apt to interfere with the efforts that the membranes are making to clear themselves. The other notion is that the secretions of the so-called catarrhal processes are harmful in themselves. Mucus is a physiological product, and wholesome rather than otherwise. Even mucopus is relatively harmless because of the capacity of body membranes to kill bacteria.

INSANITY.

J. M. C. writes: Is insanity inheritable? I have two sisters who are insane and who are in institutions. I am married and have two children with perfect health. My wife also is in good health. We are going to have another baby and somebody has told her that insanity is a blood disease and she fears that her children will inherit it. I am in good health, but nervous at times. My sisters are melancholy. They became that way in their forties.

REPLY.

Insanity is not a blood disease. It is not inheritable in any proper sense. Nervous instability may run in families. People of this type are somewhat prone to develop insanity That is about as far as inheritance runs. Your sisters probably have manic-depressive insanity. This is an emotional disturbance with little inheritance qualities.

GOOD REST AS A CURE.

Mrs. L. S. writes: My left eye has been shivering on me for the last ten months. What should I do for it?

REPLY.

You have a slight tremor in your eyelid. This is not important. You are tired. A thorough rest should cure you. Maybe it is a case of fatigue of the eyes.

GRAY HAIR AT 14.

G. D. writes: I am a girl, 14 years old, in good health. I have many gray hairs. What causes this?

REPLY.

Probably one or both of your parents "grayed early." Gray hair, a good complexion and youthful features make a beautiful combination. About 150 years ago the mighty powdered their hair in an effort to produce what seemingly nature has blessed you with.

SEVERAL CAUSES POSSIBLE.

B. B. B. writes: The condition of the wax in the ears of my 11-year-old daughter does not seem to me to be a healthy one. It is dry and seems to fall out in flakes not unlike tissue paper. The hearing is apparently normal and there are no other unusual symptoms about the ear, nose or throat that I can detect. Is this a normal, healthy condition?

REPLY.

The skin lining the external ear canal is subject to several diseases. It may be the seat of eczema, psoriasis; or yeasts, molds and fungi may grow on it.

If there are no symptoms other than those you give, there is probably no reason for doing anything.

Dorothy Knapp Loses Suit Against Carroll

New York, March 17 (A.P.).—Dorothy Knapp, beauty contest winner, today lost the $500,000 suit she brought against Earl Carroll for dismissal from the leading role of his opera "Fioretta."

Supreme Court Justice Ernest E. L. Hammer refused to award damages, asserting she had received all the compensation due her under her contract.

Fifth Avenue Fashions

VERSATILE.

A darling model so dainty and girlish with loads of French chic for the coming warm days.

It may be carried out in cottons or in crepe de chine for more simpler "best."

Style No. 290 may be had in sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. The 8-year size requires 1⅞ yards of 35-inch material with ½ yard of 35-inch contrasting.

FRANCES McDONALD

Why Just Average?

DEAR Frances McDonald: There is an inner urge that compels me to write and join your most interesting discussion of wives. I have just finished reading "Happy Wife's" letter. It is easily seen why her husband loves and finds pleasure in her company after 15 years of married life. How unusually blest, they both are in their mates.

As for my own marriage, it is just average. Twenty years of servitude, family all growing up and I hope soon will be able to take care of themselves. We have had much sickness, trouble, poverty, false friends and disappointments, but along with these there has been joy in our children, as years went on—a small measure of prosperity, the deep affection of tried and trusty friends, little pleasure trips now and then, and now a sense of tolerance. Tolerance doesn't sound much, but it means a lot when you live it, the storms of youth are so ravaging. To be able to see all sides of the question, to put yourself in the other fellow's place, helps to calm the emotions.

There could not be two persons physically and mentally more unsuitable than my husband and I. He is excitable, easily swayed, lively and a good mixer; I am quiet, reserved, love reading and have a puritan conscience. After years of mingled happiness and travail, we have learned to appreciate each other and to share a deep and abiding affection. True we no longer have the streamline bodies of youth and our hair is well sprinkled with gray. Health is not so good as it used to be, either, but we have one thing that overbalances all these, peace in mind. AVERAGE WIFE.

We wish right here and now to alter that rating! We hereby change it from average to excellent, at least! For in this age almost the first hint of adversity, incompatibility, or even boredom, seems the signal for a new deal. Only the other day a friend dropped by for tea. And casually as mention of a trip or a new hat, remarked, "I am going to divorce B. and Marry T." We listened, marvelling. So little of sense in it all. He did this, he did that. What of it? People do this and do that all day and every day until death. No one is perfect. B. does one thing, T. does something else. All of us are exasperating, stupid, reckless. Why the endless shuffling of partners? A second helping of jelly cake and she did not know she might not, after all. But she will. No reason: Just no roots. Oh, the blessing of roots that hold when the storm tears by, that just sinks deeper as the flood bears down. Average wife! You are lots more dear heart—and he knows it, if you do not.

Advice on Gardening

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

CANTERBURY BELLS.

DURING the last few years the Canterbury bells have been irresistible, and too much can not be said in favor of their growing qualities.

If you have a rock garden, you will enjoy the dwarf varieties, but for general planting in beds or borders the ordinary Canterbury bells are best.

They are of three colors, pink, white and blue, and I should advise planting a few of each color, since they will never clash with their neighbors or with each other. They are stunning planted in the back row of a border, since healthy plants will reach a height of three feet and their compact lower growth forms a background of green for smaller flowers in front of them.

Canterbury bells should be planted as soon in the spring as possible, and the tallest stalks staked early in the season with thin, strong canes to prevent damage from winds. Do not wait until the shoots become topheavy, since the damage done by a single storm may cripple the plants for the rest of the season. Lace them up neatly, or give a stake to each strong stem, placing it in the ground at right angles to permit air and light to penetrate. Never, never huddle them together in shapeless bundles.

Throughout the season stir the surface of the soil around your Canterbury bells frequently in order to aerate the soil, encourage growth and keep down the weeds. If the weather is dry and hot, as it is sure to be in July and August, soak well with clear water and then mulch with decayed manure, leaf mold or, if these are not available, the rakings of grass from the lawn. Always remove dead blossoms. This will not only add to the attractiveness of your border, but encourage the development of other flowers.

If you are wondering where to grow your campanulas, do place them next door to your early phlox, as these varieties combine beautifully. Canterbury bells have a long flowering season and produce their flowers in profusion.

Garden Insects? Give 'Em the Gun!

Now, before succulent young leaves appear, is the time to wage war against bugs. Spray your trees, shrubs and vines with arsenate of lead, and when the beetles, caterpillars, flies, &c., appear they will be done away with before they know what's happened to them.

A leaflet giving directions for making arsenate of lead spray and dusting powder will be sent you gladly upon receipt of a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Please address your request to Jane Leslie Kift, care of The Washington Post.

PLAY TO BE STAGED AT CENTER SUNDAY

Delegates to Grand Lodge B'nai B'rith Convention to Be Guests.

Presentation of a play on the life of Hayn Solomon, the Jewish patriot of the American Revolution, will feature "Bicentennial Night" at the Jewish Community Center Sunday night, at which more than 500 out-of-town delegates to the grand lodge convention of the B'nai B'rith will be guests.

The play will be staged by the Dramatic Club of the Jewish Community Center as part of a special program of Jewish participation in the George Washington Bicentennial.

Addresses will be made by Representative Sol Bloom, director of the United States Bicentennial Commission; Maurice D. Rosenberg, Rabbi Abraham Simon, William A. Goodhart, president of the B'nai B'rith grand lodge, and Richard A. Gutstadt.

Delegates to the convention will begin arriving in Washington today. Argo Lodge, the local B'nai B'rith lodge, will be host to the convention for which an elaborate patriotic and social program has been completed by the arrangements committee headed by Joseph A. Wilmer, chairman, and Julius Reis, cochairman.

Tonight Henry A. Alexander, prominent Atlanta lawyer and past president of the grand lodge, will deliver an address before the congregation of the Sixth Street Synagogue. Rabbi Solomon Metz will deliver a special sermon.

Spring Festival Slated Tomorrow

Many Dance Episodes Are Being Rehearsed for Children's Fete.

More than 24 different dance episodes are being rehearsed by the fourteen groups and their leaders that will present the annual spring festival of the children of Washington at 3 o'clock tomorrow at the Central Community Center, Thirteenth and Clifton streets northwest. The various dances have been woven into the legend of "Rip Van Winkle," which will be presented in pantomime.

About 500 boys and girls will take part in the program, in which only two grown-ups will appear. They are Edward E. Muth, who is appearing as Rip, and Mrs. Maude Howell Smith, who will appear as the "Story Teller." Beatrice Mullin, of the Thompson Community Center, will play the part of Dame Van Winkle, and Betty Ballou will take the part of Young Rip. Rip's daughter will be portrayed by Constance Kramer.

Leaders of the various dance groups are Miss Evelyn Davis, Miss Sarah Bergling and Miss Elizabeth Jenkins, of the Southeast Community Center; Miss Judy Lyeth, of the East Washington Center; Miss Alice Louise Hunter, of the Columbia Heights Center; Miss Ruth Hartung, Miss Jane Wilson and Mrs. Donna Taggart, of the Macfarland Center; Miss Margaret Carmody, Miss Ivy Randall and Mrs. Jeannette Tolford, of the Chevy Chase Center; Miss Margaret Schuster, of the Langley Center, with all of the leaders instructing smaller centers.

Thousands Attend Eastman Funeral

Episcopal Services Held for Rochester Inventor and Manufacturer.

Rochester, N. Y., March 17 (A.P.).—Thousands of the city's population today paid final honors to George Eastman, famous manufacturer, inventor and philanthropist, whose funeral took place at his little Episcopal Church.

A niece, Mrs. George Dryden, of Chicago, was the nearest relative among the throngs that silently followed the plain mahogany casket as it was moved from the great stone mansion where Mr. Eastman chose to die Monday to St. Paul's Church, diagonally across the street. Mr. Eastman never married.

After the church service, in which music had the same important part it had in all his life, the procession moved through crowded streets to Mount Hope Chapel, where the body was cremated in accordance with Mr. Eastman's wish expressed long ago. A few days hence Mr. Eastman's friends will carry his ashes to his native Oneida County village of Waterville, there to lie beside the bodies of his mother and father.

Man Indicted in shooting.

Gilbert Ward Lewis was indicted yesterday by the District grand jury on a charge of assault with intent to kill. Lewis is alleged to have shot Temple Newell, a telephone repairman, in the stomach in a fight two months ago. Newell was in Sibley Hospital for weeks as a result of the bullet wound, and physicians have permitted the bullet to remain lodged in his body near the spinal column.

HOFF'S BAKE SERVICE

HEART ATTACK FATAL TO R. A. HARLOW, 73

Executive of Metropolitan Club Will Be Buried Tomorrow.

Funeral services will be held at noon tomorrow at St. John's Episcopal Church for Richard Austin Harlow, 73, vice president of the Metropolitan Club, who died suddenly yesterday after a heart attack at his estate, Hockley, Rosslyn, Va. He will be buried in the Rock Creek Cemetery.

A former Montana ranch owner and a pioneer in the building of railroads in the Western States, Mr. Harlow was born in Springfield, Ill., in 1859, and was graduated from Northwestern University Law School in 1885. Following graduation he went West and settled in Montana, and became engaged in railroad enterprises, building and operating the Montana Railroad, which subsequently became absorbed as a link in the transcontinental system of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul.

Transferring his activities to ranching, he engaged in this business in Montana, visiting Washington frequently. He was a member of the Chevy Chase Club.

In 1895 Mr. Harlow married Miss Maud Barnaby, who died December 21, 1923. Their daughter, Mrs. Theodore S. Wilkinson, wife of Commander Wilkinson, her two children, and two sisters, Mrs. C. C. Whitacre and Mrs. Oscar Haase, both of Upper Montclaire, N. J., survive him.

Mr. Harlow was a vestryman and senior warden of the St. John's Church. Gen. W. M. Wright, Woodbury Blair, Dr. William Mason, Benjamin Minor, Prescott Gatley, Capt. Frank Hill, U. S. N.; Arthur Hale and Dr. John D. Thomas will act as pallbearers.

Funeral Conducted For T. A. Robbins

Postal Employe Will Be Buried at His Former Wisconsin Home.

Funeral services for Thomas A. Robbins, for many years an employe of the Postoffice Department, who died Wednesday night at his home, 1457 Fairmont street northwest, were held last night at 7:30 o'clock at Wright's undertaking establishment, 1337 Tenth street northwest. He will be buried in Platteville, Wis.

Mr. Robbins had been retired about nine years. He was born in Platteville in 1852, the son of Hamner Robbins, a former member of the State Legislature. Following his services as a page in the Legislature, Mr. Robbins became one of the early railroad telegraphers at Platteville.

Coming to Washington in 1880 he was appointed to a position in the dead letter division of the Postoffice Department. He served in various capacities in the department and retired while a member of the classification division. He was not married.

Mr. Robbins was widely known in fraternal circles, and held membership in Lafayete Masonic Lodge, No. 19; Mount Vernon Chapter, No. 3, R. A. M.; Columbia Commandery, No. 2; K. T., and the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

MISS M. CARLSON DIES.

Washington Woman Succumbs Suddenly in New York While Asleep.

Miss Maybelle Carlson, 26 years old, a native of this city, died yesterday in New York. She was found in bed by members of the family for whom she had been a housekeeper for several months.

Mrs. Dorothy Waters, an aunt of Miss Carlson, who lives at 4517 Georgia avenue northwest, left immediately for New York upon receiving word of her death. Mrs. Waters said her niece had not lived here for about two years. She has no other living relatives.

The body will be brought to Washington for interment in Glenwood Cemetery, Mrs. Waters said.

DAVID H. REEDER SUCCUMBS.

David H. Reeder, formerly of Kansas City, and late of West Hatton, Mount Victoria, Charles County, Md., died at his home yesterday.

He is survived by his wife, Martha Reeder; a son, Foster M. Reeder; two daughters, Mrs. F. B. Weston and Mrs. Charles A. McGervey, all of Mount Victoria, and a granddaughter, Mrs. G. V. Patrick, of Cleveland, Ohio.

Funeral will be held from the home, West Hatton, Saturday at 2 o'clock. Interment will be at Wayside, Md.

F. L. WAGNER DEAD; FORMER FIRE CHIEF

Long Illness Proves Fatal to Well-Known Resident at Age of 88.

Frank L. Wagner, former chief of the District Fire Department, died at 9:15 o'clock last night, at his residence, 4709 Georgia avenue, after an illness of two years. He was 88 years old, and within a fortnight of his 89th birthday, April 1.

Well known to many Washingtonians, the news of the old firefighter's death caused a wave of regret. In the Fire Department the news soon circulated and universal sorrow was expressed. Flags on all fire houses were ordered by Chief George S. Watson to fly at half-staff until after the funeral.

A career speckled with all the glamour and the risks of firefighting was that of Chief Wagner. He was at the head of the department when the metamorphosis from the horse-drawn engine to the snorting motor truck of today took place.

Entering the service at the age of 36, Chief Wagner served for 41 years in the department. He was appointed chief in 1908, retiring September 1, 1921. George S. Watson, the present head of the department, succeeded him.

Numerous Washingtonians will recall the mustached Chief Wagner as he himself drove the chief's fleet buggy to fires of important proportions in the District. A lover of equines, the dead chief firefighter was ever reluctant to see the passing of the firehorse, though he early recognized the practicability of the motorized fire apparatus.

"He was a very remarkable man," said Chief Watson last night, speaking of his predecessor. "Several times he was badly injured en route to or fighting fires. But he always seemed to quickly mend and was soon back on the job. Even when he retired his physicial set-up was remarkable."

Chief Wagner, who was a long-time member of the Elks, is survived by one son and four daughters. They are William J. Wagner, Mrs. Harry L. McQueen, Mrs. T. J. Kennedy, Mrs. Robert J. Berberich and Mrs. H. Z. Greer, all of this city.

No arrangements had been made last night for the funeral, but it was said interment would probably be in Rock Creek Cemetery.

Mrs. E. H. Johnston Expires Here at 84

Widow of Former Pastor of Metropolitan Church Dies at Home of Son.

Mrs. Eliza H. Johnston, widow of the Rev. Hugh Johnston, former pastor of the Metropolitan Church here, died yesterday at the home of her son, Edward E. Johnston, in Baltimore, Md. She was 84 years old.

Besides her son, Mrs. Johnston is survived by a daughter, Mrs. W. A. Firstbrook, of Toronto, Canada, and five other sons, Richard H., of this city; Dr. Hugh, jr., of Port Burnell, Canada; J. Herbert, of Baltimore; Dr. Ernest H., of Waterbury, Conn., and Newman Johnston, of New York.

Funeral services will be held from her late residence this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment will be in Druid Ridge Cemetery, Baltimore.

Cornell and Columbia Graduates Dine Here

Graduates of Cornell and Columbia Universities yesterday gathered at the University Club at a joint luncheon. It was decided that the affair be an annual one and be held before the football game between the two institutions every fall.

The presidents of the two groups, Albert E. Conradis, of Cornell, and Lester G. Wilson, of Columbia, presided.

CHARLES N. FARR FUNERAL.

Life-Long Resident of Benning to Be Buried Today.

Funeral services for Charles N. Farr, 73 years old, a life-long resident of Benning, D. C., who died Wednesday morning, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence at 3601 Benning road northeast. Interment will be at Addison Chapel, Md.

Mr. Farr was well known in the community. He was retired from business. He and Mrs. Farr had been married for 50 years and celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with relatives and friends on February 15. They were married at All Saints Church in Benning.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Baker Farr, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Robert F. Terry, and two sons, C. Ernest and George W., and two grandchildren, Evelyn Farr and Lynwood Terry.

COUNSEL FOR INDIAN FIGHTS 'CONFESSION'

Apache's Alleged Admission That He Killed Coed Is Spread on Record.

Globe, Ariz., March 17 (A.P.).—The purported confession of Mac (Golney) Seymour, read to the jury trying him for murder, quoted him as saying he knocked Henrietta Schmerler down with a rock, then stabbed her and left her while she was still breathing.

The fight with the Columbia University coed, took place in a ravine on the White River Reservation near where the body was found last July, according to the statement. The Indian said he had had intimate relations with the girl.

Admission of the statement followed a spirited argument, in which Defense Attorney J. P. Dougherty contended Seymour's alleged admissions should come from Tom Dosela, Apache interpreter.

After Federal Judge A. M. Sames denied a motion to bar the statement, the Government rested. Mr. Dougherty asserted testimony regarding Seymour's admissions should come from the interpreter, instead of from J. A. Street, Department of Justice agent, who arrested the Indian after questioning.

Miss Schmerler was living alone on the White River Indian Reservation while studying the tribesmen, at the time of her death.

Seymour was quoted as having said the girl threw rocks at him and hit him on the chest before he struck her, and then attempted to attack him with a knife.

He stabbed her in the neck as she lay on the ground with the knife which he took from her hand, but she "got up, walked a little ways down the canyon, and then laid down."

"I went and stood on the bank above, and cried and felt very bad," the statement continued. "I went down and looked at her, and she was still breathing."

He then went to his brother-in-law's house to wash the blood from his hands.

Alfonso Encounters Storm.

Nice, France, March 17 (A.P.).—Former King Alfonso of Spain and his entourage, en route by automobile from Marseilles to San Remo, Italy, encountered rainy and stormy weather, and decided to spend the night here. The former monarch, who is touring the Mediterranean area, will continue to San Remo early tomorrow.

$715,000,000 SPENT ON MEDICINE IN YEAR

$5.50 Average Man's Total; Three-Year Study Made for Committee.

The people of the United States spend about $715,000,000 a year for drugs and medicines, making the share of the average man about $5.50, according to a report issued by the committee on costs of medical care, headed by Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior.

About 26 per cent of this amount is spent for medicines prescribed by physicians, about 23 per cent for home remedies, while more than 50 per cent is spent for "patent medicines." The report is the result of a three-year study for the committee.

Four recommendations are made in the report, three of them looking to reducing dependence upon "patent medicines." It is recommended that the kind and quality of medicinal ingredients be stated on the label, and that all manufacturers should be required to operate under licenses granted annually by the Government. Establishment of an agency to disseminate information on the use of home remedies also is advised, the information to be supplied by a committee of physicians and pharmacists. The fourth recommendation is that druggists be permitted to give further help to customers in the proper use of medicines. The report also defends the merchandising activities of drug stores.

Seed Loan Blanks Lack Hit by South Dakota

Pierre, S. Dak., March 17 (A.P.).—Offering to print Federal seed loan application blanks here to enable farmers to secure funds immediately, Gov. Warren E. Green last night wired Secretary of Agriculture Hyde and Senator Norbeck that Government blanks were received in such scant numbers as to "deny 90 per cent of the farmers the opportunity to make contracts for seed in time to receive it for seasonal planting."

The governor told Secretary Hyde that if permission were given for the State to print the blanks, "we will cover the State in 24 hours."

ANNAPOLIS VISITING BOARD IS SELECTED

(Associated Press.)

Designation by President Hoover, Vice President Curtis and Speaker Garner of the eighteen members of the Naval Academy board of visitors was announced yesterday by the Navy.

The seven appointed by the President were Capt. J. Otto Fisher, U. S. N., retired, Lewiston, Me., former fleet engineering officer of the Atlantic Fleet; Alan Fox, attorney, New York, N. Y., during the World War supervisor of food law enforcement of New York State; Admiral Hugh Rodman, U. S. N., retired, Washington, D. C.

A. C. Backus, attorney, Milwaukee, Wis., former president of the Milwaukee Sentinel; John C. O'Laughlin, editor of the Army and Navy Journal, Washington, D. C.; George F. Booth, publisher, Worcester, Mass.; Col. Milton J. Foreman, attorney, Chicago, past national commander of the American Legion.

Those appointed by Vice President Curtis were Senators Hale, chairman of the naval committee; Oddie, of Nevada; Keyes, of New Hampshire; McGill, of Kansas, and Smith, of South Carolina.

Those appointed by Speaker Garner were Representatives Vinson, of Georgia, chairman of the House naval committee; Delaney, of New York; Knimn, of Ohio; Schuetz, of Illinois; Allen, of Illinois, and Lankford, of Virginia.

The visitors will convene for their annual inspection of the academy April 25.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

POSSIBLY no saner view of the hubbub that is Hollywood has come to these drowsy eyes than that of Noel Coward, the brilliant young English author-actor-producer, transmitted to this typewriter over the Associated Press wire by Hubbard Keavy, head man of our West Coast ear-to-the-ground department.

Noel Coward couldn't, of course, drop in on Hollywood without being urged to stay, points out Mr. Keavy. Would he like to act? Or to write? Or to act and write? Or vice versa?

Coward paused yesterday during a score of social engagements to give his impressions of Hollywood, in which will be found his reasons for refusing to remain.

"People work too deucedly hard. They get up at 6:30 a. m., have their make-up on by 8 and then stand around all day under red hot lights. They eat hurriedly at noon, and because they are too tired to sit up at night their dinner is served to them on a tray. That's no way to live, and certainly no way to work.

"The way the producers kill stars is most amazing. They put them in so many pictures the public gets tired seeing them. If they build a person gradually, star him in only a few films, he would be bringing in money for years and years.

"And the poor writers: How in the name of heaven they accomplish anything in the rabbit hutches they are assigned to is beyond me. And they even punch clocks. Fancy checking in at 8 a. m. and be forced to write an act before going to luncheon. I'd starve to death.

"Working under such conditions wouldn't appeal to me, even though a year or two of it would net me a small fortune. I don't want to be rich—I want to be happy. Anyway, now, I have enough money to be comfortable for the balance of my life."

The actor-playwright supposes, however, he will have to be in a film some day just to see what it's like.

Coward leaves the Coast early next week for New York.

In the meantime, to round off a biannnual vacation that has taken him fairly well over South America, the author of some 18 successful plays, musical comedies and revues, will loll about comfortably, enjoying himself with many old friends in the film colony—among them Ronald Colman, a boyhood chum; Ruth Chatterton, Tallulah Bankhead, Doug Fairbanks, jr., and Joan Crawford and Jill Esmond and her husband, Laurence Olivier.

A what-ho arrangement, if you ask me, quite. Cheerio, old squirt!

Word is going about to the managers of the motion picture theaters of the country that the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences has advised their home offices that by agreement among Columbia, Educational, Fox, Hal Roach, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Paramount-Publix, RKO, United Artists, Universal and Warner Brothers-First National as of February 15, 1932, on and after March 15 all pictures released by these companies will be photographed with a new standard camera aperture that will bring about absolute uniformity of precision product.

The new aperture will be .600 in. high and .826 in. wide, and the center line of the picture will be .7380 in. from the edge of the film on the scund track side. This will result in a screen image not quite so high as at present and just a trifle wider.

To the layman this may not mean much, but to the film exhibitor it means that to avoid visible framing lines on the screen, new aperture plates must be installed on all of his projectors and new masking applied to his screen.

This information comes to me from the office of Harry W. Crull, managing director of the Fox, whose equipment will be in accordance with the new requirements by the time "Careless Lady," with Joan Bennett and John Boles, is flashed on the screen a week from today. This will be the first of the standardized prints to be shown at the F street cathedral.

This uniform practice will result in improved projection in every theater presenting the pictures made by the producing companies hereinbefore named. Maybe you'd like to see the blueprints.

J. B. Alexander, veteran aviator and chief of aeronautics of Howard Hughes' two air epics, probably the greatest flying pictures ever produced in Hollywood, "Sky Devils" and "Hell's Angels," has been propositioned by the Chinese government to reorganize the air forces of the defenders of Shanghai, according to report.

It is also said that several stunt fliers have been approached by the Chinese government. Among those mentioned are Bob Demster, Al Wilson, Ira Reed and Stuart Murphy. It is declared that these aces have been offered six months' pay, deposited in advance, and round-trip tickets to Shanghai.

The Chinese, obviously, are not discouraged. Nobody but an optimist ever would have thought of that round-trip idea!

And surely by this time you have heard the one about the smart young Chinese, with a keen knowledge of the comparative populations of his country and Japan, who stopped in front of a bulletin board and read the casualty lists: Japanese killed, 80. Chinese killed, 1,000.

"Ah," said he, "we're winning!"

I say, maybe you'd like to see the blueprints!

SOCIETY

Mrs. Reibetanz Entertains At Luncheon.

Mrs. E. William Reibetanz entertained at luncheon and bridge at the Shoreham yesterday. Her guests were Mrs. Frank Barkley, Mrs. Leo Robison, Mrs. William C. Wedding, Mrs. Tillsbury, Mrs. George Wells, Mrs. Joe Dodge, Mrs. Lou Messersmith, Mrs. Roland Devilbis, Mrs. Carl Hechmer, Mrs. William Rock, Mrs. Ted Ainsworth, Mrs. Morris Kaufman, Mrs. Paul Gleis, Mrs. Cullinan, Mrs. Paul Toelna, Mrs. Everson, Mrs. W. Allen Griffith, Mrs. Joseph Young, Mrs. Ralph Case, Mrs. Kenneth McRae, Mrs. Schisserdecher, Mrs. V. Baldwin, Mrs. Harry Hall, Mrs. Eugene Snook, Mrs. Thomas Gallagher, Mrs. Wilson Ryon, Mrs. P. W. Finlay and Mrs. A. L. Kelley.

A large number of graduated and former cadets of the United States Military Academy will attend the annual West Point dinner commemorating the 130th anniversary of the founding of the school at the Willard tomorrow.

Representative Charles H. Martin, of Oregon, will be the principal speaker. Gen. John J. Pershing and Gen. Douglas MacArthur have accepted invitations to attend.

Maj. Henry L. Larsen, U. S. M. C., and Mrs. Larsen, who recently arrived in Paris from Washington for an indefinite stay, are in their apartment on the Avenue Charles-Floquet.

Mrs. Korn, widow of Col. Louis L. Korn, U. S. A., expects to return to her home in San Francisco within a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Elward Smith, of Sayville, L. I., are at the Shoreham for a few days on their way South.

Democratic Ball At Shoreham Tomorrow.

The national committee of One Thousand Democratic and Progressive Women are assured of great success for their Democratic ball to be held at the Shoreham Hotel tomorrow evening at 10 o'clock. All of the national officers are expected to be in Washington and assist Miss Helen Coolidge's committee in receiving their guests.

The national officers include Mrs. Elizabeth Smith Edwards, national chairman, who has been actively engaged in politics for a number of years; Mrs. Edward M. House, national vice chairman, wife of Col. House, close friend and personal confident to the late lamented President Woodrow Wilson; Mrs. Duncan U. Fletcher, national vice chairman, wife of United States Senator Fletcher of Florida; Miss Mary Curley, national vice chairman, daughter of James M. Curley, mayor of the City of Boston; Mrs. Peter A. Drury, national vice chairman, socially prominent in Democratic circles in Washington and New York; Miss Vera Russell, national vice chairman, actively engaged in organizing the younger Democrats; Miss Patricia V. Dorn, national secretary and chairman of the ball committee on arrangements, of New York and Southampton; Mrs. William G. Dowd, national recording secretary, of Baltimore, Md., and Tarrytown, N. Y., actively engaged in furthering the organization throughout the country, in organizing State committees of which some nineteen States have been organized in less than a year.

The purpose of the ball is to further interest in the Democratic party and to arouse the women of the Nation to carry on a militant campaign to assure the election of the Democratic nominee for President in 1932.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Bemis entertained the Social Dozen Club at the dinner dance at the Shoreham last night, their guests including Dr and Mrs. Frederick H. Morhart, Mr. and Mrs. William Loetsch, Mr and Mrs. George Tarbell, Mrs. Horace Fulton and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Groome.

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher A. McGregor, of New York, and Mrs. Mark Fowler and son, of Connecticut, are are the Shoreham for a few days.

Miss Alice de Mauriac Wed to Bennett Hammond.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Parsons de Mauriac, of Bedford, N. Y., announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Alice de Mauriac, to Mr. Bennett Hammond, of Washington, which took place at St. Paul's Chapel, Athens, Greece, on February 22. Mr. O. A. Swickert, of Springfield, Mass., acted as best man. Following the ceremony a reception was held and a wedding breakfast served to 40 guests at the Grande-Bretagne.

Among those present were Mr. Carl Fisher, Charge d'Affaires at the American Legation in Athens, and Mrs. Fisher; Mr. Edwin Plitt, American Consul, and Mrs. Plitt; Mr. and Mrs. L. Zalmis and other members of the diplomatic corps in Greece. Mr. and Mrs. Hammond sailed for Naples on the Aquitania, and are making an extended tour of the Continent before returning to America.

The Washington Alumnae Chapter of Alfred University, coeducational college of Alfred, N. Y., entertained at a dinner last evening at the Dodge Hotel. Dr. and Mrs. Boothe C Davis, of Alfred, N. Y., were the guests of honor. Dr Davis is president of the college. Dr. Wesley Miller, the financial director of the college, also was a guest. Mr M. E. Drake, president of the local alumnae chapter, presided.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Ketcham, of Moody, N. Y., have taken an apartment at the Shoreham.

Mrs. R. S. Wayland entertained at a luncheon yesterday, followed by bridge, at the Dodge Hotel in honor of Mrs. Annie S. Humphrey, who is connected with the American Red Cross and will leave Washington soon for New York to make her home. Covers were laid for twelve guests.

Mrs. M. I. King, of Malone, N. Y., is passing a few days at the Dodge, accompanied by Miss Helene Lawrence.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen C. Babcock, of Hamburg, N. Y., are at the Shoreham on their way back from the South.

There will be a meeting of the Friday Evening Dancing Class in the Willard room of the Willard this evening.

Among those who will entertain in the crystal room prior to the meeting are Mrs. Victor Kauffmann, Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Sisson and Mr. and Mrs. G. Aaron Youngquist.

The next lecture of the Alliance Francaise will be given tomorrow morning, at 11:15 o'clock, at the Hotel LaFayette, by M. Gilbert Chinard, of Johns Hopkins University. The subject of the French lecture is "Deux voyageuses d'autrefois: Mrs. Abigail Adams et sa fille a Paris."

Dr. and Mrs. Wilbur P. Klapp are guests at the Shoreham for a week on their way to their home in Philadelphia. They are returning from a trip through the Panama Canal by way of California and New Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Miller Kenyon entertained at dinner last evening at the Chevy Chase Club in honor of Justice Peyton Gordon, of the District Supreme Court, and Mrs. Gordon. There were 80 in the company.

The Woman's National Democratic Club will entertain at its weekly hospitality tea on Saturday afternoon, when Mrs. B. B. Wallace will make an address on China, a country where she spent many years.

The hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. Frank Morrison, Mrs. Rosa M. Mulcare, Mrs. F. J. Kennedy, Miss Beaufort Kelley, Mrs. Charles C. Lamborn, Mrs. Gardner Jackson, Mrs. Henry Martin, Mrs. Freeman Marsh and Mrs. Bryan K. Ogden.

Mrs. Benjamin B. Wallace, who lived several years in China, where her husband, Dr. Wallace, was adviser to the minister of finance, will be guest of honor of the Irvine Welles Chapter, D. A. R., tomorrow at 2:30 p. m., when she will give a talk on Shanghai and the Chinese people.

The meeting will be held at the home of Miss Frances Crossman, vice regent of the chapter, 1789 Lanier place northwest, and the lecture will be followed by tea.

Lobbying Charges Denied by Barrett

Answers Wilbur on His Alleged Fight Against Appropriation Bill.

(Associated Press.)

Charles S. Barrett, former president of the National Farmers Union, yesterday replied to the accusation of Secretary Wilbur that he was directing a lobby against the Interior Department appropriation bill with the declaration the charge was "unfair" to those associated with him.

Wilbur said the War Minerals Relief Commission had a claim before it in which Barrett was interested.

Mr. Barrett, who lives in Union City, Ga., said his associates, whom he named as Lee Ashcraft, Mell Wilkinson, and George L. Pratt, had pressed the claim for 14 years, and had been sustained by the Supreme Court.

"As for being a lobbyist," Mr. Barrett said, "I never received a penny in my entire lifetime for helping to promote a bill or defeat a bill before Congress or any other legislative body."

Judicial Changes Sought in House

14 Measures for Altering Federal Procedure Are Introduced.

(Associated Press.)

Fourteen bills to alter Federal judicial procedure were introduced yesterday by Chairman Summers of the House judiciary committee. One would give the courts of the various States jurisdiction over juvenile offenders against Federal laws. Now, juveniles who rifle box cars in interstate commerce or who steal from the mails are tried in Federal courts.

Another would make husbands and wives competent to testify for or against each other in Federal cases.

Misuse and imitation of official Federal insignia, such as badges and identification cards, would be made punishable by fine not to exceed $250, or imprisonment not to exceed six months. Punishment for killing or assaulting Federal officers would be made more drastic.

House Unit Denies Waterway Funds

Request of Hoover for New Allotment Is Turned Down.

(Associated Press.)

For another month, at least, Army engineers must carry on waterway improvement projects with a cash balance in the Treasury of only some $30,000,000.

This was the decision of the Democratic House appropriations committee on President Hoover's request for the immediate allotment of the full $60,000,000 recommended by the Budget Bureau for the next fiscal year.

This appropriation is provided in the War Department supply bill, which has been delayed by the new tax bill.

SYMPHONY ENDS ITS SEASON IN TRIUMPH

"Bolero" and "Te Deum" Wins Acclaim for Capital's Own Orchestra.

Combining the Handel anthem, the "Dettingen Te Deum," and the exotic "Bolero" of Maurice Ravel in its final program yesterday afternoon at Constitution Hall, the National Symphony Orchestra—Washington's own—concluded its first season in a blaze of glory that was no less a fitting finale to this laudable venture than it was a personal tribute to Conductor Hans Kindler.

As guests artists yesterday was featured the Washington Choral Festival Association Chorus, which, with the orchestra, sang the "Dettingen Te Deum" of George Frederick Handel, marking the first time that Conductor Kindler has attempted to present a choral work of major magnitude. This anthem of praise and thanksgiving, first presented in celebration of the English victory over the French at Dettingen in 1743, was masterfully sung by the chorus, with incidental trios by the Madrigal Solo Group and the two barytone solos by Leonard Davis.

The program continued with the "Vorspiel" and "Liebestod" from Richard Wagner's "Tristan und Isolde." In the prelude is heard a brief symphonic synopsis of the first act of the opera, while in the "Liebestod" are the idealized reminiscenses when, as Wagner himself explains, "over Tristan's body the dying Isolde experiences the blissful realization of her ardent yearning—eternal union in immeasurable space, without limits, without ties, indissoluble."

The "Bolero" of Ravel, written in 1928 and dedicated to Ida Rubinstein for a solo dance, takes on new meaning with its playing as a concert piece, where it is essentially an elongated crescendo, swelling in volume from the almost imperceptible introduction of the drum and flute to the crashing finale with the full orchestra.

The repetition with obstinate insistance of the thematic strain never approaches monotony, but rather the haunting theme becomes more fascinating with the increasing volume and the inflections made by the several instruments, accentuated by the continued throbs of the tympani.

While the orchestra perhaps did not have as much opportunity to display the full range of its ability in this, the eighth, concert as in its previous appearances, it did perform right up to the high musical standard set earlier and further demonstrated more than admirably another facet, that of choral accompaniment, furnishing the Washington Choral Festival Association, under the leadership of Louis A. Potter, the necessary instrumental background for the Handel "Te Deum," a number that by itself would more than justify the continued support of the National Symphony Orchestra.

Auf wiedersehn, Herr Kindler, until next season!

JUDGE AT FIRST BASE AGAINST LOUISVILLE TODAY

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

Biloxi, Miss., March 17.

THE futility of it all, as characterized by so many of our best big league pitchers at the plate with a bat in their hands, prompted this correspondent to go into extraordinary session on the subject with Mr. Clark Griffith, boss man of the Washington Club and a reformed pitcher himself.

Mr. Griffith, who will tell you, without being asked, that he has spent 42 years in baseball, can speak with authority on the matter of the mystery of the batting weakness among pitchers, and you learn that there is no mystery whatsoever.

Pitchers are essentially pitchers and what batting ability they may be able to acquire is a tribute to their stick-to-it-iveness and application to their work, for their pitching efforts constitute so great a part of their value to the team, often 100 per cent, that development of their hitting is neglected in favor of more emphasis on their pitching.

It would seem that pitchers and catchers ought to be the outstanding batters, what with their knowledge of the pitching art. It would seem, too, that familiar as they are with all the artifices of the trade, they ought to be able to diagnose the delivery of the men on the mound with such accuracy that they would have a great advantage when they went to the plate. But there is no greater fallacy in baseball, Mr. Griffith declares, and your correspondent is inclined to agree.

The batting eye is entirely foreign to the pitching and catching eye. It is dependent largely upon the stance and stroke so different from the pitching delivery and catching position. Pitchers so neglected this improvement of stance and stroke at the plate in favor of their pitching that they are hardly equipped to meet the demands of a batter against big league hurling.

There is another factor, too. Little is expected of pitchers at the plate. They can strike out weakly or pop up and retire gracefully from the batter's box after a performance that in any other player would have been ludicrous, thus excused as they are, from this respectable average with the bat, with their status on the team unaffected. By their work at the plate, the pitchers are inclined merely to go through the motions with the bat.

There are exceptions, of course, but they don't prove the rule in baseball. Wesley Ferrell, George Earnshaw, George Uhle and Lloyd Brown are outstanding examples of hitting pitchers in the American League. But hitting pitchers of their type are as rare as a cold day on the Biloxi Chamber of Commerce's calendar.

Ferrell set a new mark for pitchers when he amassed nine home runs last season and the belief is general that he can turn to outfielding with success when he is ready to put his pitching days behind. Earnshaw is a mighty factor in the Athletics' batting order when he is in the game and Uhle, like Joe Bush, has seen much service as a pinch hitter with both the Cleveland Indians and the Detroit Tigers.

Brown, the most versatile of the Nats' pitching staff, is a threat at the plate and his batting action belies his pitching profession. But Brown saw service in the Southern Association as an outfielder and acquired an effective batting stroke in that capacity. He is recognized, too, as probably the greatest fielding pitcher in the league. The Nats boast five infielders when Brown is in the box.

Students of baseball may try to dash Mr. Griffith's argument by pointing to the fact that a dozen of the outstanding hitters in baseball are reformed pitchers. They can point first to Babe Ruth. Then to Goose Goslin, Sam Rice, George Sisler and Lefty O'Doul, all of whom forsook the pitching mound to capitalize on their batting ability by being in the ball game every day in outfield or infield positions.

But they represent only a negligible percentage of the players who came up to the big league as pitchers. In their case their native talent as hitters was too great to permit them, as pitchers, to sit on the bench five days a week. This natural ability, however, is so rare among pitchers that their tribe is comparatively few, with the great bulk of the twirlers so occupied with their pitching ability that little opportunity is taken to improve their hitting.

It has been Griffith's experience that the majority of the best hitting pitchers come up to the majors from college ranks. College coaches, with limited material, are forced to impress pitchers into service as outfielders and infielders in every game, and the twirlers who graduate into the majors are fortified with the batting experience that minor league hurlers lack.

Griffiths Win From Fort Tossers

Lyles, Wiler Stars as Consumers Cop in A. A. U., 43-31.

D. H., Towers, Iowas, Bennings, Saints Also Triumph.

WITH Bob Lyles and Fats Wiler showing the way, the Griffith-Consumers advanced to the quarter-final round in the A. A. U. basket ball tournament, sponsored by The Post, by bowling over Fort Washington, 43-31, in a rough and exciting game played at Tech High last night. It was the feature of a card of six games, the majority of which were decided by eleventh-hour rallies.

In the other games played, the Capital Towers trimmed the Noel House, 24-18, in a 115-pound class engagement, St. Stephen's 130-pounders triumphed over the Dixianas, 18-16, the 100-pound Iowa Midgets bowed to the Neighborhood House quintet, 28-24, and the Benning girls swamped the Jewish Community Center, 57-6, in a junior girls' game.

The night was capped by a 32-19 victory of the Community Center League champs, Delaware & Hudson, over the Potomac Boat Club, whose scholastic five won the unlimited tournament last year.

Ft. Washington Jumps Into Lead.

Fort Washington opened fire on the Griffs' encampment at the start of the fray and had compiled a 6-to-0 lead before their opponents could recover their equilibrium. Once the Coal Dealers did get going, however, they were never headed. Lyles and Wiler joined forces in tying the score at 7-7, and Wiles then put the Griffs ahead with an easy anwobird. The Soldiers trailed at the half, 22 to 14.

Fort Washington rallied in the third period, but the flurry was as brief as a summer shower. Once its fury abated the Consumers took up where they had left off in securing the victory. The triumvirate of Peck, Lyles and Wiler was functioning too smoothly for the comfort of the Troopers. The game increased in roughness near the end, and both teams were frequently penalized for infractions of the rules.

Morris, Marker and Uhrinek starred for Fort Washington. This trio fought valiantly until the last ditch, a losing fight, to save the day for their team.

Potomacs Humbled By D. & H. Dribblers

Held even for the entire first half by inspired play on the part of Potomac Boat Club, Delaware & Hudson produced some of the greatest play of the tournament in the second half to set back the challenge of the Boatmen and suppress them by a 32-19 count. The score at the turn was 32-18.

With Bob Gaylor, former Maryland star, working on the dynamite end of spectacular passing, D. & H. zoomed up their advantage on a stunning series of shots at the start of the second half. Gaylor, playing with three fouls on him since early in the game, went out in the last four minutes of play, and D. & H., duplicating its stunt when it beat the Griff Consumers for the Community Center championship, played out the game with four men.

Barker had the hotteat hand for the Boatmen, while the entire D. & H. team was irresistible in the second session.

Neighborhood House Gains 100-Pound Finals

Ellwood Ey, an innocent-looking guard, brought about the downfall of the Iowa Midgets at the hands of Neighborhood House in the 100-pound class. The score was 28 to 24, and put Noel House in the finals. Ey scored exactly half of the winning team's points.

Appropriately garbed in flashy green and white uniforms, the Neighborhood House players promptly went to work on their opponents and were soon in possession of a 7-to-4 lead. The Iowa aggregation drew up on even terms at the half, which ended with the score at 10 to 10. The teams battled through the third period to another stalemate, but once the fourth period was under

SAKS PLAYS IN A. A. U. FEATURE

Meets Rockville Five Tonight; 5 Other Games.

ROCKVILLE'S elongated group of basket ball masters, led by the gangling and sharp-eyed Fred Lanier, former University of Southern California player, will attempt another rousing upset tonight at Tech High when they run up against the seeded No. 1 team of the District A. A. U. tournament, the celebrated Saks Clothiers.

Rockville's team, the tallest and one of the most deadly in the unlimited section of The Post-sponsored tournament, created a rousing upset in their first round appearance by beating the D. C. Fire Department Five, but against Saks tonight they will see competition such as they have not experienced in their career as a court aggregation.

Another upset team is on the busy card of six games tonight, namely, the War Department A. G. O. squad, which trounced the St. John's Victors in the first round and stack up against the St. Martin's 145-pounders at 10 o'clock. The Saks-Rockville tussle is at 9 o'clock.

Rest of Bill Is Talented.

The rest of the bill tonight bristles with talent. The interesting 130-pound Aloha Lites, from Gallaudet College, a winner in an extra-period game in the first round, meet up with the Northern Preps at 8 o'clock on the south court, while on the other side of the big partition Park View and the Highlanders, crack young girls' teams, will be meeting for the right to go into the final round of that division.

Either the St. Martin's Midgets or the Brookland Eagles will go into the final round of the 100-pound division at 7 o'clock, while the same reward awaits the winner of the tilt between the St. John's Aces and the Western Flashes in the 115-pound division.

A nominal charge of 25 cents will prevail. It will be the final District A. A. U. card of the week.

Jones, on 30th Birthday, Too Busy to Talk Golf

Atlanta, March 17 (A.P.).—Bobby Jones sat at his desk on the fourteenth floor of a skyscraper here today, too busy on his thirtieth birthday to talk golf with reporters who wished to interview him on his anniversary.

His secretary said he left instructions not to be disturbed and he was occupied in his law office until past lunch time.

One score and ten years ago this golfing prodigy was born here, not far from the Eastlake course where he scored his first victories.

Sixteen months ago—after nearly fifteen years as a big time campaigner and the winner of the four major titles in a single year—he stepped down and told his rivals to shoot for his various crowns, for he wouldn't defend them.

And this decision, apparently, still is pleasing to him, although some entertain the belief he will again play in the American tourney.

Tribe Third-Baseman Star in Box for Toledo

New Orleans, La., March 17 (A.P.).—A new pitching possibility came to light in the Cleveland training camp today—young Ralph Winegarner, who took the mound for three innings to aid the Toledo Mudhens in defeating the New Orleans Pelicans, 6 to 4.

A third baseman now, Winegarner displayed dazzling speed and a good curve to strike out five men, walk two, and allow two hits and one run. Steve O'Neill, Mudhen coach, caught him and predicted a pitching future for the recruit, who stepped into the major leagues out of high school in 1930. Winegarner, in the last six games of that season, batted .455 for the Indians.

Wood Beaten By Mangin In Upset

Lott, Bell, Shields Also Survivors in Title Play.

By GAYLE TALBOT.

NEW YORK, March 17 (A.P.).—Gregory Mangin, the black-haired sure-shot from Newark, N. J., supplied the bulk of entertainment in the national indoor tennis tournament today with a decisive quarter-final triumph over young Sidney Wood, jr., of New York.

Mangin, ranked No. 11 in 1931, turned back the Wimbledon champion about as he pleased by scores of 6—4, 6—2, to enter the semifinals. Wood, good enough a year ago to represent this country in Davis Cup play, looked little better than a novice before the magnificent driving and volleying of the Newark netter.

The defeat, his second in championship play since he returned from overseas, was regarded as virtually eliminating Wood from consideration as a member of the next Davis Cup squad. He lost to Frank Bowden in the national meet at Forest Hills in an early round.

Mangin's Victory Peps Tourney.

Mangin's victory served to pep up a tournament otherwise gone rather dull after yesterday's wholesale elimination of the French contingent. In the day's other singles matches, George Lott, Chicago veteran, disposed of Julius Seligson, chuubby New Yorker, 9—7, 6—4, and Frank Shields, of New York, eliminated Frank Bowden, of New York, 6—1, 7—5.

Tomorrow's pairings send Mangin against Lott in the deciding match of the upper bracket, while Shields will oppose Berkeley Bell, conqueror of Jean Borotra, in the lower. Both are down for the marathon distance, five sets.

None of the surviving quartet is an outstanding favorite to come through Saturday's final. Bell looked like a world beater in humbling Borotra yesterday, but Mangin was fully as impressive against Wood today. Shields, coasting along easily behind his booming service, still is a popular choice. Lott, getting better as he becomes accustomed to the unyielding floor of the Seventh Regiment Armory, has plenty of supporters.

Lott Troubled for One Set.

Seligson, one of the steadiest baseline drivers in the game, gave Lott a world of trouble for one set. It was not until the play had followed service to 7-all in the first set that Lott collected himself to charge the net and win the necessary points. They might have gone on for days if Lott hadn't taken the initiative.

Shields, who has lost his service but once in five matches so far, never permitted Bowden to break through.

Bell and Mangin teamed to enter the finals of doubles by defeating William Aydelotte, of Schenectady, and Perrine Rockafellow, of New York, in a hard-fought four-set match. The scores were 10—12, 6—3, 8—6, 6—3, and it took almost two hours to settle the issue.

Their opponents in the finals will be decided tomorrow, when Lott and Van Ryn, the famous Chicago-Philadelphia combination, meet Frank Shields and Eugene McCauliff, of New York, in a semifinal.

Five Golf Champs In $10,000 Event

Armour, Burke, Hagen, Gonzales, Mioyamoto in Miami Play.

Coral Gables, Fla., March 17 (A.P.).—Open golf champions of five countries and holders of important American links titles tee off tomorrow for the first round of the 72-hole Miami-Biltmore $10,000 Open Tournament.

Tommy Armour, of Detroit, British open champion and Billy Burke, of Belleair, Fla., American open champion, are favorites to win the $2,500 top prize from the field of 116 starters. Close behind them are ranked Walter Hagen, of Detroit, Canadian open titlest, and Rufino Gonzales, open champion of Cuba. The fifth champion is Tomekichi Mioyamoto, of Japan.

Four former national open champions also will compete. They are Gene Sarazen of New Port Richey, Fla.; Johnny Farrell, of St. Augustine, Fla.; Willie Macfarlane, of Tuckahoe, N. Y., and Cyril Walker.

Amateurs include Howard Tryon, of Detroit; Winfield Day, of Chicago; Tommy Aycock and Jack Toomer, of Jacksonville; Lee Chase, of Buffalo, and F. M. Hohfelder, of Cleveland.

Eighteen holes will be played tomorrow, with a second 18-hole round on Saturday. The 60 low scorers after 36 holes will advance to the final 36-hole round on Sunday.

Oxford Crew Stages Strenuous Workout

London, March 17 (A.P.).—The Oxford University eight, practicing for the classic 4-mile boat race with Cambridge on Saturday, put in a smart bit of work this afternoon while Cambridge looked on.

The Dark Blues concentrated on starts and on one attempt Stroke Chadwyck-Healey got them away at 38 strokes in the first minute and 35 in the next.

Cambridge followed up with a fine getaway at 34 strokes in the first minute and 36 in the next half-minute. The race on Saturday has been scheduled to start at 10:20 a. m., which is an hour and a half before high tide at Putney. This will be 5:20 a. m., Eastern standard time.

Pinetzki Roughs Roebuck To Win as 5,000 Watch

Back Drops Pave Way for Finish of Tiny; Washburn Disqualified, Setting Precedent; Grobmeier and Stein Win.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

FORSAKING most of his ponderous conduct and well-mannered scruples in the wrestling ring, Leo Pinetzki, the Polish Corridor, threw away the last vestiges of European rassling culture at the Washington Auditorium last night and clubbed one of our earlier Americans, Tiny Roebuck, in thoroughly dastardly American style.

Throwing a flock of elbow jabs and roughing up the pigmy 250-pound chassis of Roebuck, Pinetzki, with his 8-foot arms, catcher's mitt hands and his 280 pounds of bony armor, rocked the Roebuck man into a profound state of insensibility with three reverse backdrops, an incompetent airplane spin, and a sit-on-'em hoit.

Mount Pinetzki has been going to school somewhere with a good, competent growling professor like the Rev. Dick Daviscourt, Ph. D., for on that dead pan of his last night was a right worth-while scowl, which early in the bout caused Roebuck to become timid and refuse to fraternize with the python-like arms of his gigantic adversary. The spectacle of 530 pounds of semiantagonism in one ring at one time proved generally interesting to a crowd of nearly 5,000.

Pinetzki Turns Trick.

It was in the preliminary matches that most of the suspense was evident, for this was the third meeting in two weeks between Pinetzki and Roebuck, and it did not seem likely that Pinetzki, who has been unbeaten since he was smuggled into the United States in a hippopotamus herd four months ago, was going to break that fine string against a man who had lost to Jack Washburn the night before.

The subsidiary bouts produced a unique happening in District matdom when Washburn, one of the most unpopular men that ever graced the world of sport, was disqualified by Referee Bortnick for too zealous mayhem on the equally pugnacious body of Milo Steinborn.

It might have been called either way, but Jack seemed to be nearest to reach and disqualify. It was the first time in modern rassling history that such drastic steps have been taken. It was almost as rough as bout Chief Whitefeather and Tiger Nelson once put on in their more passive moments. Nineteen minutes was the time.

Grobmeier in New Role.

It was a rather reckless night for other tried and trusted preliminary mastodons. Fred Grobmeier, a peaceful sort of gent with legs as long as breadlines, dropped out of his role last night and roughed Marshall Blackstock severely before clamping a figure four scissors on him after 14 minutes.

Sammy Stein, one of the handsomest of the bone buckling boys, destroyed a newcomer in John Burke with several flying tackles in 11 minutes. Burke seems to be cross section between and among Fritz Kley, Chief Whitefeather and the late and lamented Stanley Stasiak.

Tunney Says Single Blow Beat Dempsey

New York, March 17 (U.P.).—Gene Tunney's story of how he beat Jack Dempsey to gain the world's heavyweight championship, and of the troubles that the title brought him are told in this week's issue of Collier's Weekly.

Tunney asserted he won the fight with a single blow, a right to the cheek bone, scored in the first round. He told about his visit to Dempsey on the day after the fight, and said that he "had never known a more gracious loser."

Tunney then told of the unpopularity that was his.

"Looking back from this distance," Tunney writes, "I could have been a more gracious winner. I goaded and gloated. I richly deserved what I got."

The Post to Give Fans 1932 League Schedules

A limited number of official American League schedules for 1932, in convenient form, have been obtained by The Post for free distribution to Washington fans. Requests for same should be addressed to the Sports Department of The Post and accompanied by a self-addressed stamped envelope.

BLAZING THE BASEBALL TRAIL

Savannah, Ga., March 17 (A.P.).—The Boston Red Sox squad today managed to get in an hour's batting practice before a shower sent Manager "Shono" Collins and his athletes scurrying for the clubhouse. The rain ruined Collins' plans for a long practice game.

"We'll make it up tomorrow," he said. "I'll make them play eighteen innings if the weather is kind. This club needs plenty of baseball. We open our exhibition schedule against the Hartford Eastern Leaguers next Wednesday and I'll be mortified if those minor leaguers beat us."

Lakeland, Fla., March 17 (A.P.).—The Newark Bears, who have been clawing major league clubs indiscriminately this training season, added the Philadelphia Nationals to their list today by the score of 7 to 5.

The Bears, in a seventh-inning rally, scored three runs off Phil Collins. It began with a double by Andy Cohen and ended with three singles in a row by Zitzman, Pope and Hargreaves. The Bears scored four runs off Bolen in his one bad session, the third. Lee had a double and a triple for the Phils.

Los Angeles, Calif., March 17 (A.P.).—Six Chicago Cubs, three pitchers, a catcher, an outfielder and an infielder, were turned over to the Los Angeles Baseball Club of the Coast League today.

Those released by Manager Rogers Hornsby of the Cubs were Lester Sweetland, Leroy Herrmann and Archie Miller, pitchers; Clarence Blair, veteran infielder; Mike Kreevich, outfielder, and Bill Campbell, catcher.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 17 (A.P.).—With George Pipgras and Walter Brown pitching a six-hit game, the New York Yankees handed the Boston Braves their fifth defeat of the spring exhibition season today. The score was 6 to 2.

Ben Chapman, leading base stealer of the major leagues last year, led the Yanks' offensive, driving in two runs with a triple and a single. Babe Ruth connected with two singles before retiring in the seventh inning.

Rookies Face Colonels on Mound

Marberry in Bed as Result of Grippe; Spencer Better.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH (Sports Editor of The Post).

BILOXI, Miss., March 17.—The Nats encounter some more Class AA opposition tomorrow afternoon when they meet the invading Louisville Colonels of the American Association here, but of equal significance is the fact that Joe Judge will be seen in action at first base.

Judge's presence in the line-up is the veteran's first counterattack to the challenge of young Joe Kuhel in what is regarded as a battle for the regular first base job with the Nats, but the knowledge that Manager Johnson is definitely committed to Kuhel detracts from the competitive aspect of the situation.

Johnson may be open-minded on the subject, but indications of his favor for Kuhel are too strong to be disregarded and Judge must scintillate if he expects to oust his younger rival from the position that is already his, barring a dismal slump at bat and in the field.

Thus far, Kuhel has performed in both of the Nats' exhibition games and has occupied first base throughout the major portions of the infield drills; it is he who is scheduled to make the two-day trip to Mobile where Louisville will be met on Saturday and Sunday, while Judge remains in Biloxi with the second team which will oppose the native Biloxi Bakers of the Coast League.

Judge Eager for Chance.

Judge is eager to break into the line-up and if he performs tomorrow as he has performed for the Nats for 17 seasons, Kuhel will be shooting at a high mark. Admittedly the greatest fielding first baseman in the American League, with a life-time batting average of .300, Judge offers a mountainous obstacle to Kuhel if the fight for the position is decided on its merits.

The Nats' veteran first baseman is at the top of his physical condition as a result of daily workouts throughout the winter in Washington and he has been slapping the ball hard in batting practice. Kuhel has made one hit in eight times at bat in the two games thus far, and Judge's debut tomorrow is awaited with great interest here.

The Louisville club will bring to Biloxi tomorrow the main cogs of the team that landed them the American Association pennant in 1930, with several former major leaguers in their line-up, including Funk, formerly of Cleveland, in center field; Freddy Maguire, of the Braves and Giants, at second base; Layne, former outfielder of the Pirates, and Dudley Branon, erstwhile first baseman of the Athletics.

Manager Johnson will send back to the mound the three rookies who turned back Baltimore in the opening exhibition game. Bob Friedrich will pitch the first three innings, followed in order by Lynn Griffith, a southpaw, and big Frank Ragland, who gave an impressive performance in his first start.

Regular Outfielders In Action.

The Nats' regular outfield of Manush, West and Reynolds, withheld from last Wednesday's game, will be back in action tomorrow, with Judge included in the regular infield, and Bolton and Maple behind the plate.

Trainer Mike Martin still had three eminent charges under his care today. Freddy Marberry, suffering from grip, was remanded to bed, although Roy Spencer, a victim of the same malady, was up and about the lobby neither took part in the long workout this morning, although Lloyd Brown was in uniform. Brown, suffering from a bruised elbow, will be set back a week in his pitching, it is the belief of Martin.

A pleasing aspect of the Nats' play to date has been the hitting power displayed by the team. Off Baltimore pitching, the Nats collected thirteen hits in each of the two games, winning uphill battles in each instance.

The Nats' squad will be divided Saturday, when the regulars entrain for Mobile for two games against the Colonels, and the Reserves stay here to meet the Biloxi team. On Saturday, Manager Johnson has nominated as his pitchers the trio which set back the Baltimore team yesterday, Carl Fischer, Monte Weaver and Mike Delaney.

Stripp Signs Contract, All Dodgers in Line

Clearwater, Fla., March 17 (A.P.).—Joe Stripp, third baseman obtained in the big deal with the Cincinnati Reds, signed a Brooklyn Dodger contract today and Manager Max Carey breathed a big sigh of relief. Every member of his team now is safely signed.

PRINCETON WINS TITLE.

Philadelphia, March 17 (A.P.).—Princeton won the championship of the Eastern Intercollegiate Basket Ball League tonight, defeating Columbia, 38 to 35, in a playoff on the neutral court of the University of Pennsylvania Palestra.

AL FOREMAN LOSES.

Liverpool, England, March 17 (A.P.).—Nel Tarleton, British featherweight champion, outpointed Al Foreman, of Montreal, British lightweight champion, in a 12-round bout here tonight.

Jim Corbett, Ill, Confined to Home

Ex-Champ Is Suffering From Complications Following Flu.

New York, March 17 (A.P.).—James J. Corbett, former heavyweight champion, is ill at his home in Queens, but his condition is not regarded as alarming by members of his family.

Corbett has a heart condition and also is suffering from complications which followed upon an attack of influenza early this winter.

"Mr. Corbett has been very ill," a spokesman for the family said today, "but he is getting along as well as can be expected. We do not think his condition alarming. Of course, he will have to lead a simple and quiet life."

12 American-Owned Horses In Grand National Today

By FRANK H. KING.

LIVERPOOL, England, March 17 (A. P.).—Two American horses, one a son of the mighty Man o' War, tonight were the chief hopes for a United States victory in the ninety-third running of the Grand National at Aintree tomorrow.

Heartbreak Hill, an Irish-bred jumper owned by Mrs. C. S. Bird, jr., was the betting favorite at odds of 17 to 2, while Sea Soldier, the only American-bred horse in the race, and owned by a syndicate of Chicago sportsmen, was the sentimental choice of Uncle Sam.

Eleven other American-owned horses were eligible to start the trying 4½-mile journey, with its 30 difficult obstacles of water, brush and stone, but only John Hay Whitney's Dusty Foot and R. K. Mellon's Glangesia figure in the official betting at the Victoria Club's final call overnight. The others were rated as having very little chance of winning the purse of £9,000.

Heartbreak Hill forged to the front as the public choice when odds on C. R. Taylor's Grakle, winner of the race in record time last year, were lengthened to 9 to 1. Mrs. M. A. Gemmell's Regalach, highweight of the field, with 176 pounds, and winner in 1929, was the third choice at 13 to 1.

The race will start at 3 p. m. English time (10 a. m. Eastern standard time).

Fuller Is 8-to-5 Favorite To Beat Wallace Tonight

By STUART CAMERON.

NEW YORK, March 17 (U.P.).—Broadway's wise money boys laid themselves open for another run on their dwindling bankrolls tonight when they established Sammy Fuller, pudgy Bostonian, as an 8-to-5 favorite to defeat Billy Wallace, veteran ring campaigner of Cleveland, in their 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden tomorrow.

The boys who make a business of making odds went down with no colors flying in their last start in the figurative Garden betting ring. They said that Eddie Ran was 8-to-5 over Bat Battalino and the Bat made them wrong, all wrong.

Fuller, ranked as a leading contender for Tony Canzoneri's lightweight title, feels his rating is not undeserved. He believes he is a better man than Tony, for he beat the title holder in a recent overweight match.

A match with Jack Kid Berg, of England, certain stepping stone towards a lightweight championship bout, hinges on tomorrow's shot. Fuller is tentatively matched for the Berg bout two weeks hence. If Wallace wins, however, he is expected to be pitted against Berg.

Leaning of the gamblers towards the chances of Fuller may be laid to his recent and decisive victory over Ray Miller, a left-hooker of some ability.

Wallace, even at 32 years of age, is no set-up. The damaged hands which halted his ring progress are now quite mended and he entertains no fears for the squatty Italian from Boston. Both Fuller and Wallace are expected to weigh 135.

SLAPSTICK WINS JUVENILE HANDICAP AT TROPICAL PARK

Claim of Foul Is Denied by Stewards

Jockey Clancey Narrowly Misses Getting a Triple.

TROPICAL PARK, March 17 (A.P.).—A big St. Patrick's Day crowd made more colorful by a liberal sprinkling of green apparel, enjoyed a fine program featured by the Juvenile Handicap here this afternoon. Eleven of the best youngsters on the grounds competed over the half mile course and favorite players rejoiced when Slapstick, a newcomer from the C. V. Whitney Stable, coupled with Capsheaf, a recent winner, registered a thrilling victory over H. C. Hatch's Meany. A head separated the pair at the wire.

Meany, who also had a running mate in Bun D, was an easy second, beating Ipral by 5 lengths. After the race, George Riley, who rode Meany, lodged a foul claim against the winner, saying that he was bumped in the stretch but the stewards allowed the result to stand. Buddy Hanford, who was astride Slapstick, did ride Meany close but hardly enough to justify a disqualification.

Capsheaf Is Never a Contender.

Capsheaf considered the main reliance of the Whitney backers, was pinched right back to last place at the start and never was a serious contender thereafter.

Meany broke fast and darted into the lead at the start but Whirling and Slapstick joined him almost immediately to provide strong opposition. Slapstick gained around the bend and coming along the ouside of Meany entering the stretch outlasted his rival in a bitter duel as Whirling dropped out of it. Ipral closed with a rush to land third money. The time was 48 1-5 and the Whitney entry paid $3.70 for $2.

Little Mike Clancy came mighty close to stealing the show when he finished second astride Putter in the sixth race, losing by a nose and barely missing a triple for the day. The winner turned up in the $43.80 for $2 chance, Play Bill. Crushed Stone lost second money by a half-length.

Clancy scored on the long shot Rubridge in the secondary feature, and on Panch. Lopez in the third. Rubridge paid $25.10.

Justice Logan Wins Feature At New Orleans.

New Orleans, March 17 (A.P.).—Justice Logan, ace of the 2-year-olds campaigning at New Orleans, again asserted his claim to the championship when he won the $2,000 added Liam T. MacCoscair Sweepstakes at the Fair Grounds today.

Under the top weight of 126 pounds, the gelded son of Justice F., from the Gorham Bros. Stable, set all of the pace, to beat C. S. Ormsby's Nituma by a length. Miss Careful, never out of the money in six starts, was third.

Thirteen 2-year-olds accepted the issue, but they were no match for the winner. He ran the 3 furlongs in 0:34 4-5, just two-fifths of a second off the track record. It was his third successive victory.

Pearl Young Competes In Olympic Tryouts

Williamsburg, Va., March 17 (A.P.).—Pearl Young, of Bluefield, Va., William and Mary coed athlete, who recently took first place in the 60-yard dash and high jump at the national indoor meet for women at the Newark, N. J., Athletic Club, will represent the college of William and Mary in the Olympic team tryouts to be held in Chicago in July, Prof. Tucker Jones, head of the physical education department, announced today.

Miss Young, accredited records show, held the collegiate record in three events for the year 1930-31. Her official record in the high jump is 4:11¾, though Prof. Jones says she has often bettered 5 feet. In the 50-yard dash she holds the college record with 6 1-5 seconds, and in the 50-yard hurdles she has clocked 8 4-5 seconds time, to lead all other women athletes in the country.

She will run the 100-yard dash in Chicago, and is now training for that event. At the Newark meet she ran the 50 in 6.3, one-tenth over her record, and took the high jump at 4:11.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—PRINCETON, $5.60, $3.60, $3.00; CHATTAHOOCHEE, $26.90, $11.40; BARN DANCE, $4.70.

PRINCETON was rated off the pace until rounding the turn for home, where he moved up stoutly. CHATTAHOOCHEE, a forward contender all the way, outgamed BARN DANCE at end. BARN DANCE shipped through on inside entering home stretch, but tired after drawing away going to furlong pole. RELATIVE messed about entire journey. Ensor repeatedly took him up first three furlongs. RELATIVE closed with a belated rush on the outside.

SECOND RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start bad. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:02. Off at 3:07. Winner, B. B. Stable's b. h. Two-dollar mutuels paid—THE HEATHEN, $6.50, $4.00, $2.90; CAPTAIN ED, $14.50, $4.80; NOAJOYCE, $5.90.

THE HEATHEN trailed the pacemakers to stretch turn, where he moved up and finished gamer than usual. CAPTAIN ED, taken to outside entering home stretch, closed with a rush. NOAJOYCE used up forcing the early pace and racing JACK HOWE into submission. DONNY JOHNNY closed an immense gap and was going much the strongest of lot at end. MAE SWEEP was as good as left. She broke in a tussle.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $800; allowances. San Sebastian Purse. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 3:37. Off at 3:38. Winner, J. O. Keene's b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—PANCHO LOPEZ, $10.30, $6.50, $6.30; DYAK, $12.50, $5.00; PLAYPOLE, $8.20.

PANCHO LOPEZ went to the front with a rush and, opening up an easy lead first furlong, held his opposition safe remainder of journey. DYAK made a bold challenge at top of home stretch, but hung after getting to the leader. PLAYPOLE, very slow to begin, and badly outrun in early stage, worked her passage up on outside and finished going very strong.

FOURTH RACE—Four furlongs. Purse, $1,000. Juvenile Handicap. For 2-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 4:05½. Off at 4:15. Winner, C. V. Whitney's b. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—SLAPSTICK, $3.70, $2.50, $2.40; MEANY, $3.30, $2.60; IPRAL, $2.80.

SLAPSTICK moved up stoutly rounding the far turn, caught the pacemakers at top of home stretch and, in final drive, outlasted MEANY. Latter broke rapidly and forced a fast pace and easily disposed of WHIRLING last furlong. The latter, a keen factor for three furlongs, died badly when put to a drive. CAPSHEAF, in a jam when brush came and Robertson forced to take up.

FIFTH RACE—Seven furlongs. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 4:44½. Off at 4:46. Winner, W. F. Yeraasen's b. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—RUBRIDGE, $25.10, $13.70, $8.50; SALISBURY, $5.30, $5.40; LINE OF FIRE, $4.60.

RUBRIDGE, taken back in early stages, trailed along under slight restraint, came through on inside entering home stretch and outgamed SALISBURY in final drive. Latter broke fast and opened up an easy lead first furlong. He came again last fifty yards and was gaining on the winner at end. LINE OF FIRE made a bold effort rounding the far turn, but hung when Seabo went to a drive.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $800; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:09½. Off at 5:11. Winner, H. E. Moore's ch. m. Two-dollar mutuels paid—PLAY BILL, $43.80, $11.00, $5.70; PUTTER, $4.40, $3.20; CRUSHED STONE, $6.60.

PLAY BILL, rated off the pace, moved up stoutly rounding the far turn, fought it out with CRUSHED STONE and, after disposing of the latter, had enough left to stall off PUTTER'S challenge. Latter, messed about on back stretch, was blocked when she attempted to come through and finished stoutly when she finally got a clear passage. CRUSHED STONE, hustled along from the start, weakened in final drive.

SEVENTH RACE—About one and one-quarter miles. Purse, $800; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:31½. Off at 4:53½. Winner, F. H. Carpenter's ch. g. (4), by Pennant—Bridewise. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $600; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25. Time, 0:23, 0:49 1-5, 1:14 2-5, 1:40 2-5, 2:03 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—TACK, $10.30, $4.70, $2.80; GENIAL HOST, $10.20, $3.90; SILVERY, $2.60.

TACK was rated close to pace until rounding out of back stretch, responded readily when urged around the bend and, taking command, drew away steadily with little effort. GENIAL HOST broke fardily, was sent up to good position in first quarter mile and held SILVERY safe in drive through final furlong. SILVERY was outrun for a mile, closed ground under strong urging in last quarter mile. VACATION lacked early speed, but finished well. MIKE CAREY and BOZO stopped from early efforts.

HEARTBREAK HILL NOW CHOICE

chances of Sea Soldier. Although those incurable optimists, the experts of the British turf, say Heartbreak Hill or Grakle ought to win, neither Carey nor Wilson agreed.

Sea Soldier appeared in perfect form today after a trip from Epsom yesterday.

"The old horse is the best jumper I ever saw and he has in Wilson the best rider I ever saw," said Carey.

Little attention has been paid to Sea Soldier's chances here. He is not in the official betting and in the unofficial odds is considered to have no better than a 50 to 1 chance. He has been described as an American hope but not a promise; also as a horse without a ghost of a chance of winning.

Three members of the Chicago syndicate, owning Sea Soldier, and their wives are in Liverpool for the classic. They are Mr. and Mrs. Wilcott Blair, Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Judah, and Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Ryerson.

The official bookmakers offered 28 to 1 against the chances of Dusty Foot and Giangesia at the final call-over today. John Drake's Coup de Chapeau was quoted at 33 to 1. R. K Mellon's Alike, W. C. Langley's Evolution and M. D. Blair's Great Span at 40 to 1; Jesse Metcalf's Theras, 50 to 1; Blair's Prince Cherry, 66 to 1; J. Boots and Saddle's

(Reg. U. S. Patent Office)

—Tropical Park Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS

TROPICAL PARK, Miami, Fla., March 17.—PANETIAN, champion sprinter of winter racing, which C. L. King purchased from George D. Widener, will have his severest test tomorrow in the Plaza Handicap at 6 furlongs, feature of the card at Tropical Park. The son of Galentian has won his last three starts, and in the race tomorrow he takes up 128 pounds, while the opposing horses have reduced impost. But PANETIAN should carry his burden to his fourth straight victory.

ULUNIU, with 112, appears the contender. He beat Waterway in his last start, running a mile in a fraction over 1:38. DOUBLE HEART, second to Pancho Lopez last time out, should finish third, in receipt of 25 pounds from PANETIAN.

With the meeting closing tomorrow, when the racing shifts to St. John's Park, near Jacksonville, Fla., very large fields have been entered in five of the races. The form of the horses in the closing week has been very inconsistent.

FIRST RACE—LADY SUNBEAM is selected. She only started once, and won from Dark War on March 1. This filly blongs to Mrs. George Read. STAMBUL, a winner first out, should get the place on that race. JACKNIFE has made a very good showing in his races, and should hold the others safe.

SECOND RACE — COMMON is a greatly improved horse and is picked to repeat. He won in 1:36 last time out. HIGHEST POINT is the dangerous rival, but his last race was below his form and nothing in this field should beat him for place. FLASH O' WHITE is next best and will be hard to beat for third money.

THIRD RACE—COOTS is overdue and

COLLEGE RIFLE SHOOT HERE

Matches Due Tomorrow At G. W.

Navy, '31 Champions, and Colonials to Feature.

Hopkins, Maryland, G. U. Teams Also Registered.

A SECTION of the battle for the national collegiate rifle team championship will be staged tomorrow on the range of George Washington University with the two outstanding teams of 1931 registered to shoot here.

The United States Naval Academy was the winner of the national championship in 1931 for the second consecutive year with a new record score of 1,382, and George Washington University was rated as the leading civilian college team. Both will fire in the local meet.

Maryland, G. U. Teams Registered.

Other teams already registering for the matches here are Johns Hopkins University, University of Maryland and Georgetown University. Plans have been completed by the rifle officials of G. W. to entertain the members of the visiting aggregations.

Sections of the championship matches will be held on the same day on four other ranges, West Point, University of Illinois, University of Missouri and University of Cincinnati. About 40 teams altogether will compete for the national title as well as for the sectional titles.

The matches will be fired in the prone, standing and kneeling positions, as specified by the regulations announced by the National Rifle Association, which conducts the matches.

Hitting the Head Pin

By LEWIS F. ATCHISON

HERBIE KASCHUB, of Patents, No. 2, who reigns supreme in the Department of Commerce League, has been quietly compiling a nice, fat average for himself, one that many a so-called "big shot" in the more important leagues would be proud to own. Herbie's score at this date is 123.9. But he is not gloating over it. He disclaims all credit for the mark.

"It's just luck. I'll probably blow up pretty soon," he said.

He has been blowing up for a long time now, two months, to be exact. We incline to the belief that maybe Herbie's a little modest.

Fox Theater upset the dope by taking the odd one from the leading Rex Team in the Recreation League last night. Jack Talbert's 140 and 386 scores were high.

Wrenn's 141 and 373 were high in the Commercial League at Convention Hall last night. Woodward & Lothrop garnered the team prizes with a 570 game and 1,593 set. It was forced to share the latter with Diamond Cab.

In the Masonic League Barrett's 167 took the cake for high individual game. Richfield's 416 set, however, was the real prize of the evening. It tied the season record. Acacia's 600 game and Parker's 1,682 set topped the teams.

Ralph (Monk) Fraser is hankering to get out and bust a few baseballs right smack on the schnozzle. He could do that little thing a few years ago; was with the New York Giants for a time.

Maryland just about snapped the lock on the pennant in the intercollegiate loop at Rendezvous when it pinned a 2-1 pasting on Dartmouth. It was a close match. The winners rolled a 550 game and 1,573 set. Ray Lewis' 129 game was good for a piece of change. Bob Harg, "Bumps" Buell and Joe Story tied for the set honors at 343.

The Fountain Hams took Columbia for a 2-1 victory in the District League at Lucky Strike. Thurston Furr walked off with individual set honors, 384. Ray Von Dreele and Lindsey Stott tied for the game award with 150 each.

Palmer's 148 game and Haskins' 373 set topped the Automotive League at the Strike. L. P. Steuart finished first among the teams with a 600 game and 1,649 set.

Elsie Fischer's 138 and Esther Burton's 325 were the standout scores of the Ladies' Federal League at Arcadia. War rolled 521 and 1,480, but dropped a pair to the fast-coming G. P. O. team.

Hart's 136 and Feaster's 377 were high in the War Department loop at Arcadia. Hydrographic's 593 and 1,651 led the team scoring.

Pursuit Group bagged a couple of prizes in the A. G. O. Ladies' League when it rolled a set of 1,329 and a game of 458 at Columbia. Mellor's 288 set and Ruedi's 108 game accounted for the individual awards.

The high scoring in the Interior Department League at Columbia was done by Secretary, which rolled 1,582 and 565, and a pair of individual named Slanery and Dotson. The former collected a 378 set and the latter a 145 game.

The Rinaldi Tailors clinched the runner-up position by walloping Lucky Strike for three games on the latter's home drives last night. Ollie Pacini's 136 and 407 were best for the winners, while Clem Weidman's 405 topped the losers.

EX.-G. U. STAR ON MAT CARD

Cordovano Returns to Bolling Field Monday Night.

SAM CORDOVANO, Georgetown University's former "Whataman" of the gridiron, will play the unique role of short-ender Monday night when the Bolling Field Athletic Association sponsors its wrestling slam at Bolling Field Armory.

Opposed to the one-time Hoya celebrity will be "Bull" Garnon, British heavyweight, who also is in the build-up process. Considerably more experienced than Cordovano, Garnon figures to cop.

Cordovano, however, will have his proverbial "back to the wall," having tossed a fairly impressive lot of combatants in previous showings, the handsome Italian will be pointing for the unexpected.

Winters Will Tackle Marie Giglio.

In another supplementary showing Dan Winters, who grappled Cordovano to a spectacular draw at Bolling Field two weeks ago, is to do battle with Mario Giglio, Italian idol. Mario impressed with a succession of victories here a few years back.

In cotopliners "Don" George faces Dr. Fred Meyers and Karl Pojello engages Ivan Vakturoff. Charley Strack, former Olympic champion, bucks Lee Wykoff in an added event.

BURGLAR NETS $15 IN 10 HOME THEFTS

Slice of Pie Is Included in Loot Taken in Chevy Chase and Battery Park.

A stocking-footed burglar entered ten homes in the Chevy Chase and Battery Park sections of Montgomery County, Md., and gained little more than $15 for his trouble, reports to police showed yesterday. Part of his loot was a slice of pie, but in most houses he gained nothing for his efforts.

The robber entered through an unlocked door or window in every instance, according to Montgomery County Policeman S. J. McAuliffe, of the Bethesda substation, who investigated. Footprints on the snow outside windows entered shows the print of stocking feet, police said.

The homes entered were those of E. J. House, at 406 Fairfax road, nothing missed; J. A. Wharton, 4506 Ridge street, pocketbook containing $11 taken; W. B. Eitzel, 4525 Walsh street, nothing missing; Mrs. R. W. Beall, 4539 Montgomery avenue, lady's pocketbook, fountain pen, glasses and a small sum in change; P. J. Fischer, 4510 Ridge street, nothing missing; Maurice Edwards, 504 Maple Ridge road, two hats and two overcoats; Mrs. L. E. Van Allen, 4506 Elm street, nothing missing; T. L. Moody, 4414 Watkins avenue, nothing missing, and Mrs. George E. W. Bennett, 4707 Chevy Chase avenue, about $1 in cash and a slice of pie.

The annual meeting of the Cabin John Park Volunteer Fire Department will be held tonight at the firehouse in Cabin John Park, Md.

David S. Tuchey, the incumbent, has been renamed for president by the nominating committee. The following also have been nominated: W. D. Hannon, vice president; Francis O. Day, incumbent, for treasurer; W. B. Patzer, incumbent, for secretary, and Thomas W. Sullivan, incumbent, for chief. The following have been nominated for members of the board of directors: Capt. Ira Sheetz, for four-year term; H. C. Magruder, for three years; J. C. Church, two years, and C. E. Sullivan, sr., one year.

The nominating committee included James A. Graham, J. C. Church, W. D. Hannon, H. C. Magruder and Capt. Sheetz. Nominations also may be made from the floor. J. Fred Imirie, president of the Montgomery County Volunteer Firemen's Association, will install the new officers after the election. Mr. Imirie is chief of the Bethesda Volunteer Fire Department.

Candidates for delegate to the Maryland State Democratic convention are urged to file certificates of candidacy with the board of election supervisors at least 20 days prior to the date of the primary election, May 2, in a communication received yesterday by Berry E. Clark, of Rockville, Md., chairman of the Democratic State central committee for Montgomery County.

The letter was sent to chairmen of all county central committees by J. Enos Ray, chairman of the Maryland State central committee.

Alexandria Council Agrees To Franklin Street Paving

Will Expend $13,000 on Project to Provide Outlet for Ford Assembly Plant; City's Finances Reported to Be in Good Condition.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The Alexandria City Council yesterday approved an ordinance appropriating $13,000 for the construction of a 28-foot roadway on Franklin street, from Union street to Washington street, to provide an outlet for the Ford Motor Co. assembly plant, now under construction at the foot of Franklin street. Two ordinances providing for sewer construction were also approved, one of $600 for a sanitary sewer on Duncan avenue east to Mount Vernon avenue, and the other of $750 for a sanitary sewer on Princess street, from Royal to Fairfax street.

The financial statement of the city for February showed a balance on hand February 1 of $15,818.09, budget receipts of $23,914.46; other receipts not estimated in the budget of $50,403.36, or total receipts of $90,135.91. The budget disbursements amounted to $53,306.76, other disbursements not estimated in the budget of $954.04, or total disbursements of $54,260.80, leaving a balance on hand March 1 of $35,875.11.

W. J. Greenan, representing the Parent-Teacher Association of the Maury School, appeared before the council with a request that the grounds of the school be drained so as to permit the installation of playground apparatus for use during the summer. The city manager was instructed to look into the matter and make a full report by next Thursday.

Complaints Made About Dump.

The matter of the dump at Four Mile Run was brought up, it being stated that those using the dump have not complied with the directions of the council, but had been burning trash and dumping garbage on the city dump there. City Manager Lawrence stated he had stopped all dumping until the fire which has been burning for a long time has been entirely extinguished, and instructions will be issued that nothing but solid material, which will not burn, and no garbage, may be dumped there. A police officer has been stationed at the dump to enforce these instructions.

A communication was received from Mrs. Catherine Delaney calling attention to the fact that complaint had been made a month ago about a bus line using the 100 block of North Washington street as a terminal and asking what steps had been taken to have the company move its terminal. The communication was taken under consideration, it being understood that the bus company is seeking other terminal facilities.

A communication from the Volunteers of America requested permission to solicit alms on the streets of Alexandria, the money to be used to feed and shelter transient people from all over the United States, and some of it to carry on prison work. The city manager was instructed to notify the organization of the denial of their application, it being held that this charity work is being performed by the United Charities and the Salvation Army in a satisfactory manner.

Firemen to Hold Carnival.

E. E. Lawler, jr., secretary of the executive committee of the Alexandria Fire Department, requested permission for a carnival to be held in May to help defray the expenses of the coming convention of the State Firemen's Association, this carnival to be exempt from the usual license tax. The request was granted.

An invitation was received by the council from the Alexandria High School, Henry T. Moncure, principal, to attend a celebration of Army day, April 6, when the corps of cadets would be paraded in honor of the council and luncheon served by the domestic science department of the school. The invitation was accepted.

A communication was received from the board of directors of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, through Dan S. Hollenga, business manager, protesting against the city relinquishing its police authority over any of its streets to any Federal or other agency, this being in connection with a report that police authority over the Washington street portion of the Mount Vernon boulevard would be turned over to the Government. A reply will be made to the effect that Alexandria will retain police authority over this street.

CHAPMAN TO ATTEND ROADS CONFERENCE

Fairfax Mayor Designated to Meet Commision on New Cutoff.

Mayor Thomas R. Chapman, of Fairfax, Va., has been designated as the representative of the town council to appear before the State Highway Commission so as to reach a definite understanding as to the jurisdiction over the new Lee highway cutoff being constructed by the State around the central portion of the town. It is said that the council was never notified or consulted by the State Highway Commission previous to the starting of the construction work.

The request of the Garden Club, of Fairfax, to furnish water to supply the ground floor of the Town Hall free if the club would pay the initial charge of $35, was granted. It was also decided to lower the water rates on county buildings and other private homes or commercial projects using a large amount of water each month.

A petition was received from residents of the eastern section of town asking that a sidewalk be constructed along the little River pike from the schoolhouse to the corporate limits and was referred to Councilman H. N. Clarke to secure estimates.

Councilmen Clarke, Edgar Littleton and Lewis Coyner were appointed to work out and install a complete new bookkeeping system for the town officials. The treasurer's report showed that almost $800 of town tax money was still uncollected, about the same as last year. It was expected that most of this will be collected prior to June 15.

The Fairfax County Volunteer Firemen's Association has elected James E. Nickell, of Fairfax, president, as Leon L. Freeman, of Vienna, tendered his resignation, due to ill health. John W. Preston, of McLean, was elected vice president to fill the vacancy caused by Nickell's elevation.

The association meeting in the engine house at Herndon discussed the new road law under which the State takes over the maintenance of all county roads and its effect on Fairfax County.

A committee composed of J. W. Preston, J. E. Nickell and Robert E. Kendrick, of Falls Church, was appointed to appear before the county board of supervisors asking that R. A. Loughborough, now attached to the county highway department, be retained when the county manager's resignation becomes effective, as county purchasing agent.

Brooklyn Dodgers, 9 to 7, in an exhibition game today.

Coleman's circuit clouts came in the first inning with two men on bases and in the third with a mate perched on first. In the sixth inning, with Philadelphia one run behind, Max Bishop hit over the right field wall, two of his mates scoring ahead of him, giving the A's a two-run lead, which they never relinquished.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 17 (U.P.).—The New York Yankees trounced the Boston Braves today, 6 to 2, in a spring exhibition game.

George Pipgras, veteran Yankee hurler, held the Braves scoreless for the first five innings. Walter Brown, who relieved Pipgras in the sixth, finished the game, Boston trouncing him for two runs in the eighth inning.

Babe Ruth hit .500 today, getting two singles in four trips to the plate.

Marty Gallagher Declines Barry Fight on Tuesday

Foggy Bottom Pride Overweight and Not in Condition, He Says; Nursery Benefit Promoters Are Seeking Substitute.

MARTY GALLAGHER, Foggy Bottom Irish heavyweight, yesterday withdrew from his match with Reds Barry, Southeast pride, scheduled as the feature of next Tuesday's Day Nursery benefit bouts in Portner Arena. Gallagher asserted that he needed more time than is available to prepare properly for competition.

As a result, the Day Nursery matchmaker last night was feverishly bending every effort to secure another opponent for Barry. He stated that he had offered three possible substitutes to Patsy Donovan, Barry's manager, to consider, but that none of them was found acceptable. The trio are Vince Parielle, South American heavyweight; Salvatore Ruggirello, Italian sensation, and Babe Hunt, Oklahoma giant, who appeared at Mid City Arena last July.

May Shift Card to All-Star One.

If unsuccessful in replacing Gallagher, the matchmaker declared that he will arrange an all-star card consisting of three eight-round bouts, one six-rounder and two fours, a total of 38 rounds of boxing. There are plenty of fighters eager for action hereabouts, he revealed, to insure consummation of the alternative plan. Among those available are Walter Kirkwood, former Norfolk middleweight star, now making his home in Washington; Billy Strickler, local light heavyweight, who recently defeated Al Treanor, of Philadelphia, and Bob Turner, Newport News middleweight, who knocked out Henry Irving at Alexandria two weeks ago.

In the six-round main preliminary Gabe Navos, walloping Alexandria flyweight, will engage Pete Powell, Newport News flash, who fought a draw with Joey Schwartz at Ritchie Coliseum on the Bicentennial card last month. Navos has won three bouts by kayoes at Alexandria and is popular with the fans. Powell shaded him a year ago and he is anxious to avenge himself.

Gallagher Not in Best Form.

Gallagher disclosed that he is overweight, scaling 209 pounds, and that despite strenuous workouts within the past week he still is far from in satisfactory physical condition. He outpointed Barry last October at Fort Washington, and since has defeated Herman Weiner, Baltimore slugger, who held Barry to a draw.

Barry's most recent appearance found him in the best form of his career when he extended Bob Godwin, Southern light-heavyweight champion, at Portner's on March 8.

St. Stephen's Annexes 130-Pound Thriller

In a game that produced a thrill a minute, St. Stephen's triumphed over a fighting Dixiana quintet, 18-16, thereby advancing to the quarter final round in the lower bracket of the 130-pound division.

St. Stephen's assumed an 8-0 lead in the first quarter, which was cut down a bit by their opponents in the second period. The score stood 10-4 in favor of the Westenders at the start of the third quarter. Stick-to-it-iveness enabled Dixiana to draw up to within 3 points of the Saints as the fourth and final period hove into view. A nip and tuck fight ensued in this portion of the game, and the Dixiana five finally overtook their rivals when Fox flipped in a pair of long shots to knot the count at 16-16 with but one minute of play left. "Reds" Sullivan, diminutive forward saved the day for the churchmen with a spectacular one-hand shot in the last 20 seconds of play.

Benning Sextet Beats J. C. C. Juniors, 57 to 6

The Jewish Community Center junior girls' team absorbed a 57-to-6 lacing from the Benning sextet in the only girls' game of the night. Benning will now meet the winner of the Park View-Highlanders game for the championship of their class.

Three stellar forwards, Helen Whitney, Mildred Hook and Jane Abelman, were prominent in the Northeast team's victory. Miss Whitney netted the ball for a total of 32 points. She was accorded able and expert assistance by her teammates. Corrine Gaist was outstanding for the losers. She scored half of her team's points.

Capitol Towers Down Noel House Tossers

A gritty little Noel House team dropped a tough game to the Capitol Towers Pharmacy in the 115-pound division after tying the score in the waning moments of the fray. The final score was 24 to 18.

The Pharmacists were never behind during the game. They led, 7-0, at the end of the first quarter, 10-8 at the half and 18-15 at the termination of the third period. In the final quarter the Noel House put forth its best efforts of the night and succeeded in overhauling its opponent at 18-all. This was as far as they could get, however, for Dean and Silverman shoved Capitol Towers out in front for the last time with a pair of pretty shots that clinched the decision.

SATURDAY COURT LEAGUE.

The championship game of the Saturday Afternoon Basket Ball League will be staged Saturday, at 2:30 o'clock, in the men's gym of the Y. M. C. A. The two teams to compete are the Just Cats and the Bear Cats.

MAJESTICS TO MEET.

The Majestic Radio Nine will hold its first drill of the season Monday. The team will open its schedule at Richmond, April 10, meeting the Everett Waddey Co. Club. All Majestic players are requested to report Sunday at 7:45 to Manager Wyche's home, 1269 Penn street northeast, for a meeting.

Clubs Nominate Mrs. R. A. Allen

Name Only One Proposed for Woman's Group Presidency.

Mrs. Rudolph S. Allen, of College Park, is the only nominee for president of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs, according to an announcement made yesterday by the nominating committee. Although her name is the only one proposed for president, other nominations may be made from the floor of the convention of the State federation on April 26, 27 and 28.

Mrs. Allen is president of the Prince Georges County Federation, and is a member of the Progress Club of College Park. She has served as secretary of Pomona Grange, the Prince Georges County Council of National Defense and the League of Women Voters. She has also served as district chairman of press and publicity of the federation and as State chairman of community service.

The county federation will hold its annual meeting in St. Barnabas Church in Oxon Hill on May 25, on invitation of the Progress Club of Oxon Hill. The American home department of the federation will be featured at this meeting.

8 Boys In Cottage City Pass Tenderfoot Tests

Eight boys of Cottage City, Md., passed the first Boy Scout test and have been admitted to a new troop formed in the town under leadership of A. S. Moreau, a Washington policeman. Jack Wagoner, a Star Scout, is assistant scoutmaster.

The boys who have passed their tenderfoot tests are Donald Branner, patrol leader; Charles Stewart, assistant; Richard Smith, Lawrence Woltz, Philip Cole, Paul Cole, Wilbur Lynch and Clarence Vincent. Their tests were administered by J. P. Hovey, State field executive, and F. S. Taylor, deputy commissioner for Prince Georges County. The troop meets on alternate Saturdays in the Presbyterian Church.

Johnson Elected Head of Citizens

Greater Bladensburg Body Names Woman Officer for First Time.

Clifford L. Johnson has been elected president of the Greater Bladensburg District Citizens Association, which also chose Mrs. Alice T. Bean as vice president. She is the first woman ever to hold office in the body. C. R. Campbell was selected as secretary-treasurer.

The association also decided to notify county authorities that sewage was backing up on the land near the Peace Cross in Bladensburg, due to the recent change in the course of the Eastern Branch. Letters will be sent to the Suburban Sanitary Commission, the Prince Georges County Commissioners, and Dr. A. B. Hooten, health officer.

W. R. Beattie reported that the employment committee had spent about $70 in paying jobless men for work on public improvements in the town. The sum of $150 was allotted to the committee. Ten men have been kept at work on the high school grounds, though recent weather conditions have forced them to suspend.

ARLINGTON FIREMEN TO DISCUSS ENGINES

ARLINGTON COUNTY
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

The presidents and chiefs of the several fire departments in Arlington County will hold a special meeting this evening at the Ballston firehouse, at which time plans will be considered whereby they can assist the county board in saving the present equipment on which a considerable sum is due.

Tomorrow night at the county courthouse the county board will meet with representatives of the fire departments to further discuss the matter.

At the present time it is understood the county owes approximately $40,000 in county fire equipment and a proposal has been made by the county board to the company to which the money is due to return the 750 gallon combination pumper and the rescue wagon located at the Jefferson Fire Department. The pumper in question is located at the Ballston firehouse.

In an effort to conform with the State law in the preparation of the budget for the year, which should be completed by April 1, and advertised and a public hearing held, County Manager Roy S. Braden, of Arlington County, reports that much trouble is being encountered as a result of the many bills passed by the General Assembly at its recent session, which affect the budget.

Among the new laws enacted, Mr. Braden says, which are causing some delay are the Byrd road bill, the central bookkeeping system, which has been recommended by the State auditors, and which has been approved by the county board, and the law which places the county treasurer and commissioner of revenue on a salary basis.

Mr. Braden says that he hopes to have the budget in shape to present to the county board at its meeting to be held Saturday, April 2.

The monthly meeting of the Barcroft School and Civic League scheduled to be held tonight in the community house at 8 o'clock has been postponed one week.

Bake Sale Set for Tomorrow.

The Friendly Bible Class of Epworth M. E. Church, Gaithersburg, Md., will hold a "bake sale" tomorrow afternoon, beginning at 1 o'clock at Barnett's drug store, across from the Gaithersburg postoffice. Mrs. Webster Seward is chairman of the committee in charge.

MONTGOMERY GETS NEW HEALTH CHIEF

Dr. V. L. Ellicott, Baltimore, Appointed to Assume Duties in April.

Dr. V. L. Ellicott, Baltimore Health Department epidemiologist, yesterday was appointed county health officer by the Montgomery County Commissioners at their meeting in Rockville, Md. Dr. Ellicott will take office April 1, if he is able to wind up his affairs with the Baltimore office. The new health officer succeeds the late Dr. William T. Pratt, and will receive a salary of $5,000 per annum, of which the county will pay $1,800, the State $2,200 and Federal funds $1,000. He is 38 years old and is married and has two children. He attended Princeton University, and later the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He then entered Johns Hopkins University and was graduated in 1921 with M. D. and Ph. D. degrees. He served his internship at the Willard Parker Hospital for Contagious Diseases in New York City, and was employed by the New York State Health Department as epidemiologist in rural sections.

Dr. Ellicott became attached to the Baltimore Health Department about eight years ago, and also has done rural health work in rural sections of southern Maryland and the Eastern Shore in summer time, as well as at Maine health resorts. He also has had training at the State tuberculosis sanitarium.

The county commissioners discussed employment of a sanitary officer at a salary of $1,800, as recommended by Dr. R. H. Riley, State health board chairman. Action was deferred until later.

A letter from the Cabin John Park Citizens Association, opposing rezoning the site of the Silver Spider, on Conduit road, from residential to commercial, was received.

Opposition to Firehouse As Courtroom Is Expressed

A letter suggesting that the Capitol Heights branch of the Prince Georges County Police Court be moved from its present location in the firehouse was sent to the county commissioners yesterday, while last night plans for a new firehouse and courtroom were presented to the department.

A new building for the court in Laurel will be ready about the middle of April. The Hyattsville sessions are held in the new county building, while the Marlboro sittings of the court are in the small courtroom in the courthouse.

The letter asking the removal of the Capitol Heights court was made by Attorney Thomas J. Luckett, who suggested the Odd Fellows Hall as a location. The firehouse, according to his letter, "is not the proper place for holding court, when the building occupied by the Odd Fellows, only a short distance away, has every facility for accommodating a modern court and in every way would raise the prestige and dignity of the police court." He adds that he is not a member of the Odd Fellows.

Plans for the new Capitol Heights firehouse include a courtroom about 35 by 60 feet on the second floor. The building will be of brick, or brick and stucco construction.

The court in Laurel will be held in a new concrete-brick building, about 30 by 25 feet. It is located on Little Montgomery street, about 150 feet from the Baltimore boulevard, and was built by County Commissioner Ormond E. Phair when quarters he had previously furnished were found to be too small.

Mrs. Clark Is Chairman Of Infantry Auxiliary

Mrs. F. Paul Clark was selected as acting chairman at an organization meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Service Company, First Maryland Infantry, National Guard, of Silver Spring, held at the armory Wednesday night. A nominating committee composed of Mrs. A. B. Clarke, Mrs. Ward W. Caddington and Miss Isabel Hewitt was appointed to select a slate of officers for the election meeting April 1.

Plans were discussed for serving a buffet supper for the men of the company following the annual Federal inspection, which will take place April 7. The company received the highest rating in Maryland at the last inspection. The use of the clubroom at the armory was offered the women by Capt. Ward W. Caddington, commanding the company, who explained the purposes of the auxiliary.

Club Will Donate Girl Scholarship

Annual Educational Gift Agreed on by Women in Chevy Chase.

An annual scholarship for the daughter of a member of the club residing within the Chevy Chase post-office area will be given by the Woman's Club of Chevy Chase, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. Douglas Griesemer, chairman of applied education. The scholarship amounts to $250. The scholarship is intended to pay for the freshman year and is a gift subject to certain conditions.

The scholarship was approved by the club at its meeting Wednesday at the Chevy Chase Presbyterian Church, at which Mrs. Karl Fenning presided. Two plays were presented at the meeting, written by Mrs. Edward L. Smead and Mrs. Leslie Frank.

The club indorsed the proposed establishment of State parks in Maryland on motion of Mrs. Eugene Stevens.

Stolen Chickens Are Found Dead

County Police Recover Fowls Before Owner Reports Theft.

Prince Georges County police recovered seven chickens yesterday before the owner knew they were stolen, and when he announced that two more were missing the police went out and found them.

The fowls were taken from James Sayers, a Washington policeman living in Colmar Manor, Md. County Policeman Claude Reese found them dead in a sack in the yard of a house in Melrose, near Hyattsville. He was called to Melrose to a fight, when he located the chickens. Occupants of the house denied owning them and he took them to the substation to await a call from the owner.

Yesterday afternoon Policeman Ralph Brown, hearing that two of the chickens were still missing, went to Melrose for another search and found the remaining pair on the roof of an outhouse.

Car Rolls Over 3 Times Slightly Injuring Driver

Miss Mary Roberta Offutt, of Bridley Hills, Bethesda, Md., had an almost miraculous escape from death yesterday when the car she was driving rolled down a 15-foot bank and turned over three times on the East-West highway at Rock Creek. Miss Offutt was in the back seat of the car when she was pulled out by a passing motorist. She escaped with slight injuries.

The young woman told Montgomery County Policemen James S. McAuliffe and Frank Soper that she lost control of the car. The car rolled down the north side of the bank.

A SIGHT I long
To see, my mates,
Is Henry Ford
Upon his skates.

How grand to see
This millionaire
A-zipping here—
A-zipping there!

A leg to left—
A leg to right—
A hum of steel—
An icy flight!

For miles and miles—
Oh, what a scene!
Without a drop
Of gasoline!

A graceful trip
Devoid of toil—
Without a stop
For grease or oil!

A dash this way—
Another that—
Without a halt
To change a flat!

Away he goes
With happy heart,
Unbothered by
A missing part!

Around the pond
With all the boys,
N'er worrying
About that noise!

Par up the lake,
Then back he's turning,
Without that fear
That "something's burning!"

A carefree course
Through air so bleak,
And not a sign
Of body squeak!

T. T. GOLDEN MADE EXCHANGE MEMBER

Bankers Association Selects Essay Contest Subject; Closes May 20.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Theodore T. Golden, Washington correspondent of Clarence Hodson & Co., Inc., New York investment bankers, with offices in the American Security Building, was admitted to membership on the Washington Stock Exchange at a meeting of the board of governors of that institution yesterday. The seat was purchased from Frank P. Morse.

Mr. Golden was born in Wind Ridge, Greene County, Pa., and came to Washington in 1911 as secretary to Representative Thomas S. Crago, of the Twenty-third District of Pennsylvania. He is a graduate of Georgetown University Law School and a member of the District of Columbia bar.

From 1921 to 1923 he was local manager for the Great States Securities Co., of Albany, N. Y., and since that time he has been with Clarence Hodson & Co., Inc., as their Washington correspondent.

Mr. Golden is a member of the Washington Board of Trade, the National University Society of New York and of Pentalpha Lodge, No. 23, of Washington.

The subject for the annual essay contest held by the District of Columbia Bankers Association, in which members of Washington Chapter of the American Institute of Banking may compete, was announced yesterday. It is "What Are the Best Methods of Selecting and Training Bank Personnel in Order to Secure Efficient Management and Individual Advancement?"

Papers must be at bankers' association headquarters by May 20. Authors of the three best essays will be given free trips to the association's convention at Hot Springs, Va. Judges are Presidents Harry G. Meem, Washington Loan & Trust Co.; Maurice D. Rosenberg, Bank of Commerce & Savings, and John B. Cochran, Franklin National Bank.

Employment Increased In Illinois Industries

Chicago, March 17 (A.P.).—Employment in 1,273 Illinois industrial establishments increased two-tenths of 1 per cent during the month ended March 15, the State Department of Labor said today.

Pay rolls decreased 2.8 per cent, however, among the 296,746 wage earners due to wage cuts and curtailment of operating schedules.

The fur and leather goods industry employed 6.3 per cent more workers and increased its pay roll 12.4 per cent, offering the brightest picture in the State. Wood products, textiles and clothing and the millinery industries also reported expansion in operations.

ENGLISH BANK RATE CUT TO 3½ PER CENT

Third Slash in Month Gives Trade Easier Money; Securities Advance.

London, March 17 (A.P.).—The Bank of England cut the discount rate today from 4 to 3½ per cent. It was the third reduction in a month.

The market was surprised by the decision of the bank authorities. In view of the fact that February 18 the rate was lowered from 6 to 5 per cent and March 10 from 5 to 4 per cent.

The monetary situation has grown so easy, however, and revenue has been coming so steadily, that apparently the bank directors agreed it was time to give trade and commerce the benefit of a further cut.

Until the February 18 reduction the rate had stood at 6 per cent since Great Britain left the gold standard last September.

The lowered rate will assist the government in its conversion plans for public obligations. The first of these was announced last night. Holders of 4½ per cent treasury bonds, due April 15, were invited to turn them into a conversion loan at 4 per cent.

The stock exchange showed equal surprise with other financial circles and cheered the new bank rate when it was flashed.

Gilt-edge securities, which had opened firm on the strength of good revenue returns, responded immediately and were marked up for advances of ¼ to 1 per cent around noon.

Industrials and home rails became firm in sympathy with the market, and internationals, which opened weak, developed a better tendency.

The lower bank rate will bring London money rates nearer those of the principal foreign centers, thus making London less attractive for foreign funds. Sterling exchange was expected to be held in check thus to continue to assist traders in export trade.

New York, March 17 (A.P.).—COPPER—Quiet; electrolytic, spot and future, 6. TIN—Easier; spot and nearby, 21.85; future, 21.90.

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

STOCKS opened dull, but steady and unchanged. A sharp rally, inspired by the good February earning statement of Chesapeake & Ohio and the reduction of the Bank of England's discount rate, carried the entire list up one to three points.

BONDS were a bit irregular, but the tendency was upward, with U. S. Governments leading to close near the 1932 highs.

CURB stocks sold off early, but rallied in sympathy with the strong movement on the big exchange. Curb bonds were off fractionally.

WHEAT sold off about a cent on increased shipments from Argentina. The market was uneasy concerning prospective Farm Board sales.

COTTON was firm on the Bank of England rate, which stimulated European buying. The Southern spot market was steady and futures closed four to seven points higher.

FEBRUARY RAIL NET IS ABOVE ESTIMATES

Favorable Earnings Prompt Short Buying on Market; C. & O. Higher.

New York, March 17 (A.P.).—The first important railroad earnings statement for February was favorable enough to prompt considerable short covering in today's stock market.

The Chesapeake & Ohio reported February net income of $1,470,744 after taxes and charges and sinking fund appropriations. This compares with $1,165,612 for the same month last year and $1,196,638 for January, 1932.

At the same time, it was reported in Wall street that the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad's statement for February would show an increase in net operating income over the same month last year, in spite of a substantial decrease in gross revenues.

The C. & O. statement, appearing after midday, checked a decline which had carried that issue to a new low, and had an immediately favorable reaction upon rails generally. The covering movement soon spread throughout much of the list.

An early loss of a point was quickly recovered by Chesapeake & Ohio and it closed about 2 higher. Similar gains were recorded by New York Central, New Haven, Norfolk & Western and Union Pacific. Santa Fe advanced more than 3.

Chesapeake & Ohio was the first important railroad to report its February net income. This is the first report to reflect the 10 per cent wage reduction and was apparently substantially better than expected.

Chesapeake & Ohio stock had been under considerable pressure lately, presumably as result of this carrier's taking over substantial blocks of Erie and Nickel Plate from Alleghany Corporation, investments that were not generally viewed in Wall street as immediately advantageous.

Shorts covered quickly when the earnings appeared and did not come back into the trade for the remainder of the day.

Chesapeake & Ohio, New York Central and Union Pacific had net gains of 2 points for the day. Santa Fe was up 3⅛, and Baltimore & Ohio and Southern Pacific about a point and a half each. Baltimore & Ohio preferred recovered most of an early loss that approximated 4 points, reflecting Wednesday's dividend cut.

Glass Bank Bill Stirs Wall Street Interest

New York, March 17 (A.P.).—Wall street manifested considerable interest today in the new Glass banking bill as introduced in the Senate. Advices indicated, however, a sharp disagreement over the measure in the banking and currency committee. The prospect that final action on the bill may be considerably delayed, robbed it of any market influence.

By JOHN L. COOLEY.

New York, March 17 (A.P.).—Rumors of good news, and the actual appearance of at least one item that could be so labeled, gave stocks an upward push today, and the market closed with gains which represented virtual cancellation of what had been lost yesterday.

After showing a much firmer undertone in the morning, prices were later stimulated by reports that reputed points of difference on policies to be followed in the matter of Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans to railroads had been smoothed over. Coincidentally, the Chesapeake & Ohio released a favorable February earnings statement, and the combined effect was to touch off a fair volume of short covering, especially in carrier stocks.

Advances of a point or two were the rule among active industrials and utilities. American Tobacco "B" was bought on anticipation of an annual report which would show record earnings for 1931. U. S. Steel, whose dividend uncertainty had probably attracted an increasing short interest, firmed and American Telephone converted a 2-point loss into a gain of about the same size.

Eastman and the Kreuger issues were stronger.

Activity increased on the rally, the day's trades totaling 1,773,243 shares, about 300,000 larger than yesterday's turnover.

Bonds Record Gains.

After drooping dispiritedly throughout most of today's session, the bond market turned around in the last hour and registered a number of fairly substantial rallies. But, notwithstanding the recoveries, the average for 60 corporate loans closed 1 point lower. The activity was slightly under that of yesterday's, sales totaling $9,232,000.

The United States Government list was the one bright spot in the day's somewhat cloudy proceedings. All of the Libertys and Treasurys advanced fractionally to around the year's high levels.

Bond & Share Sags.

Electric Bond & Share sagged ¼ to 7⅛, another new low. United Light "A" slipped off a quarter to 4½, touching its previous low. United Light's earnings for the twelve months ended January 31 were $1.14 a share on the combined "A" and "B" shares, as reduced from $1.94 for the previous twelve months. Commonwealth Edison closed a point higher at 91, after dipping to 88¼.

Oils were inclined to improve. Gulf rallied 2¼ points, as shorts were evidently disappointed that the large deficit reported for 1931 did not bring out more stocks.

On the big exchange, the continued sharp declines in Argentine government bonds was somewhat unsettling to the foreign department. All of these loans, after recently reaching new high levels for the year, began to sag yesterday and today added from 2½ to 7¼ points to their previous losses. Trading in them, however, was comparatively light.

SLOAN SEES AUTOS READY FOR UPTURN

General Motors President Reports Brighter Future; Stronger on Cash.

New York, March 17 (A.P.).—Implicit belief in the future progress of the automobile industry was expressed by Alfred P. Sloan, jr., president of General Motors, in the annual report of the corporation for 1931, issued today.

Notwithstanding a decline in sales and net earnings during the year, Mr. Sloan states that "it is not at all unreasonable to assume that during the next two or three years the motor car will make greater advancement on all counts than it has during a much greater interval in the past."

"Irrespective of the financial results of the year's operations," the report states, "the difficulties that have been met can only serve to strengthen the operating organization. Adversity is a hard master, but it exerts the greatest possible urge toward higher standards and better performance and hence the foundation is formed for new records of achievement."

The report points out that, based upon automobile registrations in the United States, General Motors secured the highest percentage of the total passenger car business in its history, or 43.3 per cent, against 34.5 per cent in 1930. Also, combining both passenger and commercial cars, the corporation claims it obtained 41.6 per cent, compared with 33 per cent in the previous year.

As previously shown in the preliminary statement published last January, net earnings for 1931 amounted to $96,877,107, in comparison with a net for 1930 of $153,766,247. This was equal to $2.01 a share on the common stock against $3.25 a share in the previous year.

Chemicals & Dyes Earn $18,931,511

New York, March 17 (A.P.).—Net income of $18,931,511 for the year 1931 is reported by Allied Chemical & Dye Corporation, against $25,103,539 the year before, equivalent after preferred dividends to $6.74 a share on the common stock against $9.77 on a somewhat smaller amount outstanding for 1930.

As of December 31, the company's current assets totaled $152,407,823 against current liabilities of $6,904,541.

"With a realization that the world-wide economic readjustment now being experienced may be attended by a continuance of disturbed business conditions," the report states, "it was deemed advisable to transfer $40,000,000 from surplus to contingency reserves for the purpose of amply protecting the company's operations and assets against future contingencies."

The report also states that the company's operations were conducted last year "with gratifying efficiency" and that the directors believe that the company's resources and financial condition "justify their confidence in its future."

Cancellation Reported In Tire Discounts to Oil

New York, March 17 (A.P.).—In a statement issued here today, F. A. Seiberling, head of the Seiberling Tire Co., said preferential discounts on tires to large oil companies had been rescinded in several cases by the major manufacturing companies.

The announcement of price concessions to large users of tires was scored by Mr. Seiberling in a recent message to the independent tire dealers. At that time he declared the independent dealers were losing a large part of their legitimate business through the volume production ambitions of the larger manufacturers.

COTTON PRICES GAIN ON BUYING RENEWAL

New York, March 17 (A.P.).—A slight opening advance in cotton today was followed by reactions, but prices firmed up again during the afternoon on a renewal of trade buying and covering influenced by reports of continued small Southern offerings and a stronger stock market.

After selling up to 6.93 early, May contracts reacted to 6.87, then advanced to 6.95 and closed at 6.93. The general market closed steady at net advances of 2 to 5 points.

The further reduction in the Bank of England discount rate had a favorable effect on sentiment.

The spot basis in the South was firm. Prices reached the highest figures of the day on the late bulge, with October advancing to 7.33. Closing quotations were within 2 or 3 points of the best on active positions.

Liverpool cables reported trade calling and covering on the lower English bank rate.

Exports today were 49,150 bales, making 6,473,341 bales so far this season.

Airplane Lines Prosper On Reduction of Fares

Chicago, March 17 (A.P.).—Reduction of fares January 1, brought a 34 per cent increase in revenue passengers carried the first two months of this year by the United Air Lines Co.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, March 17 (A.P.).—Raw silk prices established a new record low level today on the national raw silk exchange at $1.41 a pound for the March delivery. The market showed net declines of from 3 to 6 cents from the previous close. The decline was attributed to weak Japanese cables.

Federal Reserve banks in the past week continued their policy of Government security purchases. Holdings of the system showed an increase of about $57,000,000, of which nearly $48,000,000 was accounted for by the New York bank. A decrease of $22,000,000 in currency circulation was a distinct bright spot, although it was announced too late to have market influence.

B. F. Goodrich Co. reported today that first-line tire unit sales for January and February, 1932, were 25 per cent greater than for the corresponding period of 1931. President J. D. Tew predicted "materially improved results" for 1932.

Wall street heard with a good deal of satisfaction today of an oversubscription for two issues of municipal bonds. One was the $6,160,000 City of Rochester 4½s, 5s and 6s, and the other the $4,500,000 offering of Allegheny County, Pa., 4¾ per cent bonds.

The Bank of Manhattan Trust Co., fiscal agent for the State of Hamburg, Germany 20-year 6 per cent gold bonds, due October 1, 1946, announces the receipt of funds to pay the April 1, 1932, coupons on the entire issue outstanding.

Lewis A. Williams was today elected a member of the governing committee of the New York Stock Exchange to fill a vacancy.

Official advices from Vienna said the National Bank of Austria, on Thursday, reduced the discount rate from 8 to 7 per cent.

No announcement was made by the New York Federal Reserve Bank today of any change in the rediscount rate, which is 3 per cent.

The governors of the New York Stock Exchange announced today that the exchange will be closed on Good Friday, March 25. Other security and commodity exchanges are also expected to suspend business.

RESERVE BANK CUTS CREDIT $56,000,000

Total of $1,672,000,000 Is Increase Over Week in 1931 Operation.

(Associated Press.)

The daily average volume of Federal Reserve Bank credit outstanding during the week ended March 16, as reported by the Federal Reserve banks, was $1,672,000,000, a decrease of $56,000,000 compared with the previous week and an increase of $732,000,000 compared with the corresponding week in 1931.

On March 16 total reserve bank credit amounted to $1,634,000,000, a decrease of $64,000,000 for the week. This decrease corresponds with a decrease of $22,000,000 in money in circulation and increases of $12,000,000 in monetary gold stock and $63,000,000 in Treasury currency, adjusted. It was offset in part by increases of $9,000,000 in member bank reserve balances and $23,000,000 in unexpended capital funds and nonmember bank deposits.

Holdings of discounted bills declined $15,000,000 each at the Federal Reserve Banks of Philadelphia, Cleveland and San Francisco, $11,000,000 each at Atlanta and Chicago, $7,000,000 at New York and $87,000,000 at all Federal Reserve banks.

The system's holdings of bills bought in open market declined $32,000,000, while holdings of United States securities increased $57,000,000.

O'Connor Pays Tribute to Irish in Talk Before Hibernians.

FRIENDLY SONS BANQUET IS ADDRESSED BY ADAMS

Six Stage Stars Features of National Press Club Entertainment.

Pat Day Wins Leniency Of Court on Rum Count

The benign influence of St. Patrick was present in Police Court.

He told the judge, "Your honor, I've always been getting in trouble in this country. Day before yesterday my wife in Ireland sent me a ticket to come home. It's home that I'm going. I went out to celebrate a bit."

Pat showed his steamship ticket. Judge Given reprimanded him and dismissed the case.

With toast, well-turned speech, song and dance, the day of Erin's patron, St. Patrick, was honored and celebrated yesterday.

With Ireland's hero, honor also was paid to George Washington and to the part which the Irish people have played in the building of the American democratic ideal.

Representative John J. O'Connor, of New York, addressed the annual banquet of the Ancient Order of Hibernians at the Mayflower Hotel.

He paid tribute to his race's part in the Revolution and told how Washington depended upon his Irish generals and soldiers.

The Hibernians opened the anniversary by attending solemn high mass at St. Patrick's Church. A dance following the banquet concluded their festivities.

Friendly Sons Banquet.

Others who addressed the banquet were Patrick H. O'Dea, Miss Lillian Fay, the Rev. Timothy N. McCarthy, and the Right Rev. John M. McNamara.

The Mayflower was also the scene of another gala banquet, that of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick. There Secretary Charles Francis Adams of the Navy told of Ireland's men who helped establish the early traditions of the Navy.

The Secretary's speech was made in response to the toast, "Erin's Offering." Claude G. Bowers honored Ireland's contribution to democracy when he answered the toast, "The Day We Celebrate."

Each of the 100 members of the organization wore a reproduction of a medal worn by Washington when, 150 years ago, he attended a dinner of the order in Philadelphia.

Play Is Presented.

Part of the entertainment was a play, written by Thomas W. Brahany, which emphasized the dependence of Washington upon the Friendly Sons.

At the National Press Club the occasion saw entertainment by six stage stars featuring. Beatrice Lillie was a guest of the club.

Others who entertained were Lee Morse, Aussie and Czech, Harvey Savoy, Charles Timblin and Nina Olivette with her "cheer leaders."

The artists and those who perform each week on the Rev. Francis J. Hurney's Washington Catholic Radio Hour presented a program of sacred music at the Immaculate Conception Church.

New England Society Dance.

A program of songs and dances featured the dance and party of the New England States Society at the Willard Hotel. At the Shoreham the South Carolina State Society celebrated with a dance.

The Shepherds of Bethlehem, Loyal Lodge, gathered for dancing at Shady Oak, Md. Other groups at most of the city's hostelries made merry in the spirit of the occasion.

Dr. Leo F. Stock, of Catholic University, told of the number of Irishmen in the Revolutionary Army when he addressed the luncheon of the Cosmopolitan Club at the Carlton Hotel.

Man Held on Rum Count Found Hanging in Cell

Less than 15 minutes after he had been arrested on a charge of intoxication William H. Blatt, 23 years old, who gave his address as 922 New York avenue northwest, was found hanging from a cell in the First Precinct. He was cut down by a policeman and taken to Gallinger Hospital.

Sergt. E. P. Myers, of the First Precinct, saw Blatt hanging from a noose made of a shirt sleeve. He recovered before the arrival of the Rescue Squad. He had been arrested by Policeman H. S. Childress.

Visiting Brother Lost, Man Asks Aid of Police

If you see a gentleman about 42 years old, of Italian extraction struggling with the English language, notify R. Albert Christian, of 224 G street northeast, at once. It is undoubtedly his brother.

Mr. Christian told police his brother James came to Washington from Detroit to visit him. Yesterday he left the house to look over the city, and Mr. Christian said he did not believe he had more than $1 in his pockets when he went on his sightseeing tour. James had not returned to the house late last night.

Erstwhile Belfast Rabbi Celebrates Irish Day Here

RABBI GEORGE SILVERSTONE.

St. Patrick's Day brought tender memories to many a son of old Erin yesterday, and the former chief rabbi of Belfast, Ireland, Rabbi George Silverstone, dean of the orthodox rabbinate of Washington, was among those who recall the old days on the Emerald Isle.

Eight of Rabbi Silverstone's nine children were born when the family lived in Belfast, where the rabbi led the Jewish congregation, until 27 years ago he was called from his post as chief rabbi to serve in the same capacity here. Two years ago a testimonial dinner was tendered him by Washington Jewry.

Although born in Belfast, one of his sons, Dr. Harry Silverstone, spent most of his life in Palestine, in a study for the rabbinate, and is now serving as rabbi in Buffalo, N. Y. Rabbi Silverstone has revisited his old post when attending conferences in England.

Mrs. Silverstone when asked whether she had any yearnings for the Emerald shores said that green was her favorite color and that she liked Ireland and its natives very much, but that only on rare occasions did she have any yearnings for her old home.

ACCORD ON MERGER SENATE BODY'S AIM

District Commtitee Meets Today for New Talk on Traction Plan.

Another effort to harmonize conflicting merger views in a consolidation bill acceptable to the Senate District committee will be made at a meeting of the group in executive session at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), Kansas, chairman of the committee, will attempt to bring the bill to a vote, clearing the pathway for committee consideration of the four Mapes taxation measures.

Hearings on consolidation were completed several weeks ago, but vote was postponed until members could have an opportunity to study the printed record.

Meanwhile there is a deadlock between District Commissioners and traction heads over which shall bear the major cost of paving streets traversed by company tracks.

The Public Utilities Commission and People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech still are in disagreement with street car officials over a "mass transportation" amendment, prohibiting company operation of taxicabs.

Keech is further seeking to abrogate contracts under which the Washington Railway & Electric Co. buys power from the Potomac Electric Power Co., retailing it at a profit which does not react to the benefit of general users of electric current.

Each of these groups has petitioned the committee to amend the bill.

Chairman Loring M. Black, jr., of the House utilities subcommittee, is delaying his report on the merger pending action of the Senate committee.

Girl Hit by Taxicab Is Taken to Hospital

Margaret Fisher, 12 years old, of 2118 N street northwest, was taken to Georgetown Hospital last night with possible internal injuries. She was knocked down by a taxicab while at play in the 1200 block of Twenty-ninth street northwest.

Malcolm L. Williams, 22 years old, of 1431 Rhode Island avenue northwest, driver of the taxi, picked the girl up and took her to the hospital. He was later detained without charge at the Seventh Precinct Station pending the outcome of her injuries.

Man's Jaw Shattered In Mysterious Assault

James A. Mahoney, 33 years old, of 316 B street northeast, staggered into his rooming house there last night about 8:45 o'clock, with his jaw shattered and serious injuries about his face. Paul Collins, another roomer at the place hurried him to Casualty Hospital where he was admitted.

The man was unable to talk, but managed to convey to police that he had been waylaid and assaulted. He was unable to tell where, how and why he received his wounds.

Gems Guarded During Jewelry Store Blaze

Police and firemen both had a job yesterday during a blaze at the jewelry store of B. Greenberg, 1734 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. The firemen had to move out some of the showcases and police were stationed on the sidewalk near them to guard the gems.

The fire started behind a showcase near the front of the store. It broke out about the height of the rush hour and tied up traffic and home-going workers from Government buildings nearby for some time. Damage was estimated at about $2,500.

CAPITAL MEN OFFER AID TO LINDBERGHS

Central Business Association Plans to Assist Search for Kidnapers.

The entire facilities of the Central Business Men's Association were offered last night to aid Col. Charles A. Lindbergh in the tireless search for his kidnaped infant son.

The organization, at a meeting held in the Logan Hotel, authorized its secretary to communicate with Col. Lindbergh and say that every member of the association "is quietly on the alert in an effort to apprehend the dastardly kidnapers and recover the baby."

The widening of Thirteenth street from Massachusetts avenue to Spring road northwest was indorsed by the organization, and it was suggested that the central section of the city north of New York avenue northwest, being a growing commercial community, would be the likely location for a union bus terminal.

The Board of Education was requested to show impartiality among dairy concerns in its purchase of milk for school children.

Parent-Teacher Group Plans to Present Play

The general committee of the District Congress of Parents and Teachers, which is sponsoring the presentation of the comedy, "Ye Olde District Skule," at McKinley High School, April 15, met last night at the Thomson School to lay plans for the performance.

Ed Muth is directing the play. Because of the discussion of the District child labor law, the committee has decided not to use any children in the production. The first rehearsal will be held next Tuesday at the Thomson School at 7:30 o'clock.

Policeman Is Acquitted On Charge of Assault

Policeman John J. Hunter, of the Third Precinct, was acquitted by a Police Court jury yesterday on an assault charge that had been pending against him since February 18.

The policeman was found not guilty after the jury had deliberated for an hour and a half. It had been charged that Hunter assaulted Clyde H. Nichols, of 437½ Tenth street southwest, when he called at 1212 Virginia avenue southwest for a dress his wife was having made. Nichols said the officer struck him on the jaw, fracturing the bone.

Meeting of G. O. P. Is Set Here May 11

Committee Decides Upon Date for District Convention.

At a largely attended meeting of the Republican State committee for the district at the National Capital Republican Club, Sixteenth street and Scott Circle, last night, it was decided to hold the Republican convention for the District May 11, in conformity with the call of the Republican national committee.

Rules for election of delegates to the District convention and the selection of delegates at large will be promulgated by the chairman of the committee, Samuel J. Prescott, who presided last night. He was authorized to appoint the committee on credentials, the committee on platform and such other committees as are deemed necessary.

Under the call of the national Republican committee, the delegates selected at the convention of May 11 must be in the hands of the national committee 20 days before the meeting of the national convention, in order that the temporary roll of the national convention may be prepared before the meeting of the national convention.

Charity Worker Gives Blood To Save Deserted Baby Girl

Abandoned by her parents more than a year ago and placed in the care of the Catholic Charities, an 18-month-old baby girl, whose name the organization has withheld, is now critically ill in Providence Hospital. A blood transfusion has been made in an effort to save her life.

When the little girl, known only as June, contracted pneumonia several weeks ago, physicians at the hospital thought they could pull her through. Her condition continued to grow worse, until a blood transfusion was necessary.

The question arose as to who was going to donate the blood. The baby had no relatives—no one seemed to care whether she lived or not. The plight of the homeless little girl was learned by Mary Catherine O'Connor, a social welfare worker, who offered to have a test made of her blood. It was found to be right and the transfusion was performed.

2 CAPITAL MEN HELD BY FEDERAL AGENTS ON NARCOTIC CHARGE

ONE FREE ON BOND UNDER SIMILAR CASE

Prisoners to Be Arraigned Today Before U. S. Commissioner in Baltimore.

Two Washington men were being held in Baltimore last night on narcotic charges, and a third is said to have escaped the Essex, Md., police station during a tussel with the other two. The trio had been captured, according to authorities, after an all-night vigil of Maryland State police and Federal narcotic agents.

They were arrested 10 miles from Bel Air, about 11 o'clock yesterday morning, as they were allegedly on their way from New York to Washington with a quantity of narcotics. The two under arrest gave their names as Dennis A. Mahoney, 417 Third street northwest, and Lawrence McNally, 200 K street northeast.

Mahoney Faces Another Charge.

Mahoney, according to Boyd Martin, Federal narcotic agent, of Baltimore, was at liberty under $1,500 bond, pending court action for a similar offense. He was arrested then, according to Martin, by State police near Laurel. In both instances packages of narcotics were found in the cars, the agent declared. The autos were seized. The one taken yesterday was a new one.

Third Man Escapes.

The third man in the case made his escape as State Patrolman J. W. May, who arrested the trio, and John Wick, of Essex, tusseled with Mahoney as he attempted to destroy the drugs, according to authorities.

The prisoners will be arraigned today before J. Frank Supplee, United States Commissioner, on charges of transporting and possessing narcotic drugs, 2 ounces being found on Mahoney, according to authorities.

Chest to Select Board Candidates

Nominations to Be Filed at Headquarters on March 22.

Candidates for places as contributor-members of the board of trustees of the Community Chest will be selected by the nominating committee of the Chest at a meeting at Chest headquarters, 223 Investment Building, March 22, at 2 p. m. The contributor-members of the board will be elected at the annual meeting of the Chest April 25, at the Willard Hotel.

The board of trustees, elected annually, consists of two members, one staff and one board, from each agency affiliated with the Chest and the remaining trustees, selected from among the contributors, are elected from candidates named by the nominating committee. According to the by-laws, candidates may also be placed in nomination by petitions signed by five contributing members of the Community Chest and presented to the nominating committee before Tuesday's meeting.

Frank R. Jelleff is chairman of the nominating committee and has associated with him Arthur May, Arthur Sundlun, Emmet J. Scott and Mrs. Whitman Cross.

3 Real Estate Agents Are Indicted in Fraud

Two Frederick, Md., real estate agents and a real estate agent of Herndon, Va., were indicted by the District grand jury yesterday on charges of embezzlement. They are James H. Steele and Margaret Belt, of Frederick, and Raymond C. Printz, of Herndon.

The trio are alleged to have appropriated for their use $2,650 in cash and promissory notes aggregating $4,350 which had been given them by Charles A. and Sarah E. Compton, of this city, in connection with the purchase of a farm at Taneytown, Md., last summer. The indictment, in four counts, was based on complaints lodged with Assistant United States Attorney William H. Gallagher by Attorney David Riordan, who represented the Comptons.

Duplicate Contract Bridge Winners.

FRANK G. RAICHLE'S ARRAIGNMENT TODAY

Faces 2 Charges as Result of Indictment in Case of G. Bryan Pitts.

Frank G. Raichle, law partner of William J. Donovan, former Assistant Attorney General, will be arraigned in the District Supreme Court today at 1:30 o'clock on an indictment charging him with obstructing justice and with subornation of perjury.

The matter of arraigning Mr Raichle, who has his main offices in Buffalo, is not expected to take more than a few seconds. The usual procedure is for the clerk of the court to ask how the defendant pleads—guilty or not guilty—and with that and the formal appearance of a defense attorney the procedure is over.

Raichle was indicted for the part he allegedly played in the preparation of the defense of G. Bryan Pitts, former head of the F. H. Smith Co., who is now serving a fourteen-year sentence at Lorton. Pitts, it was understood, had made a "deal" with the Government prosecutors, and he was one of the witnesses who went before the grand jury Tuesday morning when that body began its hurried investigation of Raichle's possible connection with criminal charges.

Besides Pitts, two others who are serving jail terms, John H. Edwards and C. Elbert Anadale, both of whom are former vice presidents of the Smith Co., testified before the grand jury. Raichle is at liberty on a $5,000 bond.

Local Lawyer Indicted In Embezzlement Case

Peter P. Richardson, colored member of the local bar, was indicted yesterday on a charge of embezzlement of a $700 check. He is now under conviction on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses and is awaiting the outcome of a motion for a new trial.

Lawyer Trapped, Justice Declares

Jury Ordered to Acquit McLaurin on Charge of Larceny.

Holding that Sylvester L. McLaurin, colored lawyer, had been "entrapped," Justice James M. Proctor yesterday ordered a jury sitting in Criminal Court to return a verdict acquitting McLaurin of a charge of larceny.

The testimony in the case was that McLaurin had been given certain keys to the Franklin School, where an examination paper showing that his niece, Willie May McLaurin, had failed to pass an arithmetic examination, was kept.

While police waited in an adjoining room, McLaurin entered the building and was arrested. Justice Proctor said the case was clearly one of entrapment. The arrest was made July 25, 1931. The firm of Howard & Hayes represented McLaurin.

Gang Attacks Dry Informer In Speakeasy

F. A. Riley, special dry informer, was attacked by a gang of colored men after he was recognized in an alleged speakeasy in the first block of M street southeast yesterday.

Riley, special agent for the Police Headquarters vice squad, was treated at Emergency Hospital for a broken nose and cuts and bruises to his body. His condition is not serious.

The men, John F. Washington, 32; Edward Johnson, 28, and William Green, 39, were charged with assault.

Police said Riley was sent to the M street address to make a "buy." When he asked for a drink he was attacked by a group of men. One of them struck him in the face with an iron bar, while the others kicked him and beat him with their fists.

Riley managed to free himself and ran into the front yard. His assailants followed him and were beating him when members of the vice squad, who were outside waiting to raid the place, arrived.

2 Cline Brothers To Be Heard Today

Suspected Policeman and Brother Face Charges of Assault.

Private Luther E. Cline, Second Precinct policeman, and his brother, Silas, will be arraigned in Police Court this morning on charges of assault with a dangerous weapon. The charges were listed against the men last night at the Ninth Precinct Police Station.

The complainant is recorded as William T. Griffin, a taxicab driver, of Cherrydale, Va. Griffin alleges that the men displayed guns in his cab on Tuesday night and spoke to each other of taking him "for a ride."

A suit for $20,000 damages was instituted in the District Supreme Court yesterday by Abby Elizabeth Ferris, 514 Nineteenth street northwest, through Attorney A. L. Newmyer.

The allegation of the suit was that a taxicab of the Bell Cab Co. collided with an automobile belonging to Joseph Costa, 624 N street northwest, while the woman was a passenger in the cab. She claimed serious injuries resulted to her through alleged negligence of Costa and the cab driver, both of whom were named as defendants. The accident occurred at New Hampshire avenue and M street northwest last February.

Juvenile Actor Bill To Be Considered Today

Amendment of the District child labor law to permit boys under 16 and girls under 18 to appear at night on the professional stage will be considered this morning by the judiciary subcommittee of the House District committee.

The Senate District committee has the amendment under advisement, following extensive hearings held Tuesday. The measure is favored by Stephen Cochran, manager of the National; the Central Labor Union and the District Bar Association. The District's Voteless League of Women Voters, representatives of the White House Conference and school attendance officers are opposing it.

BANDIT IS IDENTIFIED AS ESCAPED CONVICT

Gordonsville, Va., Policeman Views Youth Captured in Store Robbery.

A Negro youth, who on February 29 held scores of detectives and uniformed policemen at bay after he had been trapped in a chain grocery store at 2017 Eleventh street northwest, was identified last night as Melvin Banks, 22 years old, an escaped convict from the Virginia State Penitentiary.

Banks, who gave Washington police the name of Thomas White and said he was 18 years old, living at 1806 Ninth street northwest, was identified by Police Sergt. J. R. Yeager, of Gordonsville, Va. Sergt. Yeager read the man's description in The Washington Post and immediately came here to confer with headquarters' detectives.

Sentenced In Robbery.

Early last November Banks was sentenced to twelve and a half years in the penitentiary for robbing the home of W. H. Rowe, prominent Gordonsville business man. On February 4 he escaped from a road camp in Nottoway County and had not been seen until surprised in the grocery store here.

Banks' recapture was due to the alertness of Mrs. A. Jackson, who lives next door to the store at 2015 Eleventh street. Hearing a noise, she went to the window and saw him sawing his way through bars on a rear window. She waited until he was inside and summoned police.

With the place surrounded, Banks refused to give up. He opened fire on the policemen and a call for reinforcements was sent. Barricading the doorway, the robber continued to fire and succeeded in holding the officers at bay for more than 10 minutes.

Tear Bombs End Battle.

The battle was ended when Sergt. R. E. Blick, of the Second Precinct, threw two tear-gas bombs over the open transom. Gasping for breath, Banks yelled that he would surrender.

Sergt. Yeager, who arrested the man in Gordonsville, said that he is believed to have a wife in Alexandria. On completion of his sentence, Sergt. Yeager said, he may receive additional time for escaping from the prison camp. Five robberies are charged to him here.

Watts Again Head Of Potomac Club

Garden Society Reelects All Officers; 9 Get Board Positions.

All the officers of the Potomac Garden Club were reelected at the annual meeting of the group in the National Museum last night. Nine men also were named as members of the board of directors.

The officers were N. G. Watts, president; A. J. Olmsted, vice president; J. F. McGuire, secretary, and F. R. Steffens, treasurer. A. J. Brosseau, C. E. Chadwick, H. H. Howland, E. S. Jessup, T. P. Schuler and the officers comprise the board of directors.

The gardens of the club are now located at Benning road and the Eastern Branch. The club was organized in the World War for the purpose of growing vegetables for home use. It has continued in existence since.

Boy, 4, Bitten by Dog.

Donald Ellis, 4 years old, of 604 Tenth street southwest, was bitten on the leg by a police dog yesterday while at play in front of 618 Tenth street northwest. Police said the dog was owned by Matthew F. Fallahee, of that address. The dog was taken to the pound for observation.

Widows of Two Presidents To Attend April Dinner Here

The widow of two Presidents and the widow of a Vice President will return to the Capital on April 13 for a national Presbyterian dinner in celebration of the George Washington Bicentennial. Invitations will be sent out this week for the affair, which will be held at the Mayflower Hotel.

The widows of the Presidents are Mrs. Benjamin Harrison and Mrs. Thomas J. Preston, widow of Grover Cleveland. The Vice President's widow is Mrs. Garrett A. Hobart. The husbands of all three were Presbyterians.

The dinner is being arranged by the National Capital Presbyterian commission of the General Assembly. It is a mark of tribute to thousands of Presbyterian patriots who supported Washington in the struggle for independence.

Among the sponsors are Secretary Stimson, Attorney General Mitchell, Ambassador Mellon, eight senators and 40 representatives. About 40 historic Presbyterian churches have announced their intention of being represented at the dinner.

FETE FLOWER DRIVE GETS UNDER WAY IN CAPITAL CEREMONY

BEAUTIFICATION URGED AS WASHINGTON TRIBUTE

Officials Ask Nation to Aid Program; Marine Band Orchestra Plays.

The George Washington Bicentennial flower garden campaign was officially opened at 1:30 yesterday afternoon when Secretary of Agriculture, Hyde, and Representative Sol Bloom, New York, associate director of the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission, explained the purpose of the garden movement.

Representative Bloom said: "This campaign is the most beautiful and touching honor we can render to George Washington during this year when the Nation and the world commemorate the two hundredth anniversary of his birth. George Washington himself loved scenes of beauty. Time and again in his letters and in his diaries, he tells of pausing even in the midst of his gravest military anxieties, to admire the beauty of some view, or some locality."

Mr. Bloom called attention to the fact that the gardens which Washington designed and laid out himself may be seen today at Mount Vernon; the mystic maze it amused him to plan—the walks lined with boxwood—the ivy draping fences and walls—the descendants of the very flowers he loved to grow—the old and simple blossoms that were as honest and true and unpretentious as he was himself.

"We of the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission," said Mr. Bloom, "want America to be one great garden this year, and for all years to come. We want to see unlovely yards and lots veiled in the petals and buds of flowers. Amateur gardeners have only to apply to the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission or to the Department of Agriculture, and success is assured them."

Washington Was First Farmer.

The Secretary of Agriculture said it seemed highly appropriate to emphasize this year the interest in gardens and everything that grows, for Washington was the first farmer as well as the first citizen of his day. Aside from farming for profit, the Secretary said, Washington felt the importance of making the farm a desirable place to live as well as a way of living.

The Marine Band Orchestra, under Capt. Taylor Branson, leader, played appropriate music. The broadcast went out over the Nation-wide network of the National Broadcasting Co.
